DEFIES POTATO ACT; WILL SELL AND RISK JAIL

Wadsworth Offers "Illegal Spuds."

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—"Strictly illegal potatoes" are now being offered and advertised for sale by Congressman James W. Wadsworth and his cousin, Porter R. Chandler, in defiance of the potato control act and without permission of the AAA.

Mr. Wadsworth, formerly Republican United States senator from New York and constant foe of the New Deal, has announced that if he is arrested and convicted of violating the potato act he will carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Mr. Chandler has boldly resorted to newspaper advertising to sell his "illegal potatoes." In the advertisment he states that, as a "matter of principle and conscience," he will neither ask the Agricultural Adjustment administration's permission to grow the potatoes nor will he pay the tax of 45 cents a bushel imposed as a penalty for failing to ask permission.

Liable to Year in Prison.

His defiance of the law makes him liable, for a first offense, to a fine of $1,000, and for a second offense to imprisonment for not more than a year. The prospective buyer is equally liable to fine and imprisonment, but Mr. Chandler announced that he already had an offer from a broker, who thought he could occupy his leisure in jail "by studying the provisions of the various securities bills."

"I'll do it once, and I'll do it again," said Mr. Chandler. "I'm prepared for anything, even a term in the Monroe county penitentiary, though my wife thinks it may be Atlanta."

Text of His Ad.

Mr. Chandler's advertisment, which appeared in boldfaced type across three columns of two pages in Livingston county newspapers, is as follows:

"Strictly illegal potatoes for sale—The undersigned hereby offers for sale, when, as, and if grown, six bushels of potatoes, to be produced and harvested by the undersigned on his own land in the township of York as soon as possible after Dec. 1, 1935, which is the effective date of the federal control law.

"The undersigned, believing the federal potato control law to be a direct violation of the fundamental rights and liberties of every American farmer and citizen, announces that as a matter of principle and conscience he will not apply to the secretary of agriculture for permission to raise and sell potatoes on his own land, nor will he pay the confiscatory tax of 45 cents a bushel imposed as a penalty for not asking such permission. . . .

"The undersigned believes it to be his public duty as a citizen to invite prosecution in order to test the constitutionality of this law, and if necessary to undergo fine and imprisonment rather than submit to it."

He's a Lawyer-Farmer.

Mr. Chandler owns about 1,800 acres in the fertile Genesee valley, of which he is able to farm only about 200 himself, since he is a New York lawyer as well as a Genesee farmer. He already has one acre of special excellence among the 200 picked out for his potatoes. Since he has never raised them before, he could not, under the terms of the potato control clause of the AAA bill passed at the last session of congress, get a contract from the AAA even if he wished to do so.

Representative Wadsworth is already doing a little illegal potato growing on his own account, and Wm. P. Wadsworth, also a large land holder in the valley, is also expected to join the ranks of the prospective Hampdens. He has chosen a plot in the village of Genesee, where he can advertise his illicit crop on large billboards to passing motorists.

A Roosevelt Joins In.

Nor is the movement confined to the Genesee valley, for Nicholas Roosevelt, editorial writer of the New York Herald-Tribune, plans to raise a few illegal potatoes on his farm at Hewlett, N. Y.

Congressman Wadsworth is devoting about 20 acres to potatoes and has announced he will sell them to "any one who will buy."

"There will be tens of thousands of us who will pay no attention to the regulation," he said. "The government wouldn't be able to employ enough marshals to enforce it."

CUBS WIN 13TH IN ROW, 8-3; HOLD LEAD OF 2 GAMES

The Cubs retained their two game lead in the National league pennant race yesterday by defeating the New York Giants, 8 to 3, before a crowd of 29,740 at Wrigley field. It was the Cubs' 13th straight victory. The second place St. Louis Cardinals won from Brooklyn, 1 to 0. The Giants, who are now 4½ games behind, will play the Cubs in the second game of the series today.

CONSTITUTION OR A DICTATOR, LOWDEN WARNS

It's Issue for 1936, He Declares.

Great Rally Tonight

Patriotic pageantry and speeches at great meeting tonight in the Chicago Stadium will climax the city's three day celebration of the 148th anniversary of the adoption of the United States constitution. Parade of automobiles from near north side to Stadium will precede rally. Details on page 4.

Drama of "The Making of the Constitution" is presented under auspices of the Chicago Bar association before throng of 4,000 spectators in the Medinah temple. Page 5.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

America's supreme issue was declared to be protection of the bill of rights and constitutional government from an "economic dictatorship" disguised as "planned economy" last night by Frank O. Lowden, wartime governor of Illinois and by Joseph B. Ely, former governor of Massachusetts.

Lowden, a Republican, and Ely, a Democrat, spoke at a pre-Constitution day dinner at the Union League club, an organization which developed from a pro-Lincoln group in civil war days and is now embarked on a militant program to preserve American institutions.

Call Constitution the Issue.

Both the former governors maintained that saving of the constitution from efforts for a drastic change which would centralize power in Washington and curtail the powers of the states is already the issue for the presidential election next year.

Mr. Lowden, Nestor of midwest Republicans who made the address at the June Grass Roots Republican roundup of ten states at Springfield, declared an amendment is now pending in congress of so revolutionary a form that few took it seriously, but that it has been given life since the Supreme court decision knocking out the NRA as unconstitutional.

A magazine believed to be official organ of the White House, Mr. Lowden said, proposed that the 1936 election should be made a "referendum" on a constitutional amendment.

Lowden Warns the States.

"Make no mistake," said Mr. Lowden, "the issue is made and will not down.

"If this amendment should be adopted it would reduce the states to mere shadows of their former selves with nothing substantial left but their names. It would transfer to the central government complete control over the economic life of the people everywhere. It would destroy the cornerstone of our government.

"In my opinion the bill of rights is in jeopardy if the proposed amendment should prevail. In fact, if this assault upon the fundamentals of the constitution should succeed, I can think of nothing that would finally be left of that document except the provision that no state should be deprived of equal representation in the senate without its consent.

Fight for Liberty Epitomized.

"The principles expressed in the bill of rights represent a thousand years of the struggle for liberty in the English speaking world. They are not true simply because the constitution recites them. They are true because mankind in its efforts for a better, more just society, had found that the maintenance of these principles was the condition of all human progress. The constitution is sound because it recognizes and gives expression to these fundamental human rights.

"We are not opposed to proper changes in the constitution. But we are unalterably opposed to any amendment that would fundamentally change the very nature of the government under which we live."

Mr. Lowden declared the gravest danger is in flank attacks upon the constitution by groups who fear to make a frontal attack because of the veneration in which the basic law is held.

Traces Planned Economy.

"Changes are urged," he said "as necessary to give full effect to a completely planned economy by the central government. Planned economy

HITLER ORDERS NAZI FLAG ON BREMEN IN N. Y.

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—In compliance with orders from the Hitler government, the master of the Bremen, German liner, planned to draw up his crew in a heel-clicking salute tomorrow morning to witness the raising of the new national swastika flag to the ship's stern flagstaf.

Orders to supplant the red, black, and white flag, which always has signaled the Bremen's homeland at port here, were received today.

Sudden Storms in Alps Kill 7 Mountain Climbers

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 16.—(AP)—An Italian Alpine club reported tonight that five mountain climbers were frozen to death near the town of Val Masino when a large party of climbers was caught in a sudden snowstorm. Two Alpinists were also reported frozen near Bergamo because of sudden blizzards and freezes.

Public Schools Open; 436,592 in Classrooms

Chicago's public schools opened yesterday with a total registration of 436,592 pupils, an increase of 2,602 over the first day last year. The high school registration was 120,144 compared with 113,000 last year. The enrollment in elementary schools was 316,478, a decrease of approximately 4,000 pupils from last year's figure.

Supt. William J. Bogan said he expects the enrollment of several thousand more pupils in the elementary schools during the week. He attributed the increase in the high school enrollment to the fact that many young people remain in high school longer than previously because of the scarcity of jobs.

32,000 in Night High Schools.

Night high schools opened last night with an attendance estimated at 32,000 students in Austin, Crane, Englewood, Fenger, Lake View, and Schurz High schools.

Col. William F. Morrison, in charge of the R. O. T. C. in the high schools, announced that the 17 old high school units were recruiting cadets yesterday and that recruiting had started in four of the 10 new units. He said he expects to have 8,000 boys recruited into the R. O. T. C. by the end of the week.

Discuss Modernization Plan.

Dr. Samuel Everett, assistant professor of education at the University of Illinois, who is to direct an effort to modernize the high school curriculum in Chicago schools, conferred with Supt. Bogan yesterday.

Dr. Everett asserted yesterday that the modern trend in curriculum is toward the benefit of the masses instead of the small percentage of pupils that succeed in attending universities and colleges.

Under the direction of Dr. Carl Greenwald, chief of the dental division of the city board of health, 14 free dental clinics to service underprivileged children were set up in various schools.

U. of C. Accepts Daughter of Walgreen as Student

Mrs. Ruth Walgreen Dart, 7320 Coles avenue, a daughter of Charles R. Walgreen, has been accepted by the University of Chicago as a graduate student, it was asserted yesterday by Roy Bixler, director of admissions. Mrs. Dart is a graduate of Northwestern university. Mr. Walgreen last spring withdrew his niece, Miss Lucille Norton, from the university after making charges that she was being exposed to communistic influences.

WITNESS BEATEN; PAROLED CONVICT LOSES FREEDOM

The probation granted Thomas Spero, 17 years old, last June, on a sentence of one year to life in the penitentiary for robbery, was revoked yesterday by Judge Joseph Burke of the Criminal court. He acted after a witness told of two attempts to intimidate him and to prevent him from testifying against Spero in another robbery case.

The witness, Allen Fine, 23 years old, 1807 South Turner avenue, identified Spero as one of two men who robbed David Shapiro of $7 in the latter's dry goods store at 2243 West Roosevelt road on July 19.

On Sept. 6, Fine related, four men beat him at Ogden avenue and Pulaski road, breaking his glasses. Last Sunday, Fine continued, three men kidnaped him and left him in Bloomington, from where he hitchhiked to Chicago. Judge Burke struck the Shapiro case, with leave to reinstate, and committed Spero to Joliet prison on his original robbery conviction.

NURSE, 100, DIES; WORKED IN SAME FAMILY 70 YEARS

Miss Antonietta DeLucchi, 100 years old, died yesterday at the home of Dr. Italo F. Volini, 245 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, after a long illness. Dr. Volini said that Miss DeLucchi was engaged by his grandparents as a nurse 70 years ago, that she began to work for the doctor's parents 40 years ago, and joined his household in 1927.

Miss DeLucchi was born near Genoa, Italy, and came to the United States as a young woman. Funeral services will be held at St. Edmund's church, Oak Park, at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

MERCURY HITS 88°, WARMEST SINCE AUGUST 11

Yesterday's maximum temperature of 88 degrees, registered at 3 and 4 p. m., was the highest in Chicago since Aug. 11, when the mark was 91 degrees. The day was the sixth in succession with a maximum of more than 80 degrees. The heat is due, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel, to warm winds from the southwest. It was indicated in the official forecast that today would be warm and partly cloudy, with some possibility of showers. Tomorrow is expected to be cooler.

Brooklyn Ball Player Slain to Prevent Crash

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 17 [Tuesday.]—(AP)—Len Koenecke, outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was killed in midair over the Long Branch race track early today after a fight with the two man crew of an airplane.

Koenecke had chartered the plane at the city airport at Detroit last night. The ship was damaged when the pilot managed to land it.

Pilot William Joseph Mulqueeney of Detroit and his helper, Irwin Davis, were held by New Toronto police.

Police said they were told Koenecke started a fight when the ship was about half way between Detroit and Buffalo, its destination.

Nudges Pilot with Shoulder.

Mulqueeney told police Koenecke had been drinking and was quiet for the first few minutes of the trip. The ball player sat up front with the pilot. Then, said Mulqueeney, Koenecke for no particular reason began to nudge him with his shoulder.

"I told him to cut it out, that I had no time to play," the pilot said. "But when he kept up the horseplay I told him to get into the back seat with Davis."

Koenecke sat quietly for a moment or so and then began to poke Mulqueeney in the shoulder again, the pilot said. Davis, sitting beside Koenecke, then took a hand. He tried to force the ball player to be quiet, and then the real battle began, Mulqueeney said.

Lock in Desperate Struggle.

Koenecke bit Davis in the shoulder, and the two went to their knees on the floor of the plane locked in a desperate grip. Mulqueeney said the ship was rocking dangerously and he lost all sense of direction as the struggle went on for ten or fifteen minutes. He said he had all he could do to keep the ship on an even keel without trying to aid his helper Davis.

"Then," said Mulqueeney, telling his story to Constable Wethered of the police of New Toronto, suburb of Toronto, "I had to come to a decision. It was either a case of the three of us crashing or doing something to Koenecke.

Wallops on Head.

"I watched my chance, grabbed the fire extinguisher and walloped him on the head.

"With the passenger quiet, I took a look around, saw the open field with possibilities of fair landing and came down."

Koenecke, released on option by the New York Giants to Buffalo of the International league, April 7, 1933, was purchased by Brooklyn from Buffalo June 20, 1933.

The Dodgers lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, yesterday and Koenecke was sent away for the balance of the season in a move seeming to indicate that the star of last season would not appear again in a Brooklyn uniform. He was reported to have taken a plane for New York with Leslie Munns and Robert Barr.

Leaves Transport at Detroit.

Also booking passage with him on an American Air Lines ship for Newark were Les Munns and Bobby Barr, pitchers. Apparently Koenecke left the transport ship at Detroit.

Manager Casey Stengel, who sent the trio home to make room for new talent, would not comment when advised of the death of the ball player.

BRITISH BLOCK HARBOR ENTRY AT GIBRALTAR

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Great Britain, moving behind a screen of official secrecy, pushed many men o' war southward tonight to reinforce her great Mediterranean fleet. The empire acted in the face of the tightening tension that followed last week's grave developments at Geneva and at Rome—developments just about destroying the last pacific hopes of averting Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

As the belief increased that another portentous meeting of ministers would assemble at No. 10 Downing street soon to discuss the whole situation, Great Britain's home fleet, assembled at Portland for maneuvers, was suddenly depleted of all its swift destroyers.

Only a skeleton of the home fleet was gathered at Portsmouth. The few ships left will sail tomorrow for maneuvers in Scottish waters. The annual army maneuvers also begin tomorrow in southern England. Forty thousand troops will engage in the sham war.

Block Harbor Entrance.

Down at Gibraltar the navy hastily swung a boom defense across the southern entrance of Admiralty harbor and announced passage through it had been prohibited.

Gibraltar dispatched news of the arrival of five destroyers and a cruiser and the arrival and departure of the battleship Australia.

From Alexandria came reports of exercises off that Egyptian port by a "large number" of British warships, including two battleships, as planes droned overhead.

Tonight all but five of nearly 150 first line naval craft comprising the home and Mediterranean fleets were known definitly to be concentrated in the Mediterranean or were missing from English ports and thought to be en route to that tense zone.

Tell of Ship Movements.

These included:

Five of the eight serviceable heavy battleships, all known to be in the vicinity of the Suez canal;

Two of the three largest aircraft carriers anchored at Alexandria—the third is missing;

Two ace battle cruisers, the Hood and the Renown, whereabouts of which has not been reported;

Three crack cruiser squadrons of four ships each. Two are known definitly to be in the Alexandria vicinity and the third is missing from Portland;

Six destroyer flotillas of nine ships each, four known to be in the Mediterranean with the other two missing;

Two submarine flotillas, one of ten diving boats and the other of six, both known to be in the Mediterranean.

In addition to these, ten minesweepers are stationed at Malta in addition to two dozen or more auxiliary craft normally at Malta or vicinity.

Movement Conducted Swiftly.

The movement, which sent the greatest number of men of war into the Mediterranean in nearly two decades, has been carried out swiftly—much of it secretly since the July jubilee review at Portsmouth when the fleet lined up for the king.

The aircraft carriers Glorious and Courageous, now at Alexandria, carry 90 fighting and scout planes, while most other ships now concentrated in that vicinity carry scout planes.

The fleet which is either assembled at or believed en route to the Mediterannean is in general fast, heavily armored and heavily gunned. The ships generally outnumber the Italian craft in all classes except submarines, in which category Britain is reported outnumbered about four or five to one.

DISCORD AT GENEVA

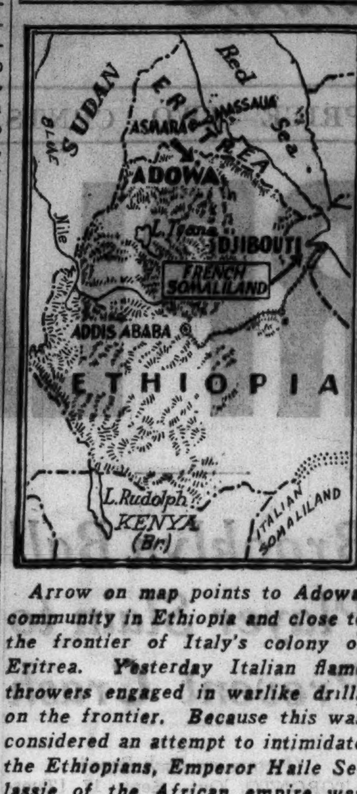
BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 16.—The Italo-Ethiopian dispute, like an apple of discord, today spread dissension among peacemakers. The dangerous tension in the European atmosphere was manifested by a series of ugly little incidents between members of the league of nations' assembly.

In the subcommittee of five, France and England were once more at odds on proposals which the committee is trying to draw up to solve the conflict between Italy and Ethiopia.

Try Out Heavy Guns



Arrow on map points to Adowa, community in Ethiopia and close to the frontier of Italy's colony of Eritrea. Yesterday Italian flame throwers engaged in warlike drills on the frontier. Because this was considered an attempt to intimidate the Ethiopians, Emperor Haile Selassie of the African empire was urged to call for an immediate nation-wide mobilization of troops.

In the league assembly, Col. Josef Beck, the Polish foreign minister, delivered a bitter rebuke to Maxim Litvinov and when the foreign commissar of Soviet Russia later tried to give a soothing reply, the entire Polish delegation walked out. The Polish ambassador to Moscow has asked to be recalled, raising the possibility, however remote, of a rupture of diplomatic relations between Poland and Russia.

Takes Slap at Hitler.

Again in the assembly the Lithuanian delegate, Foreign Minister Stasys Lozoraitis, uttered biting words about Adolf Hitler's references to Memel in his speech at Nuremberg yesterday.

None of these incidents, except perhaps the Polish-Russian one, were very important in themselves. Nevertheless, this uncalled for airing of old grudges when the league is supposed to be concentrating all its efforts on preventing war in Africa furnishes a grim foretaste of what is likely to happen in Europe the day the league is actually forced to take arms against Premier Mussolini.

The banshee wail of President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State in the assembly struck the leading note of this day's activities.

De Valera Bemoans Conflict.

"Yesterday, believing that war as an instrument of aggressive national policy had been outlawed, our thoughts were busy with the possibility of a union of Europe," De Valera said. "Today, before the mangled bodies of youths of this continent have yet been mercifully assimilated with clay, and before the anguished hearts of countless mothers have even got respite, we are here awaiting the results of an eleventh hour attempt to postpone the opening of a conflict which may set the peoples of the world mutilating and destroying each other again."

In the next breath De Valera said his nation stands pledged to resist Italy's threatened invasion of the African empire.

"We cannot abandon our duty," he cried. "There is no other alternative before us. It is hard to fight, but harder and still more terrible is the future in store for us if we should fail to be ready to pay for peace. The final test of the league and all that it stands for has come. Our conduct in this crisis will determine whether the league of nations is worthy to survive or whether it is better to let it lapse, disappear and be forgotten."

Urge League to Stop Italy.

Two more nations thereupon gave their pledges to assist in "stopping Italy." They were Haiti and Panama, thus bringing the number of countries which have lined up against Italy to 20.

Gen. Alfred Memours, the delegate of Haiti, delivered this brief warning: "The colored peoples of the world are watching. The period of colonial wars is closed. We are confident the soil of Africa is not going to be drenched with the blood of that ancient nation with its age-old traditions which stands before you appealing for justice. Will you turn a deaf ear to that appeal?"

Galilee Solis spoke for Panama.

"The specter of war once more is at the gates of Europe. If united efforts do not suffice to avoid war, then the whole world may rise to shake humanity."

The Ethiopian problem remains about where it was at the end of last week. The subcommittee of five, which had hoped to finish its work by tonight, met twice without making any substantial progress owing to the subterranean duel between the French and English.

It was a question of procedure, but a vital one which held up the committee's work. The French want to submit the committee's eventual report to the Ethiopians and await their answer before submitting it to the Italians. The obvious purpose of this maneuver is to put the Ethiopians in wrong, the committee's report being such that it is not believed Emperor Haile Selassie can accept it.

The British insist on submitting the proposition to both countries simultaneously, so the Italians will not get credit for peaceful intentions which no one believes they possess.

Laval Talks with Eden.

Premier Pierre Laval of France had a half hour conference with Capt. Anthony Eden, British minister for league affairs, to try to iron out the difficulty. Laval then rushed to the assembly and had a ten minute talk with Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italy's chief delegate.

There is still hope that the subcommittee will finish its report tomorrow morning and submit it to the big five [Britain, France, Spain, Turkey, and Poland], which may or may not accept it without modification. The question of procedure then will have to be settled once and for all.

The most serious "incident" of the day was the Polish-Russian quarrel. Litvinov's speech last Saturday referred to certain nonaggression pacts which are only intended to give security to potential aggressors. He evidently alluded to the friendship pact of Germany and Poland.

This morning Col. Beck took the floor in the assembly to protest against the bolshevik minister's words.

"In a few sentences in his speech, very clear in their allusion, Mr. Litvinov thought himself called upon to judge with clearly conceived opinion and in a completely arbitrary way certain diplomatic acts which have been concluded by my country. Against such procedure I desire to make here the most explicit reservations. I am convinced, as representative of a state which is a founder member of the league of nations, that such forms of procedure, which are unusual in this great assembly, cannot but prove detrimental to that loyal international coöperation which is an essential condition of our joint work in common."

Col. Beck's manner, even more than his language, dismayed the gathering of peacemakers and Litvinov in the afternoon session made what was apparently an attempt at an "amende honorable," although at the moment it seemed as if he were only pouring oil on embers.

In any case, his message missed fire as far as the Poles were concerned, because when he mounted the rostrum to speak, it was noted the Polish bench was empty.

Polish Envoy Requests Recall.

All this might seem just a childish spat if it were not for the fact that the Polish ambassador to Moscow, Julius Lukasiewicz, judged Litvinov's speech Saturday so grave that he asked Col. Beck to give him six months leave of absence from his post and eventually recall him altogether.

Lithuania's slap at Hitler was somewhat milder. Lozoraitis merely said: "It is impossible to admit the justice of certain statements that have been aimed at my country which are of a nature to foul the good understanding and good feeling between peoples."

The Lithuanian tempered his remarks by promising to abide by the league's decision in the Memel dispute, and the British, it is understood, received satisfactory assurances from the Lithuanian government that steps will be taken to satisfy the German grievances.

(In Paris, officials here said, "Hitler went very far" in his speech at Nuremberg and that the general situation was "very dark." They cautiously disclaimed any fear that Germany would precipitate trouble while Italy is busy in Ethiopia but foresaw dangers no matter how the league acts. In Rome a government spokesman said it would be significant to observe whether Great Britain would pursue the same policy of fidelity to league principles in the Memel conflict that she has formulated in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.)

ESCAPED CONVICT FOUND HIDING IN HOME OF UNCLE

Bruno Orlekowski, 25 years old, who escaped from the honor farm at Stateville penitentiary last Tuesday, was captured by Detectives Donald Coakley and Edward Dooley late last night at 5200 South Morgan street. Orlekowski was hiding in the home of his uncle, Bruno Dorywalski, 56 years old, who was also arrested.

Edward Kientz, who escaped with Orlekowski, is still at liberty. Both men were sentenced to from one to twenty years in prison for robbery.

ETHIOPIAN KING URGED TO MASS TROOPS AT ONCE

Ruler Waits on League to Prevent War.

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie, waiting with a tense hope for favorable action at Geneva, was said by friends tonight to be facing the necessity of immediate nation-wide mobilization unless the league of nations acts quickly to settle the Italo-Ethiopian problem.

Sources close to the emperor said some of his advisers seem to favor mobilization without delay as a "precautionary measure" because, owing to the continued heavy rains and the bad condition of the primitive roads, it will require several weeks for some of the Ethiopian forces to reach the front.

Italians Drill at Border.

They pointed out also that 160,000 Italian soldiers and 50,000 natives have already been massed on the Ethiopian frontier by Italy. Today the Italian forces were reported engaging in flame-throwing and heavy artillery practice near Adowa to assertedly intimidate Ethiopians across the border.

One of the emperor's counselors suggested, however, that he deliberately allowed the Italians to occupy a portion of Ethiopia before proclaiming general mobilization. This, he said, would afford additional evidence to the world that Italy is the "aggressor."

The emperor has recently incurred the displeasure of many of his feudal chiefs for failing to sound a national call to arms.

Emperor Is Shocked.

The abrupt and uncompromising communique of Italy's cabinet Saturday—coming as it did in the midst of the league of nations' peace negotiations—shocked the Ethiopian emperor.

Selassie, although he feels he is struggling with his back to the wall, still hopes his country can be saved without resort to war.

He appears to be torn now between ordering immediate mobilization to offset Il Duce's blunt refusal of a compromise solution and awaiting decisive action at Geneva.

Up to now the Lion of Judah has refrained from proclaiming any general mobilization, desiring to show the world he is remaining stanch to the last minute in seeking peace and avoiding anything resembling a challenge.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN N. W. STATION HOLDUP SLAYING

Eugene Belmonte, 35 years old, who had been named as a suspect in the holdup of a drug store in the North Western station on July 29, was arrested last night by Police Sergeant James Hanrahan in front of 2166 Ogden avenue. Belmonte refused to give an address. He denied any complicity in the stickup, in which Daniel Haskell, an elevator operator, and Sam Manno, one of the four bandits involved, were killed. In the struggle Policeman James H. Frawley was seriously wounded, but recovered. A coroner's jury yesterday ordered that Anthony Spranze, 311 South Leavitt street, one of the alleged robbers, be held to the grand jury for the murder of Haskell.

PLAN BUSES ON SOUTH EVANSTON STREET CAR LINE

The Evanston city council last night granted the Evanston City Railway company permission to apply at once to the Illinois commerce commission for an authorization to substitute buses for street cars on the line south of Davis street. This car line at present runs to the Howard street elevated station.

Officials of the car company said the application would be filed today and that the change would probably be made before the end of the week.

BOYCOTT MEANS WAR, MUSSOLINI WARNS LEAGUE

Duce Makes Another Threat to World.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini warned the world again tonight, the newspaper Le Matin reported in a published statement of Il Duce from its Rome correspondent, that economic or military penalties against Italy by the league of nations mean war "and the danger of recasting the map of Europe."

"Understand me well," Mussolini was quoted as saying, "we will never commit an act of hostility against any European nation, but if an act of war is committed against us there'll be war."

"Italy does not want it," the statement in Le Matin continued, "but she is not afraid of it. But those who will have loosed the catastrophe will bear the responsibility before history.

Directs Question at France.

"Does France, whose efforts I recognize are in the main friendly toward us, desire these sanctions [penalties]? That is all we wish to ask here, for I realize she is in a delicate position.

"But for others, let them fully realize that sanctions mean running the risk of remaking the map of Europe."

Questioning the "disinterestedness" of Britain's motives, Il Duce said:

"We consider it monstrous that a nation which dominates the world refuses a small morsel of land under the African sun."

Saying that every assurance had been given to Britain that her interests in Ethiopia would be safeguarded, Mussolini asserted: "But the interests for which she enters into opposition against us so sharply are other interests, and she does not say so."

Italy Divides Navy for War.

ROME, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini answered Great Britain's concentration of fighting ships in the Mediterranean tonight with a sudden order dividing Italy's armed naval forces into Adriatic as well as Mediterranean fleets.

The decree provided that Italy's fleet, heretofore mostly concentrated under the high command at the Spezia training school in the northern Mediterranean, will be divided under two "superior commands"—one in each sea.

The two commands of the two naval "fronts" are to be lodged at points which will be decided by the naval ministry.

Ships to Patrol Adriatic.

The Adriatic fleet will be divided into two strategic command stations, one for the upper Adriatic and one for the lower Adriatic and the Ionian sea.

Similarly, the superior command in the Mediterranean will have two strategic control points, one in the upper Tyrrhenian sea and the other in the lower Tyrrhenian.

Each of the new superior command stations will serve as naval training schools in time of peace. In time of war they will become "effective commands."

The decree did not indicate how Italy's total naval strength will be split up between the two superior commands, but because of Italy's growing interests in the Near East it was thought the Adriatic would be protected on about the same numerical basis as the Mediterranean.

3,000 Troops Sail Today.

The decree for the reorganization of the high naval command came after officials in Rome had expressed satisfaction with Italy's position on both military and diplomatic fronts.

They said the steady flow of troops bound for East Africa would be augmented tomorrow by the departure og 3,000 soldiers on the trans-Atlantic liner Biancamano. The steamer Principessa Giovanna sailed from Naples this afternoon with 1,500 men aboard.

Move for New Naval Pact Hopeless, Roosevelt Is Told

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—With the world frightened over the imminence of a war in the Mediterranean, all hopes for a new naval agreement to supplant the present naval ratios expiring next year have virtually been removed, Norman H. Davis, America's unofficial ambassador at large, told President Roosevelt today.

Emerging after a conference with the President in the latter's summer residence on the Hudson, Davis declared:

"We would like a naval agreement but we are not like the rabbit dogs that are expecting to get one just now."

"Rabbit dogs," in hunting parlance, it was explained, are hounds which cry loudest when they are farthest from their quarry.

War in Europe Probable.

War in Europe is extremely probable, Davis said. He told the President that he saw no reason why this country should become involved. But the United States, he added, should not play the part of the ostrich and hide its head to the dangers of a conflict abroad.

The 5-5-3 ratio between Great Britain, the United States, and Japan will expire at the end of 1936. The Japanese have already condemned the treaty made at Washington and defiantly announced that they would build to any strength they desired when the agreement ceased. The best to be hoped for is some temporary arrangement pending a new agreement, Davis declared.

There had been hopes, Davis said, for a conference on naval disarmament this fall. But the Italo-Ethiopian dispute has removed any such possibility.

Discuss Neutrality Law.

Among other subjects upon which Mr. Davis' opinion was asked were his interpretation of the phrase, "implements of war," and his judgment of the conditions necessary to a decision that a state of warfare exists between two foreign nations. Under the neutrality legislation passed by the last congress, the President will be called upon to settle both these problems in the event that Mussolini orders an invasion of Ethiopia.

At the 1933 Geneva conference to reduce armaments Davis told the delegates that the United States might be willing to join with the league of nations in economic embargoes against an invading nation. But President Roosevelt has announced that he will adhere strictly to the provisions of the neutrality act which commands him to place an embargo upon implements of war with regard to both warring nations, regardless of who is deemed the aggressor. He will not go farther, he asserted last week, and enlist this country in any movement to employ "sanctions" against any country.

New Liquor Administrator.

Davis motored here with Mrs. Davis from his Connecticut home. He does not plan to return to Europe in the near future, it was reported, inasmuch as the United States has decided to refrain from direct participation in any peace parleys.

Mr. Roosevelt today appointed Franklin Chase Hoyt, former judge of the Children's court in New York City, to be federal alcohol administrator to succeed Joseph C. Choate, who administered the federal alcohol control act until that bit of legislation was knocked out by the Supreme court's NRA decision.

Hoyt, 59 years old, a grandson of Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury under Lincoln and later chief ustice of the Supreme court, is nominally a Republican but was a warm supporter of Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign. He has been interested in alcohol control and in 1929 won the first prize of $25,000 for a temperance plan to succeed prohibition in a contest sponsored by William Randolph Hearst.

Both at Summer White House.

Both Hoyt and Choate were at the summer White House today and the President thanked the latter for his services. Choate for some months has insisted that he be relieved of his government position.

The new alcohol division will be under the supervision of the treasury department.

Tomorrow the President will name the five members of the Guffey coal commission and three members of the coal labor board. It is also expected that he will reveal the tentative schedule for his western tour which will start from Washington Sept. 24.

START TEST CASE ON DISPENSING WITH INDICTMENT

A case to test the power of Criminal court judges to try cases without grand jury indictments was started on its way yesterday from Judge Joseph B. David's court. The case came about through an unusual tangle resulting from the arrest last April of Harry Herbst, 43 years old, 1222 Pratt boulevard, an insurance adjuster.

Herbst was arrested in Evanston by Policeman T. J. Radermacher after fisticuffs. Herbst was booked on charges of assault, speeding and reckless driving. He promptly took a change of venue from Judges Harry Porter and James Corcoran, the two Evanston Municipal court judges. This left Evanston without a judge to try the case.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley was asked to solve the problem. An information charging Herbst with the various offenses was presented to Judge David in the Criminal court. The judge refused to take jurisdiction on the ground that he could only try cases brought before him on an indictment by the grand jury. The state will carry the case to the Supreme court on a mandamus proceeding to force Judge David to hear it.

GERMAN BALLOON IS FIRST TO LAND; MAKES 375 MILES

WARSAW, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The first balloon was down today in the 23d Gordon Bennett international balloon race. It was the German bag Deutschland which landed near Riga, Latvia, about 375 miles from Warsaw, at 1:55 p. m.

Winds over Warsaw were blowing east by southeast this afternoon. Earlier in the afternoon, race officials said they assumed all entries must have crossed, or nearly so, the Russo-Polish border, but feared some of them might be blown back again on account of shifting winds.

At 11 a. m. a white balloon, either American or Polish, had been sighted over Smolensk, Russia.

MARRIAGE WITH BARRYMORE OFF, ASSERTS ELAINE

Expects Him to Give Up 8 Carat Diamond.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Miss Elaine Barrie, the 19 year old protégée of John Barrymore, today formally announced through her attorney, Aaron Sapiro, that her "glamorous episode" with the 53 year old actor was ended and that marriage plans had been dropped.

She said she still hoped that their "professional relations as to stage and radio may be continued just as they had planned." In the statement, which was handed out by Mr. Sapiro at his office while Miss Barrie remained secluded in an inner room, it was said that Barrymore carried with him several gifts which he has agreed to return.

One an Eight Carat Diamond.

One of these is an 8.15 carat diamond ring. Just after the statement was given out Miss Barrie and her mother, Mrs. Lou Jacobs, left the lawyer's offices.

Asked how she felt about the ending of the romance, Miss Barrie shrugged her shoulders.

"It was bound to come," she said. "I have felt for some time that we had to break off our personal relations. It was inevitable. However, I do hope we can remain friends professionally."

"Asked Nothing of Him."

"Miss Elaine Barrie has not requested or received anything from John Barrymore other than the gifts which he in the course of their friendship presented to her," the lawyer's statement said.

"Miss Barrie has nothing but an affectionate sympathy for Mr. Barrymore. But personal relations are closed and the glamorous episode is ended."

Sapiro said that marriage plans had been necessarily held in abeyance because Barrymore is still married to Dolores Costello, now seeking a divorce.

TWO HELD AS ROBBERS.

Judge Justin F. McCarthy in Felony court yesterday set bonds of $50,000 each for Glen Baker, 28 years old, 904 Grace street, and Walter DeHaven, 23 years old, 861 Roscoe street, and ordered them held to the grand jury on two robbery charges.

TELLS IN CROWE SUIT OF 3 GIFTS TO KLARKOWSKI

Savage Testifies $12,500 Went Into Political Hat.

Charges were made yesterday that Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski had accepted $12,500 for political purposes from the law firm of Crowe, Gorman & Savage, now dissolved. The payments were alleged to have been made in 1930, 1932 and 1934.

Joseph P. Savage, former school trustee, made the charges from the witness stand in Judge Klarkowski's courtroom, where he was seeking a change of venue from Klarkowski's court on two petitions for accountings of the firm's assets.

Judge Klarkowski denied the change of venue and continued until this afternoon a hearing on two other motions made by Savage for dismissal of the suits.

Judge Considers Accusations.

The judge held that Savage's petition for a transfer of the accounting suits was without foundation and improper. In this document Savage alleged that Judge Klarkowski "has knowledge of and will be requested to testify as to the distribution and disbursement of large sums of money belonging to the law firm." Judge Klarkowski commented:

"There have been certain accusations made. I want to think over what action this court should take in punishing an individual who has accused it of taking money. I will put it over until tomorrow afternoon."

Court observers interpreted this as meaning that the judge was considering citing Savage for contempt.

Origin of Litigation.

After the death of Attorney George E. Gorman last spring, the two remaining members of Crowe, Gorman & Savage split and the firm was dissolved. These partners, Former State's Attorney Robert Crowe and Savage, as well as Mrs. Gorman, widow of the third member, filed suits for accounting, two of which figured in yesterday's hearing. The third suit, brought by Savage in Superior court and similar to the other two, will be heard today before Judge Martin Gridley.

While a member of the firm, Attorney Gorman served as master in chancery under Judge Klarkowski. After his death, his son, Gerald Gorman, was appointed master.

Accuser Twice on Stand.

Savage took the witness stand twice during yesterday's hearing, both times over the protests of his attorney, Burrell J. Cramer. During his second appearance Savage charged irregularity in the assignment to Klarkowski's court of the two Circuit court suits for an accounting of the Crowe, Gorman & Savage firm. These two actions were started within an hour of each other. The judge said that an investigation of this charge would be made immediately.

Under questioning by Attorney Walter H. Eckert, representing Crowe, Savage declared that the $12,500 was collected by passing the hat among members of the firm. He cited three instances when the money was paid and said that he was certain Klarkowski had received it "because he told me about it both before and after he got it."

Mentions Relative of Judge.

On all three occasions, Savage testified, the donations were at least partly to further electioneering of Judge Klarkowski's brother-in-law, Dr. Daniel Coffey, former head of the state insane asylum at Dunning, for Republican ward committeeman. Other candidates whose campaigns were to be aided, according to Savage, were William R. Swissler, a Republican board of review aspirant, and Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg, who was running for the Republican state's attorney nomination.

Attorney Cramer moved to strike all the testimony as "improper at this stage of the case," but was overruled, Judge Klarkowski saying: "You can't attack the integrity of the court by filing an affidavit without submitting the witnesses for examination."

Then Mr. Crowe was called.

"Our firm at no time paid Judge Klarkowski any money for campaign or for any other purposes," Crowe testified. "The firm never contributed a dollar" on the three occasions mentioned, he said.

Klarkowski, Savage, and Gorman were assistants to Crowe when he was prosecutor.

Desort Refuses Plea to Jail Harry Pearsons

'TYPICAL' LOSER TELLS HOW BANK SEIZES REALTY

A story which Congressman A. J. Sabath called "typical," revealing how a middle aged woman allegedly was tricked out of the control of her $252,000 apartment building, was told yesterday in the United States courthouse before a congressional committee investigating real estate reorganizations.

The chief witness of the day was Miss Amanda Gaul, who lives at 3056 Berteau avenue since she was forced out of the building she formerly owned at 4546 Magnolia avenue.

Stifling sobs, Miss Gaul testified that the property was foreclosed in September, 1931, after bank officials refused to accept her proffer of interest and an instalment on principal following a default. She charged that previously Edward M. Warner, president of the Fidelity Trust and Savings bank, had advised her to get an extension on her first mortgage and pay off the second. She had done this, she said, borrowing $48,000 from friends and relatives.

$5,500 for $93,000 Equity.

Ernest A. Eklund, attorney for the Fidelity bank and the Uptown State bank, which took over Fidelity's deposit liabilities, later testified that Miss Gaul had received $5,500 for her $93,000 equity in the building. He said she received this from a bondholders' protective committee which "undoubtedly was instigated and organized" by the Uptown bank.

"It was for the purpose of jumping in and seizing control of these properties that foreclosures were so speedy?" Congressman Sabath asked him.

"That's undoubtedly true," Attorney Eklund admitted.

Members of the committee, who achieved their positions by "agreeing to serve," were Mr. Warner, William Hess, and John C. Bowers, president of the Chicago Real Estate board.

It was brought out that these same men were members of the liquidating committee of the Fidelity bank.

Properties Held by Typist.

Helen Meuffer, a stenographer, admitted under questioning by Miss Gaul's attorney, Raymond A. Kinzie, that title to at least twelve apartment buildings was once held in her name while she was employed as secretary to Attorney Eklund. She said she never invested any money in the buildings.

Hans Wuehrmann, president of the Uptown bank, denied on the witness stand Miss Gaul's statement that she was able to meet interest and principal payments, but that her offer was not accepted.

While Miss Gaul controled the property, bondholders testified, they received a regular return on their investment. Since the bondholders' "protective committee" got control they have received nothing, they said, although the building still has a high average of tenancy.

Congressman Sabath said there are too many similar cases to hear testimony on all of them, but that he and his colleague, Congressman Claude A. Fuller of Arkansas, want to show that Miss Gaul's case is typical.

Cheers from Heavy Losers.

"We are tending toward the opinion that such bondholders' deposit agreements can be declared void," Congressman Sabath said. "We hope we can nullify these agreements on the ground that the 'mutual advantage' proviso contained in them is untrue. Therefore there was no consideration actually given the bondholders for turning their bonds over to such committees."

Some 200 witnesses and spectators, most of them heavy losers from the operations of bondholders' "protective committees," applauded loudly.

The hearing will be resumed today when other members of the congressional committee are expected to be present.

CALIFORNIA FOREST FIRE DRIVES NUDISTS TO COVER IN HURRY

Ontario, Cal., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Fifty nudists, men and women, leaped frantically for cover behind trees today as a brush fire routed them from secluded Stoddard's canyon.

"There goes Eve," shouted a CCC worker as a young woman hastily retreated before flying embers to the shelter of a sympathetic woman motorist's car on a nearby highway.

More than 400 men, including the combined Los Angeles and San Bernardino county fire departments and CCC workers battled the blaze, which burned over 200 acres along a 3 mile front.

JAMES CERMAK GETS 6TH DELAY TO FILE APPEAL

James Cermak, 22 years old, under sentence of 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary for automobile manslaughter, was granted his sixth stay of mittimus last Saturday by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Criminal court, it was learned yesterday. The new stay gives Cermak's attorney until Oct. 7 to file an appeal in the Supreme court. In the meantime Cermak is at liberty on $4,000 bond pending final adjudication of the case.

Cermak, a nephew of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak, was twice convicted on the charge. After his first conviction on a bench trial Judge Harry B. Miller granted him a new trial. He was convicted a second time by a jury in Judge Walter Steffen's court on Feb. 19.

Cermak drove his automobile into a stalled car at Winona and Ogden avenues, Berwyn, on Feb. 7, 1934, causing the death of Leroy Susanka, 3720 Home avenue, Berwyn.

TEACHER'S AUTO KILLS GIRL, 6, ON WAY TO SCHOOL

County's Death Toll Reaches 667.

Anna Stemach, 6 years old, of McCook, was killed on her way to school yesterday when she stepped into the path of an automobile driven by Miss Katherine Duntly, 5816 Washington boulevard, Chicago, at 47th street and Lawndale avenue in Lyons. A passing motorist took the child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stemach, to the Hinsdale sanitarium, where she died of a fractured skull.

Miss Duntly, a teacher, said the child ran directly in front of her car and she was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting her.

Pedestrian Killed by Auto.

John Hoda, 51 years old, 4831 Gunnison avenue, was fatally injured last night when he was struck at Kilpatrick and Elston avenues by an automobile driven by Frank Mueller, 4323 North Tripp avenue. He died in the Swedish Convenant hospital.

These two deaths increased the Cook county trafic toll for the year to 667. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 518 persons had been killed within the Chicago city limits and 11,888 had been injured.

Hurt as Car Hits Fence.

Clyde Hoffman, 45 years old, 6345 South University avenue, was seriously injured last night when his automobile crashed through an unmarked wooden fence on Cicero avenue near the Santa Fe railroad viaduct, skidded 30 feet, and stopped on the bank of the old Illinois Michigan ship canal. Hoffman was taken to the county hospital, with a possible skull fracture.

Near Hinsdale, in Du Page county, Joseph Kowalski Jr., 16 years old, was crushed to death Sunday as he sat on the rear of a truck in front of his father's farm. An automobile driven by M. C. Edwards, Grand Rapids, Mich., suddenly swerved into the parked truck near the junction of Joliet and Clarendon Hills roads.

WEALTHY DENVER HEIR ENDS LIFE IN N. Y. HOME

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Vance McCaulley, 28, son-in-law of Seward Prosser, chairman of the board of the Bankers Trust company, was found shot to death in his home today. Police listed the death as a suicide.

He was the husband of the former Constance Prosser, from whom police said he had been separated.

McCaulley, who was left handed, shot himself through the left temple. The body was found by a maid.

Mrs. McCaulley lives with her parents in Englewood, N. J.

McCaulley inherited nearly a million dollars about three years ago as the adopted son of Francis Dunlevy McCaulley, of Denver, who died while on a Mediterranean cruise.

STREET CAR-'L' TRANSFERS TO GO INTO USE SUNDAY

Lines Review Plan with Commerce Commission.

Officials of the Illinois commerce commission and the surface and elevated lines yesterday reviewed all details of the plan for passenger transfers between the two transportation systems which will go into effect next Sunday in compliance with a recent order of the commission.

Transfers will be issued only at the time of payment of a 10 cent fare. The surface lines patron who wants a transfer to the elevated can get a transfer on paying a 10 cent fare when he boards the street car. An elevated lines rider need pay no more than his 10 cent "L" fare to get a transfer to a street car. Ticket agents at elevated stations will give out these transfers.

Transfers between street cars are not affected and will be covered by the present 7 cent fare.

Companies Give Out Rules.

Explanatory rules governing the transfers as published by the transit companies are as follows:

1. Transfers between elevated and surface line cars can be made only at fifty-two designated elevated stations and only to or from those surface lines approved by the commerce commission as tributary to the station used.
2. No transfers to the elevated lines will be issued on street cars in the district bounded by Grand avenue, Halsted street, Roosevelt road, and the lake.
3. To be valid for use on the surface lines, transfers from the elevated must be time-stamped by the passenger in the automatic machine provided for the purpose, before leaving the transfer station.
4. While it is permissible to transfer from the surface lines to the elevated lines and to complete the trip by using the surface lines again, the elevated lines can be used only once on a trip.

Car Lines Oppose Bus Transfers.

Irvin Rooks, attorney for the commerce commission, said that the Chicago Motor Coach company is eager to become a party to the transfer system. The surface lines, however, are fighting the inclusion of the coach company, and yesterday began introduction of evidence in support of their case.

In another case, in which the commission a year ago ordered the relocation of surface line tracks on Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Ohio street, members of the commission indicated yesterday that they would grant a ninety day extension of the order. Yesterday had been set as the date by which the relocation should have been made.

SANITARY BOARD SUES THE CITY FOR $4,000,000

Attorneys for the sanitary district board yesterday filed a suit for $4,000,000 in the Municipal court against the city of Chicago for light and power furnished the city by the district between Jan. 1, 1928, and Jan. 1, 1935. According to Lawrence J. Fenlon, attorney for the district, the debt represents bills unpaid by the city. Answer to the suit must be filed by the city by Sept. 30. Since last January the city has paid all sanitary district light and power bills.

GREAT CHICAGO CONSTITUTION RALLY TONIGHT

Parade to Open Meeting in Stadium.

BY PARKE BROWN.

One of the greatest peacetime patriotic demonstrations in the history of Chicago—this year's observance of Constitution day—stirred the city yesterday as preparations were completed for the grand finale in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The preliminaries to the actual 148th anniversary of the signing of the constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, brought to the celebration a note of fervor little foreseen in the early planning. The occasion is being regarded as something more than a mere commemoration of the adoption of the supreme law of the land. It has become a thrilling call to defense against immediate danger to the nation's basic institutions.

Speakers Sound the Call.

That call was sounded by speakers throughout the day at dinners and meetings.

And it will be heard repeatedly all day today, from the simple opening exercises in many schools this morning to the addresses at the Stadium this evening and the "Land of Liberty" pageant there.

All, it was announced, is in readiness for this last act of an observance that, because of conditions prevailing in the nation, has been extended over a three day period. So great was the demand for Stadium tickets last night that representatives of the Constitution day committee were confident that the hall, the largest indoor meeting place in the city, will be crowded to the last foot of space. The doors will be opened early because of the concert which begins at 7:30.

Huge Parade of Automobiles.

Even before that time a great automobile parade will be under way from the near north side area bounded by Michigan avenue, Chicago avenue, La Salle street, and Grand avenue, where the procession will form. At 7 o'clock it will proceed down Wabash avenue to Wacker drive, then to Washington boulevard and westward to the Stadium.

Scores of automobile owners appeared yesterday with requests to place their cars, trimmed with bunting, in the line and were told they would be welcome.

James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, who is to be the principal speaker, was reported to have arrived in the city last night by motor. The other speakers will be Col. R. R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, who will preside; Col. Frank Knox, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News; and Julius H. Miner, general director for the Constitution day committee.

Pageant to Conclude Program.

The "Land of Liberty" pageant will conclude the program. Two thousand persons will take part in this dramatic spectacle under the direction of Isaac Van Grove, who says that its purpose is to make visual the spirit of the nation and the constitution. Two stages built for the occasion will be used.

"The opening scene," Mr. Van Grove said, "is a symbolical dance interpreting the spirit of American freedom. As this scene closes, the narrator takes the audience back in history to lay the scene depicting the usurpation of individual freedom by tyrants. Then comes a scene showing the story of the Pilgrim fathers and the dramatic meeting of William Penn with the Indians.

"The story progresses to the Declaration of Independence, the struggles of the new nation, and finally the tableau of the United States Supreme court giving its mandate that the immortal principles of the constitution be preserved."

Other Events of Day.

Yesterday's major events included a luncheon of the Junior Association of Commerce at the Hotel Morrison, addressed by Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, and a luncheon of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion at the Hotel Sherman, addressed by Sterling Morton.

"The right to work and enjoy the fruits of one's labor," Gen. Clinnin told his hearers, "has built the hundreds of thousands of happy homes that house the workers of America. Any approach to our basic law which will disturb this situation will destroy the elements of success and bring chaos, bloodshed and revolution."

Morton Assails Confusion.

Sterling Morton's text was "Constitution or Confusion."

"Confusion! Confusion!" he exclaimed. "Millions spent to take land out of cultivation, more millions for huge dams to bring more land under cultivation. Millions to reduce crops and more millions to support those who would have gotten their living through growing, transporting or handling those crops.

"Millions for new water power plants and millions more to relieve the coal miners put out of work, the railroad men forced out of jobs and the investors whose investment becomes worthless because of government competition.

"Farm incomes are too low to buy manufactured articles, so let us create scarcity to raise farm prices. But let us at the same time raise wages and shorten factory hours so that the cost of manufactured articles will be sure to go up.

"If that isn't confusion, please lock me up in congenial company—down at Kankakee."

Discusses Alien Situation.

Morton also dwelt on the necessity of stricter enforcement of the alien laws. He mentioned specifically the refusal of the department of labor to deport "hundreds, perhaps thousands" legally sentenced to deportation.

"These aliens," he continued, "have brought here more than their physical bodies. They have brought a host of ideas previously foreign to our shores and have clothed them in long, fine sounding words we scarcely know the meaning of—proletariat, bourgeoisie, and if you are thrifty, get ahead and are a credit to your community, you are damned as a capitalist reactionary."

The Chicago Forum of Business and Professional Women last night began a series of round table discussions on government.

"Business and professional women must realize there is danger ahead for democracy," said Mrs. Mary Berkemeier Quinn, Chicago attorney, in opening the forum and announcing the purpose of the series. The round table was devoted to a study of the constitution and of the legislative personnel of the nation.

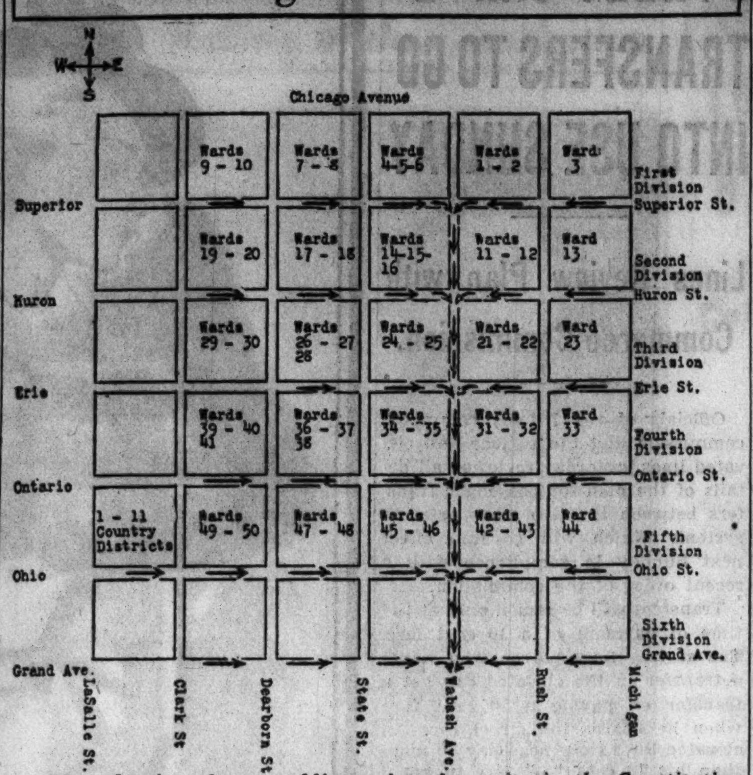
Three Luncheon Today.

Three luncheons devoted to the subject of the constitution will be held today. The Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will hold a public luncheon at the Hotel La Salle where Joseph Davis, a student of constitutional history, will be the speaker.

Dean Ralph E. Heilman of the School of Commerce of Northwestern university will address the Rotary club of Chicago at the Hotel Sherman.

The weekly luncheon of the United German-American Republican league at the Old Heidelberg inn will be devoted to a discussion of the constitution. The speaker will be the Rev. George L. Scherger, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical church.

Assembling Points for Parade



Map showing the assembling points for units in the Constitution day parade, starting at 7 p. m. today. The parade will proceed south on Wabash avenue to Wacker drive, west to Washington boulevard and thence west to the Chicago Stadium at Wood street.

FANEUIL HALL TO BE THE SCENE TODAY OF CONSTITUTION RALLY

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Faneuil hall, where progenitors of the United States constitution once advocated the principles of American democracy, will sound again tomorrow with speeches on a similar theme.

In the 195-year old building the national Constitution day committee is sponsoring a program commemorating its adoption.

Leaders in American life will speak in the building which only once in its history has been closed to American citizens. That was in 1775 during the British occupation of Boston.

At an afternoon meeting Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., member of the Massachusetts house of representatives and son of the late United States senator, and William R. Pattangall, chief justice of the Maine Supreme court, will speak.

Evening speakers will include Gov. James M. Curley of Massachusetts; James M. Beck, former solicitor general of the United States; Albert C. Ritchie, former governor of Maryland, and Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin.

Prof. Andrew C. McLaughlin to Lecture on Constitution

Five lectures on "Our Constitution" will be given this autumn by Prof. Andrew C. McLaughlin of the University of Chicago. Dean Carl Huth of the university's downtown division announced yesterday that the lectures would be given in Fullerton hall of the Art institute on Wednesday evenings at 6:45 o'clock from Oct. 9 through Nov. 6. Prof. McLaughlin's latest book, "A Constitutional History of the United States," was published early this summer.

WOMAN, 80, DIES OF BURNS.

Mrs. Laura Ponders, 80 years old, 601 Bowen avenue, colored, died yesterday of burns incurred when she dropped a match on her clothing last Thursday.

HEARING IS SET FOR EDITOR ON VENUE CHANGE

Protests Restoration of Felon's Rights.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Hearing on the petition of Walter Liggett for a change of venue in his trial on charges of a sex offense today was set for Sept. 28. The trial had been scheduled to open today.

Ligett, editor of the Midwest American, in his petition filed ten days ago, declared that he was being made the victim of a political conspiracy intended to silence his attacks on Farmer-Labor party officials, including Gov. Floyd B. Olson, whose impeachment he repeatedly has demanded.

Protests Citizenship Plea.

Liggett today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt protesting against restoration of citizenship to Charles A. Ward of St. Paul, president of Brown and Bigelow.

Ward on July 30, of this year, applied to the President for restoration of full citizenship rights, which he forfeited when he was sent to Leavenworth from Denver, Colo., in July, 1920, for selling narcotics.

"I have filed an affidavit," the telegram said, "alleging that Charles A. Ward, with others, conspired to bring false criminal charges against me; that said Ward defrayed the preliminary expenses of this plot; and later Ward subsidized certain scandal sheets, which have made scurrilous attacks upon me to prejudice prospective jurors.

Asks Delay Until Decision.

"I protest against restoration of citizenship rights to said Charles A. Ward until the case against me which is now pending on the current calendar in the Hennepin county district court, is tried and I have an opportunity of proving my charges against Ward.

"In addition to being involved in the plot against me, which was designed solely to suppress my weekly newspaper, Midwest America, because it had charged Gov. Olson and other members of his administration with corruption and demanded the governor's impeachment, Ward is one of the largest beneficiaries of graft under the Olson régime and received exhorbitant rentals and contracts from the state.

"Ward also paid large sums of money to Gov. Olson's campaign fund in return for appointment as major in the national guard, and actually received such appointment, although he was not a citizen and was not qualified to hold any military post."

FLAYS CONGRESS FOR ABANDONING OF CONSTITUTION

The 74th congress was termed the "most unconstitutional of any congress" in an address last night by Congressman Chauncey W. Reed [Rep.] of West Chicago at Constitution day exercises in Elgin. He scored the congress for its servility to the administration and its abandonment of legislative powers to the executive division of the government.

"When a man is elected to uphold the constitution and takes a solemn oath to do so, he should adhere to this pledge," said Reed. "Yet members of the last congress, as puppets, enacted administrative measures, the unconstitutionality of which was almost a foregone conclusion. Public opinion must impeach such conduct if the true benefits of the constitution are to be safeguarded."

An example of the abandonment by congress of its powers to the executive division, said Mr. Reed, is the President's $4,800,000,000 work relief bill. But by the time its constitutionality is determined, he said, the money will have been spent.

CONSTITUTION OR A DICTATOR, LOWDEN WARNS

is a colossal task. Difficulties, contradictions, confusion, finally overwhelm the planners, until the only way out seems to be an economic dictatorship with autocratic power in the hand of the state.

"With the loss of economic freedom which such a dictatorship would involve would come, as all history shows, the loss of those other things which America has cherished above all things; the loss of personal liberty, freedom of thought and speech, and the right to worship God according to one's own conscience.

"Are we to discard the American form of government for imported philosophies, old at the time and discarded as unworthy of the American scene by the framers of our constitution?

"No Room for Dictatorship."

"There is no room on American soil for the dictatorship of either the Fascist or the proletariat type of government. There is no proletariat in the United States.

"The communist and Fascist types of government have this in common: They both depend upon unlimited power in the head of the state. It was against this kind of government that the Declaration of Independence was aimed. They called it then the monarchical principle. In effect it did not differ from the present soviet régime in Russia, the Fascist rule in Italy, or the Nazi movement in Germany.

"There are only two forms of government, self-government and autocratic government. No new nomenclature, no juggling of words, can disguise this fact.

Address of Ex-Gov. Ely.

Former Gov. Ely, for two decades influential in Democratic politics of Massachusetts, set forth that revamping of the constitution to make it conform to the ideas of the New Dealers would make the federal government "the master of our souls."

"The question of supreme moment," said Mr. Ely, "which the policies of this administration make it imperative to answer, is the re-allocation of the powers which we, the people, have given to the central government and the states. The next point to understand is why the policies of the New Deal raise the question of a re-allocation of powers.

"The distinct idea of the New Deal is a planned economy in which the federal government regulates agricultural production, factory production, and employment in all occupations. The NRA has already been held unconstitutional for two reasons; first, because it delegated legislative powers to the executive; second, because congress has no authority under the constitution to regulate intrastate business. The AAA is probably unconstitutional for the same reason.

Bills Called Unconstitutional.

"Competent legal authority is practically unanimous in believing the Guffey coal bill unconstitutional. The same opinion is held in regard to the Wheeler-Rayburn utilities bill, the Wagner labor relations act, and the cotton control act.

"This administration, if it believes in its own policies, would seem under obligation to the people to state clearly what these policies mean and to ask that the necessary changes be made in a constitutional manner.

"To sustain these New Deal policies and the sort of legislation already enacted, the power must be given to the federal government to regulate the mining of coal, now an intrastate business, the taking from the ground of petroleum, and the curtailing of a farmer's right to raise what he wishes, where he wishes, and when he wishes.

"To put it another way, the power of local government, now resting with the states to regulate agriculture, mining, and industry generally, must be taken from the states and given to the federal government.

"A constitutional change, giving to federal authority the right to carry out planned economy for the control of agriculture, mining and industry, affects every act of our daily existence, except sleeping and waking. The government will become the great father under whose paternalistic care our lives will be planned. It differs from the Jeffersonian theory of government as night from day.

"I read the other day something about skeptics. They were the people who refused to sail in the ark with Noah. As I recall the Biblical reference, all were skeptics at that time but Noah, his wife, and his sons. Rather a striking comparison between the present day and the day of the flood. But I am more than skeptical. I fear the deluge and I do not trust this modern ark. I prefer Madison and Jefferson to Tugwell."

Club's Principles Reaffirmed.

The Union League club's reaffirmation of principles as being "four square for the constitution," was read by Col. George T. Buckingham. Edwin C. Austin, president of the club, was in the chair.

The declaration spoke of the club motto carved in the mantel in the clubhouse; "Welcome loyal hearts. We join ourselves to no party which does not carry the flag and keep step to the music of the union."

MAGIC POWER SLEEPS IN THE UNOPENED MIND

Nobody born into this world has ever used his mental power to full capacity . . . not even the mental giants. Every day men give up the struggle . . . men who failed, not because they did not try, but because they gave their minds no opportunity to lift them above mediocrity.

Men and women who achieve any degree of success in the business world owe their progress largely to the open mind . . . a willingness to adapt themselves to new ideas, to learn what business requires, and to equip themselves to meet those requirements.

At De Paul University, you can learn from others what it would take you years to learn for yourself. The following are just a few of the many subjects available: Accounting, Income Tax, C.P.A. Quiz, Business Organization, Purchasing, Credits and Collections, Business Law, Marketing, Advertising, Salesmanship, Foreign Trade Practice, Finance, Banking, Economics, Business English, Business Correspondence, News Reporting and Writing, Public Speaking, etc.

THRONG CHEERS COLORFUL DRAMA OF CONSTITUTION

Document Birth Depicted Before 4,000.

With colorful pageantry and stirring scenes the making of the United States constitution 148 years ago was portrayed last night for a throng of 4,000 persons who jammed the Medinah temple at 14 East Ohio street. The drama was performed by a group of business men and lawyers of Danville, Ill., under the auspices of the Chicago Bar association.

Those days of the summer and fall in 1787 when the constitution was fashioned amid struggle and compromise were depicted with historical accuracy as the players moved about the stage in colonial white wigs, bright silks and plushes. The continued applause of the audience proved, President Herbert M. Lautmann of the bar association declared, the great interest in the principles for which the constitution stands.

"It augurs well for the continuation of the constitution, the foundation upon which this nation stands in the hearts of citizens," Lautmann said.

Washington's Ire Depicted.

The pageant opened with the delegates assembling on May 25, 1787, in Philadelphia, and George Washington, played by Dr. G. Haven Stephens, chafing at the tardiness of various state representatives.

After Washington remarked that the delays were serving "to sour the temper of the punctual members," delegates from nine states, sufficient for a quorum, arrived and the convention same to order. The first episode ended with the unanimous choice of Washington as president.

The action in the second episode centered on a short period covering several days of the convention starting May 28. The Virginia plan, that of choosing the national congress on a population basis, was presented by Gov. Edmund Randolph of Virginia [played by William Acton.] Charles Pickney of South Carolinia [Joseph P. Gulick] presented the plan for equal representation of all states, large and small.

Drama in Third Episode.

Then came the dramatic third episode, with the tempers of the delegates at the boiling point.

"I'm unfriendly to both plans," shouted Alexander Hamilton [Louis Lowenstein]. "The British government is the best in the world."

"No, no, no!" shouted the other delegates, surging around Hamilton and shouting him down.

Then the compromise plan of James Madison of Virginia [Harold Lindley] providing for two legislative chambers, a senate elected to give representation according to states and a house based on population, was adopted. Madison's demands for a system of checks and balances in government rang out through the hall.

"First we must protect the people against their rulers," he said, "and secondly we must protect them against transient impressions which they may gain. We must provide every guard for liberty."

The fourth and last episode was based on the signing of the constitution 148 years ago today.

The pageant was rewritten by Dr. Stephens, a dentist, from the script prepared by Rex Hardy of Los Angeles in conjunction with Robert K. Ryland of Kansas City, Mo., and enacted in both those cities.

In preparing his script Dr. Stephens used Madison's minutes of the sessions and conducted a long correspondence with James M. Beck, former solicitor general of the United States, and noted constitutional lawyer.

START TESTING 14,000 TODAY FOR 50 POLICE JOBS

Preliminary physical examinations of 14,000 candidates for 50 Chicago park police positions will begin at 9 o'clock this morning in the former west park administration building at Garfield park under the direction of Stephen D. Forst, park superintendent of employment. The tests, which start today, are to be given to 500 to 800 men a day and are to qualify applicants for the competitive written and physical tests.

Policeman Halts Girl's River Suicide; She Tries Hanging

A woman about 21 years old, blue eyed and brown haired, was seized by Policeman Joseph Jelinek of the Desplaines street station last night when she attempted to leap into the river after running down a flight of stairs near the Madison street bridge. She gave the police several names, including Evelyn McNabb and Mary Kelly. After she tried to hang herself in the Chicago avenue police station she was taken to the psychopathic hospital.

FOUND SHOT; GUN AT SIDE.

Samuel J. Reid, 39 years old, 8103 Evans avenue, a real estate salesman, was found in the abdomen, a pistol by his side, in front of 851 East 87th street yesterday. At the Jackson park hospital last night it was said he had a chance to recover. Reid is the father of three children.

G. O. P. RIVALS END PRIMARY DRIVES IN PHILADELPHIA

Hottest Mayoral Fight Since 1919.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Rival candidates for the Republican nomination for mayor concluded their campaigns tonight, each predicting for himself substantial majorities in tomorrow's primary.

Victory in the most vigorous fight waged in Philadelphia since the memorable battle of 1919 was conceded by observers to lie between City Treasurer Will Hadley and City Controler S. Davis Wilson.

The fight split the organization from top to bottom. Wilson cannot vote. He faces a challenge and a legal requirement to swear he voted last fall for a majority of the Republican candidates if he tried to register Republican. So he elected not to enroll at all. His 1934 registration was Democratic.

Both Enemies of Vare.

Hadley registered as a nonpartisan last year. Two years ago the two were elected to their present offices on Democratic-Town Meeting tickets and campaigned together against the organization of the late William S. Vare.

Democratic leaders, virtually united, predict their organization slate will have no trouble and admittedly hope to capitalize in November on Republican dissension. John B. Kelly is the sole outstanding candidate for the Democratic mayoralty candidacy.

Tammany in Balance.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Control of Tammany Hall will hang in the balance in tomorrow's primary. Numerous contests of district leaderships involve the present administration of Tammany, and some of the candidates are reputed to be lined up with Roosevelt-Farley forces in an effort to wrest the leadership from James J. Dooling.

The Republicans will be wrestling with a movement to oust Chase Mellen Jr., from the county chairmanship.

Four Men Beat Elevator Operator, Nonunion Man

Fred Prado, 33 years old, 851 King place, a Filipino, was beaten by four men last night in the Gage building at 18 South Michigan avenue, where he is employed as an elevator operator. All the elevator operators in the building are nonunion. They told the police that efforts had been made to unionize the force.

YOUNG CHICAGOAN SHOOTS A JAGUAR IN BRAZILIAN JUNGLE

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth, the arctic explorer, and two American college youths, Kermit Roosevelt Jr., 19, of Harvard, and the Chicagoan, Edward McCormick Blair, 20, Yale, arrived here in the same plane today after hunting expositions in the swamps of the Matto Grosso.

All three were well sunburned and wore long beards. Young Roosevelt bagged a tapir, a red wolf and an ocelot, while Blair got a huge jaguar as a trophy. In addition each killed several deer.

YEAST COMPANY HEADS SEIZED ON REVENUE CHARGE

Henry Kaiser, A. R. Johannsen and Walter Reese, owners of the Blue Ribbon Yeast company, 1752 Sedgwick street, were held to the federal grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to violate the internal revenue law. The case is expected to be a test of the constitutionality of the federal law requiring that wholesalers report to the government all sales of yeast and certain other beer and liquor ingredients. The defendants were held in bonds of $500 each by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker after Assistant United States Attorney Daniel D. Glasser told him that the men refused to report yeast sales and "dared" revenue agents to arrest them for violating what they called an "unconstitutional law."

NEW DEALERS LINKED TO REDS BY G. O. P. WOMEN

Civil Liberties Union Cited in New York.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Spurred by an injunction from Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr., widow of the late President, to defend the constitution as the mainstay of "the liberty that we stand in danger of losing," Republican women from twenty states rallied here today in opposition to the policies of the present Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

"The New Deal and the constitution are incompatible." That was the keynote emphasized by speaker after speaker before 300 cheering partisans at the opening sessions of the two day conference in the George Washington assembly room of the Women's National Republican club.

Quotes Washington's Warning.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr. went back to the writings of the first President for the text of her brief address.

"The basis of our political system," Washington adjured, "is the right of the people to make and alter their constitutions of government. But the constitution that at any time exists, until changed by the explicit and authentic act of the people is sacredly obligatory upon us all."

Then the widow of the former President added:

"These solemn words belong to us individually and collectively, to Republican and Democrat, to each first voter and to each man or woman who holds office under our government. We are the 'whole people' and we are gathered today to testify our belief in the constitution of our country. On that rock our forefathers built this nation. On that rock it must stand. In its principles it is our duty to affirm a fixed belief.

Cites Old Loyalties.

"Deep in our hearts at the very roots of our being lie three great loyalties: loyalty to our god, loyalty to our nation, loyalty to mankind. Without these three loyalties a nation must perish. To them in this crisis we dedicate our lives, never to falter in our high devotion; never to fall back in our purpose to leave to our children and to our children's children the freedom of life and thought that has been ours. For if we fall 'we fall like Lucifer, never to hope again.'"

Other speakers were united in denunciation of such "brain trust babies" as the NRA, the Guffey coal bill, the AAA, and the administration tax program. But of all the New Deal measures none called forth such caustic criticism as that leveled at the potato control bill.

Attacks Potato Law.

Mrs. Robert L. Hoyal, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, counseled defiance of its terms, saying:

"A potato a day will keep a dictator away."

Something of the same thought was in the mind of Mrs. George H. Lorimer, president of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania, when she prophesied:

"The lowly spud may prove the administration's Waterloo."

Mrs. Lorimer saw the task of the next occupant of the White House made doubly difficult by the necessity for driving "the money wasters out of the temple." Together with all her fellow speakers she believed a Republican victory at the polls in 1936 was the only road to "sane, sensible government under the constitution."

Accuses Six New Dealers.

In support of her charge that six New Dealers are working toward socialism Mrs. Robert Low Bacon cited:

HAROLD L. ICKES, secretary of the interior;

FRANCES PERKINS, secretary of labor;

REXFORD GUY TUGWELL, undersecretary of agriculture;

DONALD RICHBERG, recently NRA director;

JAMES M. LANDIS, securities exchange commissioner;

FREDRIC C. HOWE, consumers' adviser with NRA.

"All these," Mrs. Bacon averred, "have been members or contributors to one or more communistic or socialistic groups, in particular to the American Civil Liberties union, which is listed in the Daily Worker, official organ of the communist party in the United States, as one of 600 national communistic organizations.

"Another of these organizations is the League for Industrial Democracy, which advocates 'education towards a new social order based on production for use and not for profit.' How often have we heard this line from the New Dealers."

Leaders at Conference.

WILL ROGERS' ESTATE ABOUT $2,500,000; LEFT ENTIRELY TO WIDOW

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Will Rogers' will was admitted to probate today, leaving the entire estate to Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, his widow. No official estimate was made of the value of the estate, believed to be around $2,500,000.

James J. Blake, Rogers' brother-in-law and business manager, and one of the executors, said Mrs. Rogers would come into immediate possession of about $50,000 of the late comedian's personal property.

The probate hearing was brief. The will was written shortly before Rogers left with Wiley Post on an aerial jaunt to Alaska that ended in their deaths last month.

HOMICIDE, SAYS JURY OF KILLING OF LONG SLAYER

Prosecutor Named as Plotter by Smith.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long's assassination in the state capitol Sept. 8 was reconstructed before a coroner's jury today under circumstances that give it a new political significance and at the same time presented a mystery in the way of human motivation.

An inquest into the death of Dr. Carl Austin Weiss Jr., 29 year old Baton Rouge physician, who shot the Louisiana dictator and was himself killed by Long's bodyguards, was staged before Coroner Thomas B. Bird with spectacular consequences. The jury found that Dr. Weiss came to his death by pistol wounds in head, chest, and abdomen (said to be 32 in all), and they wrote "homicidal" after their verdict.

Names Prosecutor Plotter.

This did not end the matter, either, for in the course of the inquest District Attorney John Fred Odom, whose name was connected with the alleged plot to assassinate Senator Long last January, was branded as a plotter against Long by the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer of Long's political clubs, who has taken on the religio-economic leadership of the movement since Huey's death.

After Smith had taken the oath he stood up in the witness box before the crowded courtroom and said:

"I respect your court, Mr. Coroner, but I brand the district attorney as one of the plotters of this assassination. I refuse to answer his questions. I worshiped Long as my hero. I propose to say nothing that will harass these boys (the bodyguards) who gave themselves unreservedly in his defense."

Called a "Vicious Liar."

Mr. Odom, a distinguished looking, middle aged lawyer, arose and said in reply:

"I might add that I care nothing for his opinions of me or of my actions. When he says I ever plotted this killing he is a willful, deliberate, and vicious liar."

There was applause throughout the courtroom at the close of each of these little speeches. That at the end of the Smith statement was a bit heavier, as the room was packed with friends of Long, including many of his officials, his legislators, his old jobholders, and members of the criminal identification bureau of the state, who are often referred to locally as "Long spies."

Tells Part in Meeting.

Mr. Odom outside the courtroom had previously made a statement concerning his part in the meeting of the anti-Long men at the De Soto hotel in New Orleans last July 21 and 22, where the plot is said to have been hatched.

Admitting his presence at this meeting, which was a more or less open affair going on in three rooms at once, Mr. Odom said that there was no discussion of a plot to kill Long at that meeting, although some one in the room may have said that the only way to get rid of Long was to kill him.

Such remarks have been common around Louisiana ever since the original plot was exposed in a court inquiry in the state capitol last January. The judge who sat in that hearing, Judge J. D. Womack; the attorney general, Gaston Porterie; Brig. Gen. Louis E. Guerre, who called out the troops to protect that situation, and many others who were a part of that prophetic scene made up the background of today's proceedings.

Ex-Dry Spy as Witness.

At the January meeting Sidney Songy, former prohibition informer, testified that he had been present at a meeting at which District Attorney Odom was one of the participants, in which it was plotted to kill Long. Nothing was ever done about that plot, but it was brought into the picture today by the minister's reference and also by the testimony of Joe Messina, for years the friend and bodyguard of the slain senator.

Joe, a stocky looking Italian, was rather incoherent in his testimony and was so affected by the death of his beloved chief that he could barely talk.

"Senator Long was a very close friend of mine," said Joe, choking over his words. "There was a plot conspired before. My friend Sidney Songy came to see me and begged to be taken to Long's room. He wanted to confess to a crime they wanted him to pull off. He couldn't do it. He confessed and we got pistols and other things and stopped it."

Claim Weiss Still Shooting.

As to the killing of Dr. Weiss, Messina and two other bodyguards testified that this was done primarily because the doctor had killed Senator Long, and secondly because the killer still had his gun in his hand and was trying to shoot someone else at the time he was shot down. This action, which took place in a few seconds, was variously described. One bodyguard tried to strike Weiss and missed, hitting Senator Long in the mouth. Another, Murphy Roden, grabbed Weiss and tried to get the gun away. Whether Dr. Weiss was shot at this time or whether it was after he had broken away from Roden, gun in hand, was a moot point. Roden said he shot the man ten times. Messina said simply:

"I shot the man who killed the senator."

John Fournet, associate justice of the Supreme court, was one of the closest men to the senator, he testified. He struck the hand that held the pistol, but it was too late. Long cried "I am shot," and sagged a little, then walked out of the place, he testified.

No Words Before Shooting.

No words were spoken between Dr. Weiss and his victim, it was testified, setting aside rumors that Dr. Weiss had upbraided the senator for political actions which had resulted in economic disaster to three members of the Weiss family.

While it might be termed a psychological murder in the sense that many wanted it done and saw it as inevitable, there was nothing developed at the inquest to show that any one else had any direct hand in it.

It is the hope of the Long organization, in view of the coming elections, to get sufficient evidence to make charges of conspiracy against anti-Long leaders, but there has been nothing to substantiate the plot theory yet.

Father on Stand.

Dr. C. A. Weiss, father of Long's killer, was a witness. He said that on the Sunday of the shooting he spent all day with his son until 7:30 o'clock in the evening. There was nothing during the day to indicate that his son had anything unusual on his mind. Dr. Weiss Jr. and his wife and baby came over to the father's house for dinner. In the afternoon they went to a camp by the river side. The young doctor and his wife went swimming. He was in good humor at dinner and ate well. He attended mass at St. Joseph's church with his wife. He helped put the baby to bed. He called up a fellow physician to make an appointment to assist at an operation the following Monday morning.

Informed He's Dead.

An hour later they were informed that he was dead.

It is an astonishing situation, without any lines leading to politics, without warning as to his dangerous state of mind. His father recited proudly his son's record at school. He went to Louisiana State university and to Tulane, had his medical degree at 21 and his bachelor of science before that. He spent a year in Vienna and had been an interne in the American hospital in Paris. There was everything here to indicate a high intelligence. Dr. Weiss said his son often carried a pistol as they had been troubled by marauders in their garage.

Murphy Roden said that he was close to the senator and that some one shoved by him and pulled a gun close to the senator's stomach. He did not have time to stop the first shot but grabbed the man before he had time to shoot again. He said that he shot Dr. Weiss to keep from being shot.

Bodyguards to Go Free.

This probably ends all talk of prosecuting the bodyguards who "executed" Dr. Weiss. "executed" Dr. Weiss. The district attorney said he did not contemplate any action against them, although he is not foreclosed by the verdict.

The situation is left in a tense atmosphere, with politicians not knowing which way to jump. Mr. Smith has counseled against violence but has a hundred thousand ready to come to his aid, accepting with fervor his charges of plot.

Blames "4 Congressmen."

A report tonight from Dequeen, Ark., said that Dr. George S. Long of Tulsa, Okla., brother of the slain senator, had charged that there is evidence that a plot to murder Long was instigated by four congressmen in a New Orleans hotel.

The Oklahoma dentist was said to have claimed that records from a voice recording machine revealed that Dr. Weiss drew the "short straw."

D. C. Court Denies Injunction Against the Guffey Coal 'NRA'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Without passing on the question of constitutionality, the District of Columbia Supreme court today refused to issue a temporary injunction against the Guffey coal control law. President Roosevelt asked congress to pass the law despite "reasonable doubts of its constitutionality."

Justice Daniel O'Donoghue held that the appeal of the Carter Coal company against the act was premature. This ruling upheld the contention of the federal government as presented by John Dickinson, assistant attorney general.

Law Not Yet Operative.

Although passed by congress, the Guffey law has not been operative. The control board which is to promulgate a code of wages, hours, prices, and fair trade practices has not been appointed, and the tax on coal production which is to enforce compliance is not effective until November.

Fredrick H. Wood, New York, the lawyer who argued the case killing the NRA, insisted that the law would do the Carter company irreparable harm, and asked for a temporary injunction. Representatives of the company indicated that they will continue their fight despite today's ruling.

The question of the Guffey law's constitutionality was not fought out since Assistant Attorney General Dickinson merely replied that there was no immediate danger of damage to the Carter company, pointing out that the act was still inoperative.

Denies Without Prejudice.

Justice O'Donoghue followed this same line of reasoning, and denied the petition for an injunction without prejudice for a future injunction plea based on positive evidence and without discussing the constitutional question. The justice suggested to Mr. Wood that the company could at any time move to advance the case for final hearing, bring in positive evidence, and secure a decision this winter.

Basing his denial of the plea solely on the grounds that it was premature, Justice O'Donoghue noted that the coal commission created by the Guffey law had not been appointed and that no controling code had been promulgated. He also pointed out that the enforcement tax on coal produced other than under the code would not start until Nov. 1.

JUDGE SABATH SITS IN DIVORCE BRANCH AGAIN

After an absence of a year during which he served in the chancery division, Judge Joseph Sabath, dean of the Cook county divorce judges, returned yesterday to the divorce branch of the Superior court, where he had spent 13 years. Under the new assignments this fall Judge Sabath will have charge of all divorce matters in the court, assigning cases and determining rules of procedure.

There are 9,000 divorce cases pending on the fall calendar. Of these, Judge Sabath said, 2,000 are "dead heads" which he expects to strike from the docket. There will also be no "ten minute" divorces this year, declared the veteran jurist. Instead any divorce bill will not be set for hearing until the day after it is filed.

Judge Sabath also declared he would follow his usual policy of trying to reconcile couples who have children. In the 50,000 divorce cases he has heard, Judge Sabath asserted he has brought 3,000 couples together. Judge Rudolph Desort, too, is hearing divorce cases.

HOPE FADES FOR MOTORSHIP, LAST HEARD OF IN GALE

Inquires Into Bonds Sold at 25 Per Cent Off.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—How the Coral Gables corporation, whose officers also were the heads of the municipal government of the once widely heralded "Florida paradise," realized fabulous profits on the transfer of property and facilities to the citizenry was unfolded today before the Securities and Exchange commission.

George E. Merrick, president of the development corporation and former Coral Gables city commissioner, who once owned most of the land from which the area was developed, told the commission that the city averaged only about 70 per cent on its bond issues over a five year period, the remainder going for bankers' commissions, cost of promotional activities, and the like.

Tells of Three Issues.

He dealt specifically with four separate bond issues totaling $7,319,000, three of which were handled by a banking syndicate, headed by the Century Trust company of Baltimore and the largest of which aggregated $4,532,000. It was issued in January, 1927, when four of the five city commissioners were directors of the development corporation, and a time when the latter was admittedly "slipping."

The proceeds of the issue were used in each instance to enable the city to pay the development corporation for real estate and appurtenant facilities acquired from the original developers. Completion of the property transfers was followed shortly afterward by the hurricane of 1927 that ended the boom.

Plans to Investigate Others.

The hearing before the commission was one of a series contemplated in connection with its investigation of property reorganizations and bond holders protective committees. It brought out an intention of the commission to go into a number of other municipal reorganizations and the broad aspects of municipal defaults.

Merrick told how he and his associates started out in 1922 with holdings of about 4,000 acres around Miami and formed the development company for the buying and selling of lots. It acquired or contracted for practically all the land now comprising the limits of the city of Coral Gables, about 10,000 acres in all. The city was incorporated in April, 1925, and a charter granted by the state legislature naming Merrick and his associates as four of the five city commissioners.

Dillon-Reed Deal Fails.

The only reason the city paid for marketing its bonds at a rate averaging from 25 to 30 per cent was because the service could not be obtained for less, Merrick testified. He said he went to the Century Trust company only after negotiations with Dillon, Reed & Co. had fallen through, and he could not say why the latter firm considered his proposition unattractive.

The first of four municipal issues under scrutiny today was one of $550,000 General Improvement 5½ per cent bonds dated Dec. 1, 1925, that went under competitive bidding to the Miami Mortgage and Guaranty company for 97 and accrued interest. The purchasing company was acting for several local banks.

Being usable for any municipal purpose, the proceeds of the issue were devoted to purchase of properties from the Coral Gables corporation which was indebted to Miami banks that held its notes. The corporation paid the money it received to the creditor banks with the result that they ended up with the city bonds instead of the notes of the debtor corporation.

Among properties thus acquired by the city was an old city hall, fire station, and ambulance house for which it paid $150,000. The cost to the corporation had been $34,234. The 1930 appraised value of the city hall was $7,500 and of the fire station $4,000, testimony showed.

Included in the same sale by the corporation to the city was a city hall site in the Biltmore section that had cost the corporation $14,256, and which it transferred to the city for $150,000.

SENATORS INQUIRE INTO SCHEME TO RUN WAR SUPPLY PLANTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The senate munitions committee today revealed that it was inquiring into how much it would cost the government to own and operate plants to build ships, airplanes, and other weapons of warfare.

Committee officials said this was the purpose of inquiries now being made by a group of expert examiners of the interstate commerce commission into the books and records of shipbuilding, airplane, and arms concerns.

The specific concern whose books are being examined were not disclosed, but the list was understood to include many of the firms whose officials have testified before the committee during its long inquiry into the affairs of the munitions industry.

Among them were the Newport News, New York, Bethlehem, Federal, and United ship building concerns and Wright and Pratt Whitney airplane manufacturing companies.

The study was described as directed particularly at ascertaining how much these plants cost to set up, and how much it costs to operate them.

JUDGE CONVINCED NOISES OF AUTOS CAN BE REDUCED

Judge John Gutknecht will return to the Trafic court bench this morning convinced from a 3,200 mile automobile tour in Europe that Chicago can silence the unnecessary noises of its motor transportation.

"I was most impressed," said the judge yesterday, "by the success English cities have had in banning the use of horns except in emergencies. I was in London a year ago when the ban was inaugurated and was anxious this summer to study the results.

"There are no essential differences in the characteristics of trafic in Chicago and in London, so I'm confident we would enjoy the same benefits here if we would quiet our horns.

"I am giving due warning that I'll enforce the provision of the new Illinois trafic code prohibiting the use of a horn emitting excessively loud or unusual sounds and the provision requiring all motor vehicles to be equipped with an adequate muffler in constant operation."

Police Captain David Flynn, in charge of the trafic division, said yesterday that 120 arrests have been made since the new law became effective. A dozen of the offenders will be arraigned this week in the Trafic court. To date, thirty-two violators have been assessed fines ranging from $1 to $4.

EVADES COURT; ARREST ORDERED.

The $40 bond of Marvin Hofstetter, 23 years old, 817 Forest avenue, Evanston, was forfeited yesterday and a capias for his arrest was issued when he failed to appear before Judge Harry H. Porter in Evanston to answer eight charges of parking without lights.

WPA CHIEFS HERE FAVOR 5 MILLION CHURCH SPENDING

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Robert J. Dunham, head of the Illinois Works Progress administration, announced yesterday that plans have been approved locally for spending $3,497,375 of WPA federal funds through churches of the city for recreation, welfare, and informal educational projects. An additional fund of $1,520,750, it was stated, will be expended under the heading of "sponsors' contributions," if the project wins approval in Washington.

It was stated that the program will be launched as a single project under sponsorship of the Chicago Recreation commission, "but broken down for convenience into three projects, Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish." Mr. Dunham's subordinates were vague as to the source or sources of the sponsors' contributions, but admitted that "it may be that the Chicago recreation commission has this money for this purpose."

Confers with Commission.

Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, made public yesterday a special memorandum on the proposed state-church recreational project for Chicago in which he stated that early this month he conferred with Chicago recreational commission officials at their request. He added that he was informed that Washington officials were disposed to offer WPA funds to churches "as an enlargement of a similar program offered to social settlements and welfare agencies during the last two years."

When questioned yesterday about such an appropriation, however, Washington officials stated they knew of no such applications and that no consideration will be given to any church agency by the WPA. Such funds must be administered only by public officials, they said. It was pointed out in Chicago last night that this rule might be evaded through the general administration of a public agency such as the Chicago Recreation commission.

Plan Protestant Appeal.

After conferring with Church federation officials, Mr. Mee explained, it was decided that the federation would submit a project proposal to the recreation commission "in the name of the Protestant churches of Chicago," for the following reasons:

"1.—Due to the financial depression churches have been compelled to reduce drastically and in many cases discontinue their educational and recreational community programs. This project would enable the churches to take advantage of the opportunity to resume and expand their programs of a non-sectarian nature in a way that would be of inestimable value.

"2.—The churches are tremendously interested in every intelligent effort that is being made to assist folks in making worthwhile use of their increasing leisure time and in the effort being made to take men and women off the relief rolls and give them honest employment.

Recreation Commission's Plan.

Two hundred and fifty-four Catholic parishes will make provision for 1,822 recreation welfare workers at a cost of $1,769,600 in WPA money and $893,750 from sponsors. Catholic projects cover a period of twelve months.

For the Protestant division, $1,300,675 of WPA funds and $370,800 from sponsors will employ 1,950 workers for a nine month period in 400 "of the larger and well equipped churches."

The Jewish division proposes work in 151 synagogues and community houses for 544 workers for a period of ten months at a cost of $427,100 from WPA coffers and $316,200 from sponsors.

Some View Plan Cautiously.

The recently organized conference of Methodist laymen, in executive session Sunday, announced yesterday that the WPA church project had been discussed and made public a general statement yesterday which questioned the project. It was signed by Henry S. Henschen of Winnetka, president of the conference, and Wilbur Helm, 120 S. La Salle street, secretary.

Speaking as officers of the conference these men stated they "were disturbed" by the proposal and asked all members of the conference to give it careful scrutiny.

ISLAND AIR PORT ALLY SPEAKS HIS MIND AMID FOES

Fifty representatives of business and civic organizations, who designate themselves as "the Chicago lake front and park defense committee" met yesterday in the Hotel Sherman to discuss means of fighting lake front developments favored by the city administration.

When a motion was made to include the island airport in the program of general opposition one delegate, M. J. Schmidt, president of the Southport Business Men's association, voted an emphatic "no." He explained that although he opposed the proposed permanent fair, he believed an airport near the loop would stimulate business all over the city, in addition to aiding in the development of aviation.

The motion, however, was carried almost unanimously. The committee then authorized E. A. Rummler of the City club, chairman of the meeting, to appoint a group at some future date to investigate the possibility of raising funds to halt the developments by court action, if such action is necessary.

Total collections on the third instalment of the federal income tax in the Chicago district for Sept. 1 to 16 this year were $15,556,997.51, as compared to $9,824,524.47 for the same period last year, according to Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue. The increases this year, amounting to 63 per cent, are in keeping, Mr. Harrison said, with the general improvement of business throughout the country. The fourth and final instalment is due and payable by Dec. 15.

2,000 QUIT RELIEF TODAY TO START ON STREET JOBS

1,000 Miles of Work Will Require 38,000.

Two thousand men taken from the relief rolls will start this morning on the improvement and resurfacing of 1,000 miles of city streets. The work is financed by a direct grant of $32,543,000 from the Federal Works Progress administration. According to Robert J. Dunham, Illinois administrator of WPA, when the street program reaches its peak it will employ 38,000 men.

Today nineteen gangs will begin grading and leveling unimproved streets in preparation for covering them with a five inch slab of macadam treated with oil and tar. The new surface will be sixteen feet wide.

Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, has submitted specifications to the state procurement division of the United States treasury department for contracting for materials and services to repair asphalt and brick pavements. Officials said they expected these latter phases of the street program to commence in a week or ten days.

Plan 130 Projects Here.

The entire program is divided into 130 projects, of which 70 call for asphalt street repairs, 30 for brick street repairs and 30 for the resurfacing of unimproved streets.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which supervised similar projects under the old "work relief" project setup, will reassign 800 men today and the remainder will be turned over to the WPA by the Illinois state employment service. Most of these men are unskilled.

The city is to furnish skilled men as foremen and supervisors. The city's contribution in men, services, equipment, and materials for the 130 projects is to amount to $5,069,000.

Workmen will report at the following locations:

MOBILE AVENUE at Dickens avenue.
MEADE AVENUE at Sunnyside avenue.
WELLINGTON AVENUE at Kostner avenue.
CENTRAL PARK AVENUE at Bryn Mawr avenue.
GEORGE STREET at Melvina avenue.
WRIGHTWOOD AVENUE at Menard avenue.
MEADE AVENUE at Leland avenue.
33D STREET at Hamilton avenue.
HAMILTON AVENUE at 63d street.
HOYNE AVENUE at 72d street.
LEAVITT STREET at 90th street.
51ST STREET at Cicero avenue.
SEELEY AVENUE at 72d street.
83D STREET at Western avenue.
96TH STREET at Morgan street.

The Illinois WPA office received notice during the day that the treasury had cleared allocations totaling $850,546 in federal funds for 26 projects in 18 counties. The only Cook county allocation was $3,342 for a recreational program in six parks and playgrounds at Niles Center. Niles Center will contribute $50 toward the program.

State Seeks $451,880,000.

Chicago and Illinois have submitted 3,888 projects requesting $451,883,349 in federal funds to Washington officials. Of these totals 71 projects with federal allocations totaling $36,238,000 have cleared through the governmental machinery. The largest allocation is $32,543,000 for the Chicago streets.

A delegation representing Chicago professional, technical and civic organizations reached Washington yesterday to protest against the WPA edict that at least 90 per cent of the employés on each project shall be drawn from the relief rolls and demanding employment on the basis of "qualification and job need." The group will seek an audience with Harry L. Hopkins, national head of WPA.

Boondoggling vs. Frugality.

In a statement given out in Chicago the group declared that its representatives along with those of other cities would "voice the nation-wide discontent with a WPA program which sponsors boondoggling and penalizes frugality and initiative by denying employment to those unemployed who have managed to stay off relief thus far."

The organizations lodging the protest are the following: Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians; Inter-Professional Association for Social Security; Substitute Teachers' union; Artists' equity; Illinois State Teachers' association; Adult Teachers' union, University of Chicago Research union, and the Lawyers' Security league.

In addition to the regulation that 90 per cent of WPA labor must come from the relief rolls, the Washington officials have declared that if sufficient relief labor of the classifications needed is on hand for a project, the employés must be 100 per cent relief clients.

CHARGES STORY OF HOEY DEATH WAS REHERSED

Westchester, Pa., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—The investigation of the death of Evelyn Hoey, which appeared to be moving smoothly toward a verdict of suicide, took a new turn today.

First Assistant District Attorney Raymond D. Reid of Chester county expressed dissatisfaction with the manner in which the inquiry has been conducted and declared all the facts in the case have not been revealed.

The assistant prosecutor also charged that before detectives arrived at the home of Henry H. Rogers III., where Miss Hoey was shot, every one who had been in the house at the time of the shooting had been "well rehersed" in their stories. He pointed out that Rogers' attorney, Joseph Sill Clark of Philadelphia, was there before the police.

Mr. Reid's statement came after Chief County Detective Francis Grubb, originally the strongest opponent of the suicide theory, had announced that he was convinced the blonde singer killed herself.

$38,066 TOTAL IS COLLECTED ON CHARITY TAG DAY

Tag day, held on Monday, Sept. 9, yielded $38,066.75 for distribution among the 52 participating charities, it was announced yesterday. Each agency will receive the amount collected by its individual women workers, less a small amount for the general expenses.

By this system of division the 36 member agencies of the Chicago Associated Charities will receive a total of $26,656.28 and the 16 member agencies of the Chicago Federated Charities will receive $11,410.48, according to Henry W. King, president of the Federated group. Leading the Federated group in collections were the Little Wanderer's day nursery, which will get $1,283 and the Lydia Children's home, which will receive $1,237.

Of the Associated group the Chicago Consumptive Aid society raised the most money and will receive $1,496. More than 5,000 women conducted the charity solicitation on street corners.

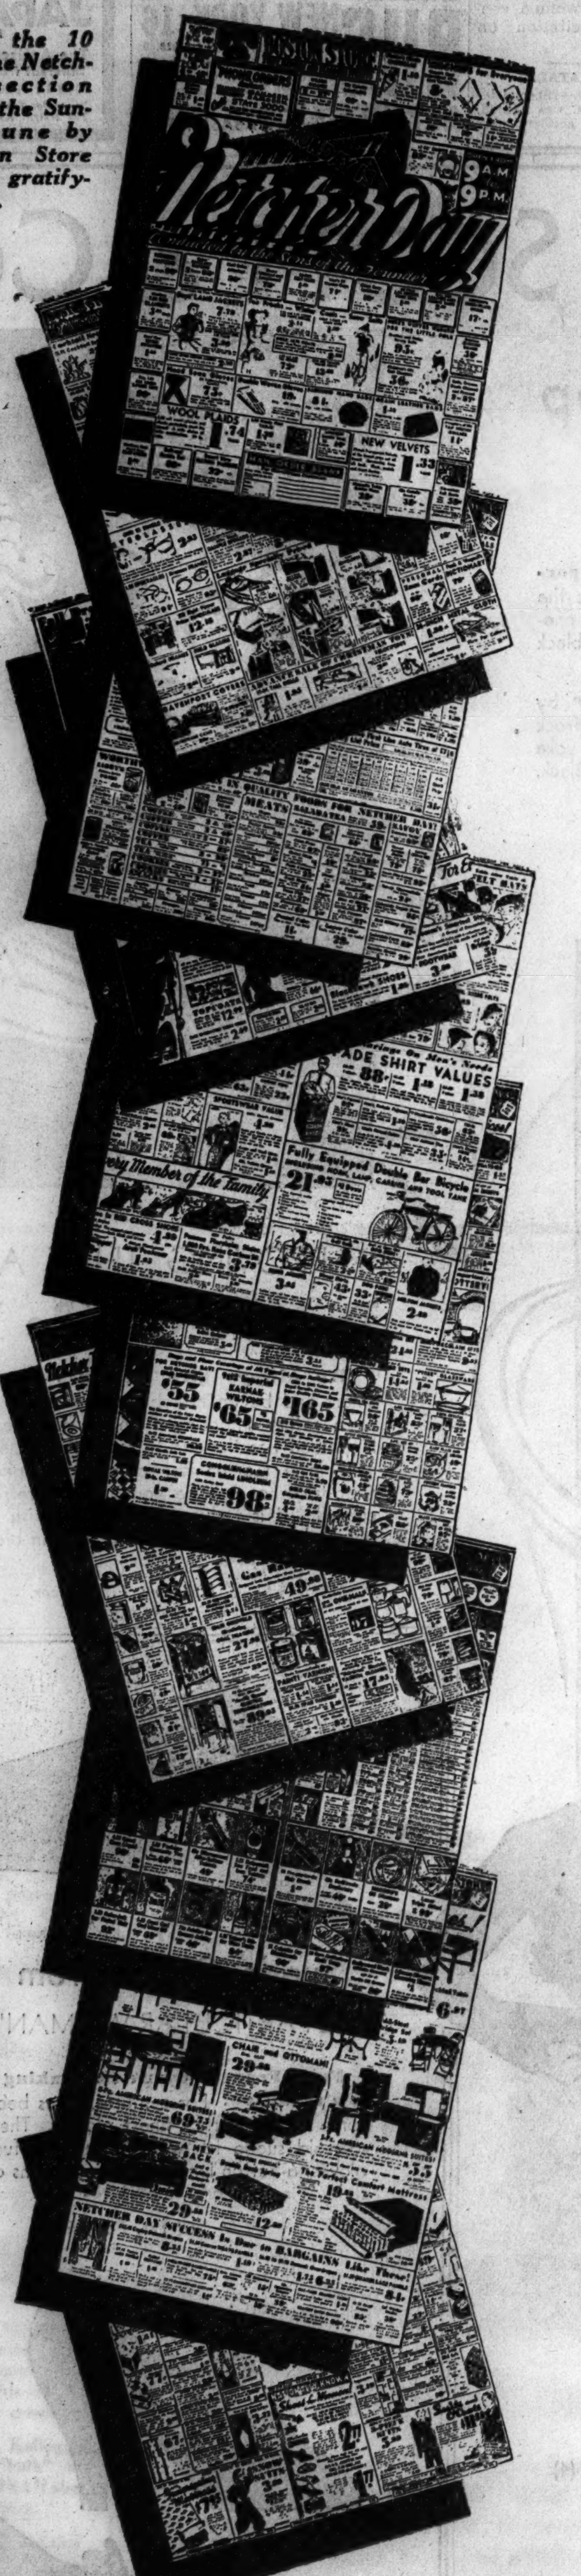
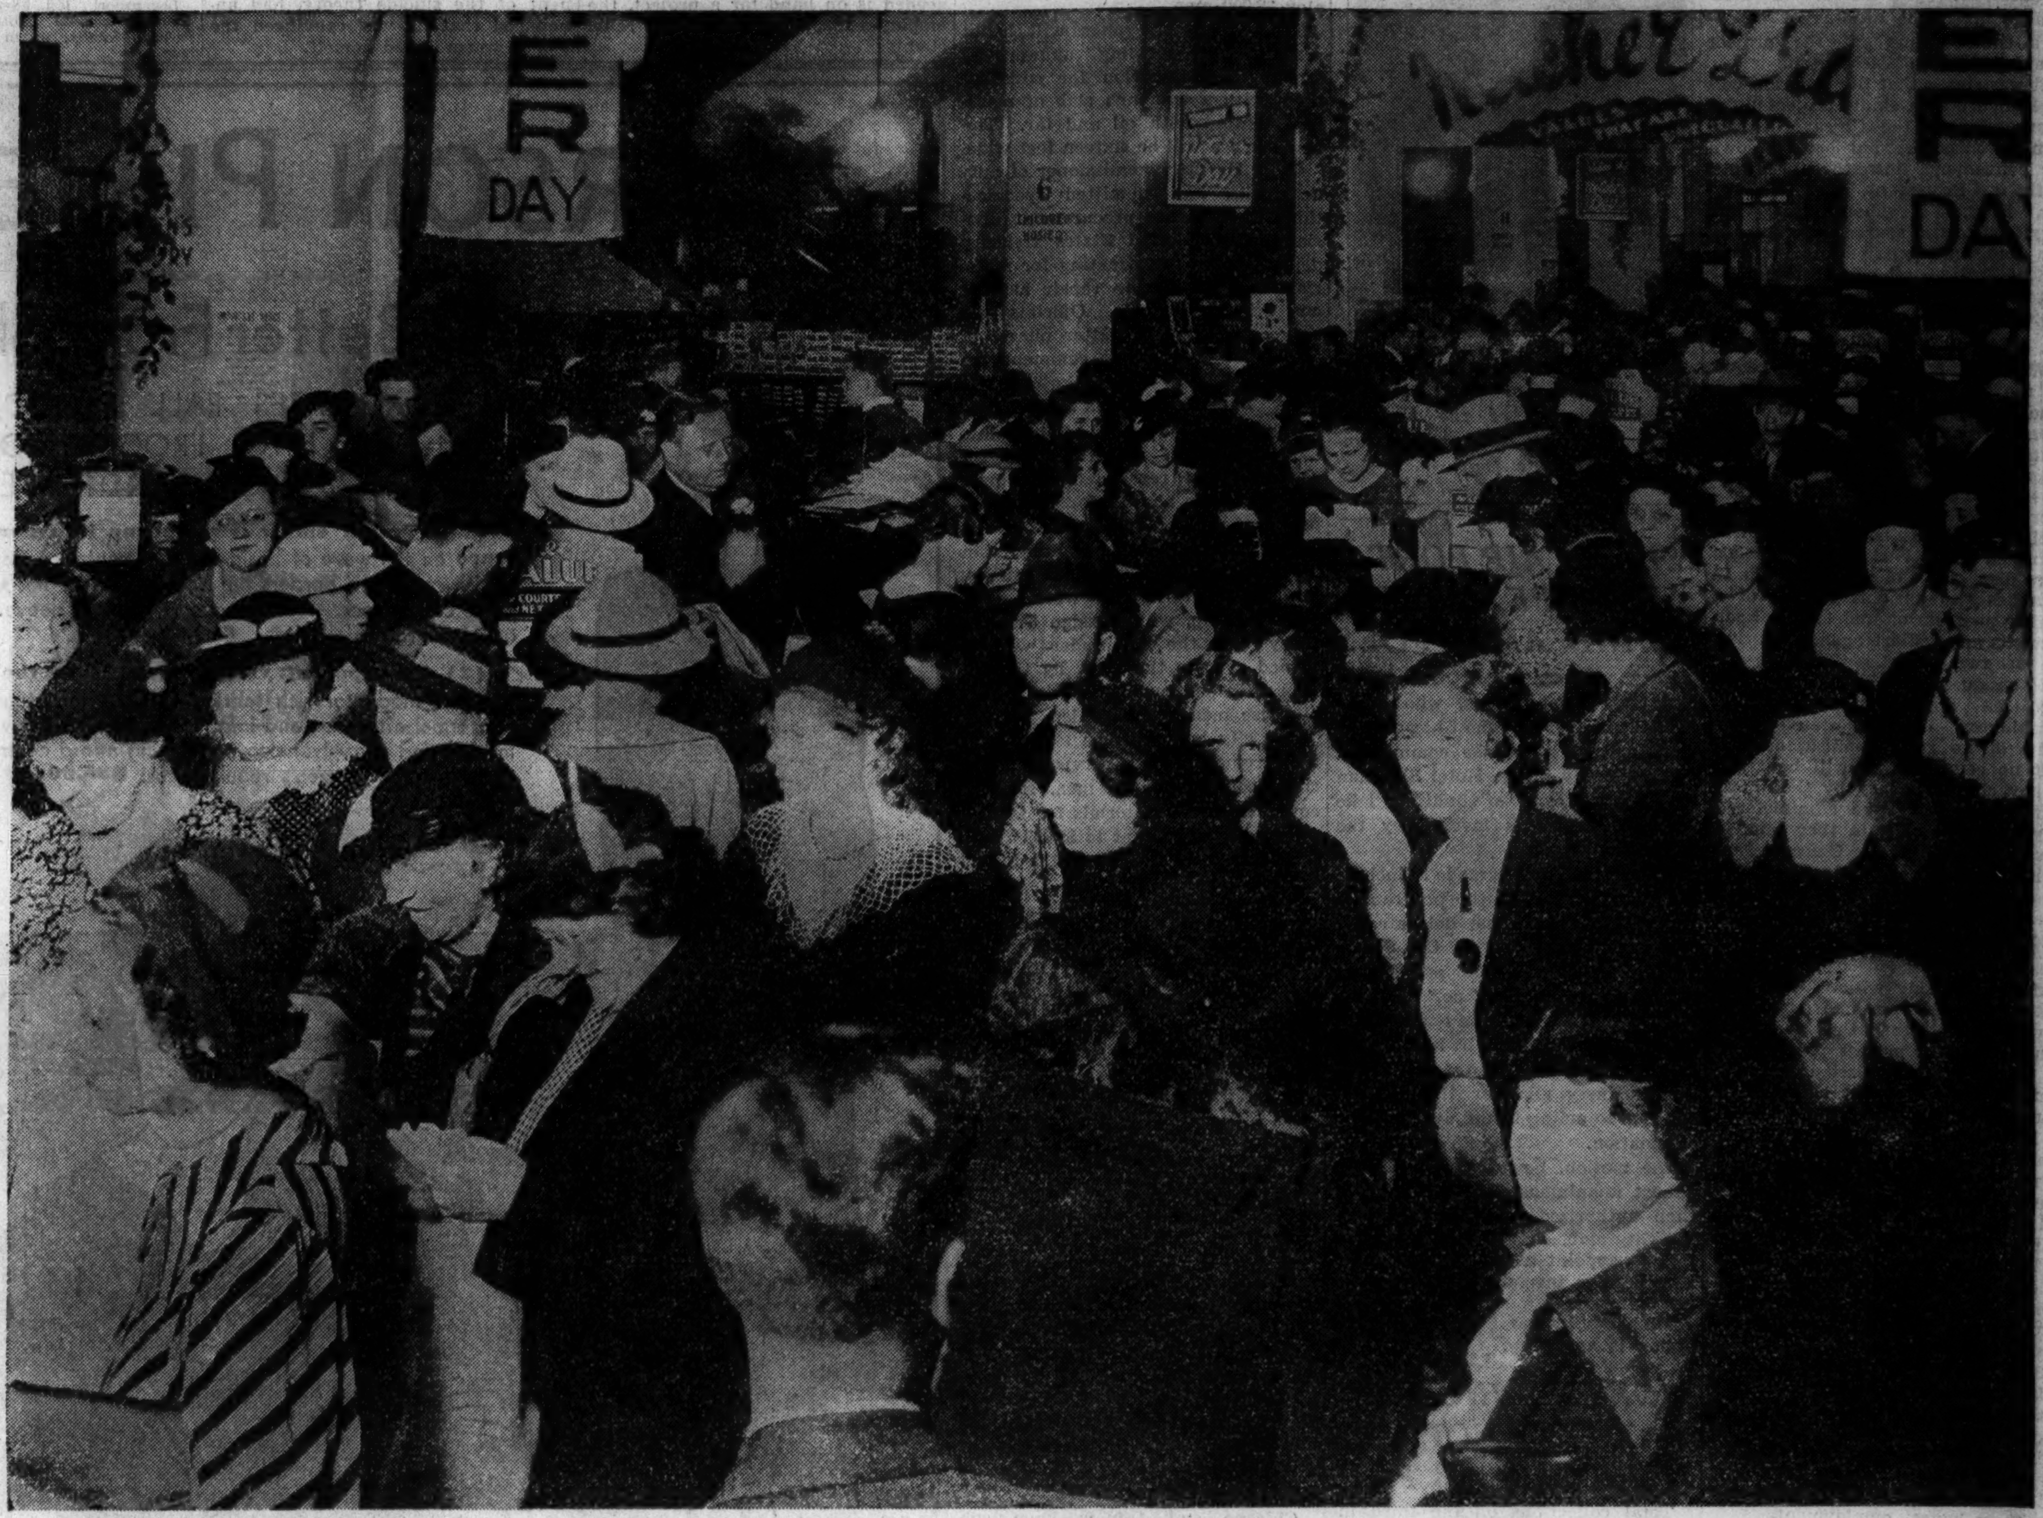
"NETCHER DAY AGAIN PACKED THE BOSTON STORE TO CAPACITY"

HENRY HART
Vice-President and General Manager
THE BOSTON STORE

Here are the 10 pages of the Netcher Day section placed in the Sunday Tribune by the Boston Store with such gratifying results.





TAKEN AT NOON YESTERDAY, the above photograph records only a portion of the remarkable throng of buyers who came to The Boston Store in order to take advantage of the Netcher Day offerings of merchandise advertised in a 10-page section which appeared exclusively in last Sunday's Chicago Tribune.

"OUR 10 PAGE NETCHER DAY SECTION IN THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE PACKED THE BOSTON STORE FROM THE OPENING HOUR THIS MORNING"

LATE yesterday, when Mr. Henry G. Hart, vice-president and general manager of the Boston Store, made the above statement, it was too early to obtain exact sales figures, but estimates from various officials indicated that the largest Netcher Day since 1929 was in the making.

All departments of the Boston Store registered gratifying sales totals. Particularly notable were the records in home furnishings, fancy goods, women's coats and shoes.

Advertising Cost Is Lower

To get the volume of buyers that would assure another outstandingly successful Netcher Day, the Boston Store followed the advertising custom which it has pursued without interruption since October, 1933.

For the ninth consecutive time the Boston Store placed the bulk of its Netcher Day advertising in the Sunday Tribune. Last Sunday's Tribune carried 10 full pages of values carefully selected and priced to attract the men and women of Chicago.

They responded in tremendous numbers. All day long they shopped and bought—a decisive demonstration of the values on display and of the power of advertising in the Sunday Tribune.

Chicago's First Advertising Medium

Yesterday was but the first day of this famous Chicago sales event. Today will give further evidence of the ability of the Sunday Tribune to pull buyers in huge numbers, to sell merchandise of all types in sensational volume.

The Boston Store spent more money for advertising in last Sunday's Tribune than many manufacturers spend in this market in an entire year.

Business is good in Chicago. Sales are here for those who go after them. The Sunday Tribune is the greatest force retail stores and manufacturers can use to sell merchandise in the Chicago territory. It is the most economical. Sunday Tribune advertising rates are among the lowest in the country.

MOTORIZED ARMY RUNS PACES AS NAZI MEET ENDS

Party Ranks Above State, Hitler Announces.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 16.—It was army and navy day at the closing sessions of the Nazi party convention today and War Minister Gen. Werner von Blomberg displayed thousands of new motorized units in action.

Nazi chieftains duly admired the efficiency of the motorized units, but as far as the public was concerned, the old fashioned cavalry charging across fields in time honored fashion stole the show.

Meanwhile, German ships throughout the world today hauled down the old banner of the empire, the symbol of German unity adopted after Bismarck hammered together the German empire. In its place was hoisted the symbol of the third reich, the Nazi swastika. Captains were complying with the orders wirelessed by John Essberger, leader of the guild of German shipping, thus immediately effecting the reichstag's decree yesterday making the swastika the national and trade flag.

Reveal High Power Gun.

Foreign military experts watching today's maneuvers were greatly impressed by a long barreled gun which looked like a miniature "French 75." The new gun has only half inch bore, but thanks to extraordinary velocity its shells can pierce the armor of tanks. It is likewise a quick firing gun.

Six inch guns, howitzers and baby tanks were speeded across fields at 25 miles an hour in a sham battle. Infantry men were rushed to the battle in baby cars on high powered motorcycles. Three different kinds of trucks also were used. The newest was a 20 man truck, running on caterpillar treads strung around seven wheels, which traveled faster than the speediest small cars on the field.

The rattle of machine guns could be distinguished while 108 airplanes swooped all over the field.

Demands Obedience.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler reviewed and addressed 16,000 parading soldiers. In the evening he made a final address to the party convention demanding blind obedience and discipline among members of his party, and absolute obedience of the German people to the party.

"The party is the Fuehrer [leader] and the Fuehrer is the party," he assured his followers. "I do not know when I will close my eyes, but I know the party will live on and the future of Germany will be successful."

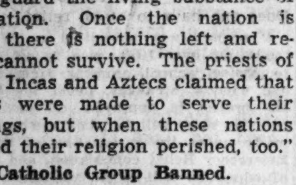
The reichsfuehrer spoke of the "decay of democracy," and announced the supremacy of the Nazi party over state officialdom, saying, "our party must make corrections if the state apparatus does not function in accordance with party principles."

Hitler paid tribute to the Christian religion, describing Christianity as a prime force in uniting the German nation, but he warned priests, "Religion has meaning only if it serves to safeguard the living substance of the nation. Once the nation is ruined there is nothing left and religion cannot survive. The priests of the old Incas and Aztecs claimed that nations were made to serve their teachings, but when these nations perished their religion perished, too."

Catholic Group Banned.

At Muenster today all Catholic Workmen's associations were prohibited and their properties were seized by the G. S. P. [secret police]. They were charged with "treasonable activities" on the strength of letters found on one of their secretaries, Josef Jacob, who was arrested near the Netherlands border a few days ago.

In one of these letters the leader of the Catholic Workmen's association, Msgr. Mueller of Cologne, is alleged to have said that "one cannot negotiate with authorities," which, according to the G. S. P., proves "the hostile attitude of the Catholic Workmen's association toward the state."



A WORD TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, constipation results from insufficient "bulk" in the menu. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

S. S. WASHINGTON RUSHING TO AID OF BRITISH CRAFT

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—The United States liner Washington radioed tonight that she was heading to the assistance of the British steamer Mary Kingsley which had sent out a distress call reporting that most of her crew had been injured when a cargo of 101 locomotives and cargo carried on the deck had broken loose. The Kingsley reported its position as off the Irish coast.

Several salvage tugs have offered assistance, according to the skipper of the stricken vessel, but he stated that he does not want them for towing purposes.

The Mary Kingsley is 4,017 tons and 370 feet long. She was built in 1930 by the Ardossan Dkyd, Ltd., Ardossan.

HUNT DRIFTING CREWLESS SUBMARINE.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Ships in the gale-swept Bristol channel were warned by wireless tonight to watch for a drifting crewless submarine which was lost while being towed by a steamer. The vessel was recently sold by the British navy to be broken up.

JAPAN REVEALS ASSASSIN RING PLOTTED REVOLT

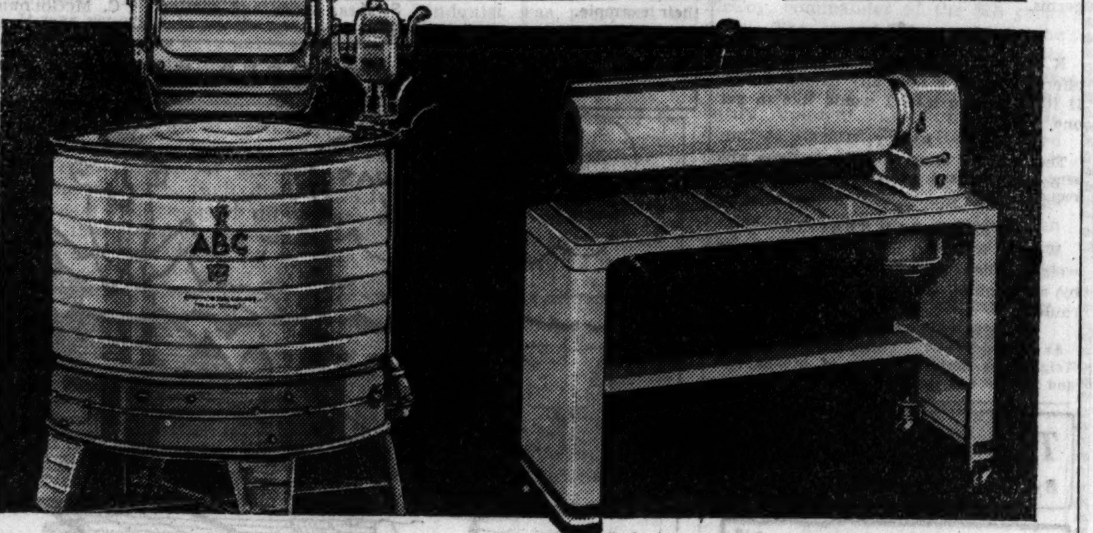
TOKIO, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Workings of an alleged group of terrorists who called themselves the "Shimpeitai"—"soldiers of God"—were disclosed today with the publication of findings in an investigation of a reactionary anti-government plot of the 1932-'33 period.

The group was shown to have plotted violent overthrow of the government, utilizing a campaign of assassinations to effect its purpose. An aerial bombing of the cabinet ministers was to have started the movement the findings showed.

Informed Japanese in New York described the "Shimpeitai" as a group of reactionaries formed about 1932. Its name of "God-Soldiers" does not denote God as the word is generally used in English. The group has no religious motives. Japanese informants said the organization probably had no young army or navy officials, or even veterans.

All you need to launder clothes completely

ABC WASHER and Roll-About IRONER



Now offered on special low terms

● The usual time for ironing and washing is greatly shortened with an ABC washer and Roll-About ironer. The washer is over-size and washes each load of clothes gently and thoroughly. Despite its extra capacity and other outstanding features, it costs no more than washers of the usual sizes.

The Roll-About ironer takes the fatigue out of ironing and does its work in half the time of the old hard way. Flatwork, dresses, shirts, and fancy pieces are all ironed to perfection when you follow a few simple instructions.

You may buy either of these labor savers alone or in combination on special terms. You need both for complete laundering efficiency. See them at any ELECTRIC SHOPS now.

Generous Trade-In Allowance for your old washer depending on age and condition. Phone for appraisal. RANdolph 1200, Local 535.

NAZIS HALT VICAR TEACHING BIBLE CLASS IN HOMES

Town's Church Turned Over to State Pastor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—The German secret police of Frankfurt-on-Oder have ordered Vicar Willy Brandenburg of Seelow, who belongs to the Protestant Confessional church, to cease giving Bible lessons in private homes. Previously the mayor of Seelow had given the vicar permission to hold these lessons provided not more than 20 or 30 persons were in attendance.

The vicar, in a letter to the police and to Hans Kerrl, church minister, protested that no decree exists forbidding Bible lessons in private homes. Only services outside churches are forbidden by order of the state.

The vicar explained that though 90 per cent of the Seelow congregation belongs to the confessional movement, his followers are not allowed to enter the church which has been turned over to the "German Christian" pastor.

Barred from Cemetery.

Nazi officials threatened the vicar with arrest and detention in a concentration camp if he dared appear at the local cemetery to officiate at a funeral and also threatened to arrest relatives of the deceased.

The vicar offered to invite a representative of the police to all Bible readings to enable him to make sure no plot against the state was being hatched, but this was refused.

"Since the gospel says, 'Obey God more than man,' and since I did everything to reach a peaceable agreement I shall despite the prohibition continue to read the Bible and stand by the congregation whose shepherd I have become through the will of God," the vicar told friends.

They fear he will be placed under arrest in the near future despite efforts of church leaders to restore peace in the Protestant camp.

Boost Anti-Jewish Paper.

At Jever in Oldenburg a German Christian pastor, robed as for a church service, directed workmen and spoke blessings when a showcase advertising Julius Streicher's anti-Semitic paper, Der Stuermer, was affixed to the wall of the church.

The church council of St. Thomas church in Berlin has agreed to allow the Nazis to fixe a Stuermer display in a building belonging to the congregation.

Pastors of the Confessional church charge that supporters of racial hatred doctrines are being given the upper hand by the government in the church feud.

SEES NORTHERN AIR ROUTE TO EUROPE AN EARLY POSSIBILITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—After nearly a month of flying along the western coast of Hudson Bay and inland over the barren lands of northern Canada, Jack Moar, director in charge of trafic of Wings, Limited, has returned to Winnipeg more confident than ever that what is known as the northern route to Europe is feasible and logical and will be one of the British Empire's scheduled airlines of the near future.

In carrying out an air freighting contract for the Hudson's Bay company, supplying their scattered trading posts with winter stores, Moar covered a large part of the territory over which the northern air line from Canada and United States to Europe would pass and encountered conditions which would be met on such a line.

Moar and other official airmen have for more than a year been making a study of the possibilities of the northern route and have come to the conclusion that with the proper equipment and ground organization, the route can be operated efficiently and profitably.

CUMMINGS RUNS AFOUL OF FRENCH CUSTOMS LAWS

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Homer S. Cummings, United States attorney general, who arrived in Paris today, was mistaken for an ordinary American tourist by a minor French customs official.

Coming from London with a diplomatic passport, which entitled him to have his baggage rushed through customs without examination, the attorney general sent his chauffeur with his keys and papers to get his luggage from the Gare du Nord. The official waved the diplomatic passport aside without looking at it and insisted on having the baggage opened. The first thing he saw was two boxes of American cigars, and undeclared tobacco is to a French customs official what a red flag is to a bull. The chauffeur realized something drastic had to be done. He telephoned to the manager of Cummings' hotel, and he reached a high official in the customs service, who descended wrathfully on his underling.

Cummings heard about the incident after it was all over and was able to see its amusing side, so that, diplomatically speaking, the incident can be considered closed. He is in Paris to study French police methods.

CHURCH SUES TO STOP BURIAL OF PAUPERS NEARBY

Famous as Battleground of Revolution.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The ground around Eastchester's fashionable St. Paul's Episcopal church, hallowed by the blood of American patriots of 1776, is so crammed with the bodies of paupers that it constitutes a menace to public health, it was charged today in a suit brought by the church.

Declaring that 3,370 persons have been buried in the public plot adjacent to the church since 1892, the church petitioned Supreme Court Justice Raymond E. Aldrich for a temporary injunction restraining the city of Mount Vernon from burying any more persons in the field, the municipality's official potter's field.

Roosevelt's Mother Trustee.

Bern Budd, attorney for the church, of which Mrs. James Roosevelt, the President's mother, is a trustee, declared in court that the situation was "disgusting, dangerous, and against the interests of public decency."

He charged that in recent burials gravediggers had to dig out and redistribute skeletons to make room in the same graves for the new burials.

Against the church's claim that the field is large enough to hold no more than 1,700 bodies, Corporation Counsel Frank Bennett said that the city's records showed that but 392 persons were buried in the field since 1905, and that there is ample room for more.

Orders Test Digging.

Justice Aldrich withheld decision for a week and ordered both litigants to go to the potter's field Saturday noon and have "test holes" dug.

If more than half of the holes, to be dug at random, reveal skeletons, he said, he would issue the injunction. Otherwise, he said, he would not.

The age and history of the unpretentious church have made its congregation one of the most distinguished in the fashionable section of Westchester county, in which it is situated.

Many Hessian Skeletons.

Founded in 1665, the original frame building was replaced by the present edifice in 1760. It was used as a hospital after the battle of Pell's Point in October, 1776, and many of the skeletons in the graveyard are those of Hessian mercenaries.

The village green in front of the church was the scene of the 1733 election which resulted in the trial of Peter Zanger, publisher, and the establishment of the principle of freedom of the press in America.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

THE CONSTITUTION.

On Sept. 17, 1787, the constitution of the United States of America was signed in the city of Philadelphia, then the capital of the young nation.

Today after 148 years of application and evolution it is subjected to the gravest attack in its history, not excepting that of the war between the states. Criticism and efforts to alter it in important respects it has encountered since its adoption, but never before has it faced a government and a political régime, endowed with power and office, confessedly bent upon its revolutionary transformation; in a word, its destruction.

The constitution was not thought to be, even by its authors, a perfect and final document. It had been framed after months of consideration and debate by one of the most remarkable groups of creative statesmen ever gathered at one time and one place. They were men of diverse theories, abilities and character, but all were men of seasoned experience in affairs, both private and public, and mature reflection upon the nature and problems of government and of social order. Nevertheless they did not conceive their handiwork to be perfect or final, but on the contrary provided for its correction by a process of deliberate amendment safeguarded as well as they could contrive against the dangers of hasty judgment and precipitate action. The constitution has, therefore, never been the rigid and unchangeable instrument which its radical opponents would have the American people believe. Ten amendments were adopted soon after its original adoption and eleven more have been added since.

But the authors of the constitution believed, as during nearly a century and a half of experience the American people have believed, that the constitution preserved to them and their posterity a frame of government and principles which are of permanent validity and essential to their welfare. It is only now under the self styled New Deal that these are not merely challenged but are in process of subversion.

The constitution has two aspects. It is a framework of government. It is also a declaration and embodiment of principles. Together they constitute the American form of government which the proponents of the New Deal invite us to believe is outmoded and inadequate to meet modern conditions, if not an essential failure.

As a framework of government for the American Union an essential principle is balance between the central or federal authority and that of the states. To insure this explicitly it is declared in the constitution that "the powers not delegated to the United States [that is, to the federal government] by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people." This and the other ten amendments, adopted virtually at the same time as the original document, were added to it, as the Supreme court once prophetically said, for "fear that the national government might, under the pressure of a supposed general welfare, attempt to exercise powers which had not been granted."

The Americans of that period had had enough of long distance rule and agreed with Thomas Jefferson that "it is not by the consolidation or concentration of powers, but their distribution, that government is effected." "Were not," he declared, "this great country already divided into states, that division must be made, that each might do for itself directly and what it can so much better do than a distant authority. Were we directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap, we should soon want bread."

It ought not to be necessary after a century and a half of the benefits of this principle. We know or ought to know that the protection of our right to enjoy our own customs and to rule our own local affairs has been the chief support of our liberties as free men, the creation of a spontaneous unity in diversity which is far stronger than any imposed by any central rule.

Yet for a generation there has been a gradual increase of the activities of the central government, "under pressure of a supposed general welfare," until with the arrival of the New Deal every restraint was cast aside. Laws hastily drawn and enacted by a subservient congress at the will of the executive regardless of the limits upon central authority and of the responsibilities of the states have concentrated power at Washington and through the reckless use of enormous sums of federal money have purchased up the independence of many states and imposed a far-reaching burocratic domination over their affairs. This in defiance of the warning of the very statesmen upon whose philosophy the party responsibility for it has appealed to the people since its founding. For it was Jefferson who said: "When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all powers, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which it separated. If the states look with apathy on this silent descent of their government into the gulf which is to swallow all, we have only to weep over the humane character found uncontrollable but by a rod of iron, and the blasphemers as incapable of self-government become his true historians."

This disaster to the American people and to the cause of ordered liberty the constitution was framed to prevent. But we have now as a consequence of temporary economic affliction a régime which has announced its purpose to accomplish a "peaceful revolution" of our constitutional system and is engaged in substituting for it as swiftly as practicable a system of centralized power supported and to be applied by an enormous army of burocrats authorized to impose their theories and projects upon the diverse communities of this great nation, upon all the private enterprise which has created the amazing progress and prosperity of the American people, and upon the liberty of the individual which is the fundamental concern of our constitutional limitations upon political power. A great army of jobholders, operating through new bureaus and provided with funds through unprecedented taxation imposed under the excuse of emergency or the high flown pretense of redistribution of wealth, has already been created and is steadily growing. For its support and for the retention of office the greatest public debt in the nation's history, not excepting war times, has been fixed upon the shoulders of the people. Private enterprise, compelled to operate under new and complicated regulations, faces competition of new formed government enterprises supported by the taxation of the people.

This is the planned society which is offered the American people to take the place of the system established under the constitution. We are told by its authors that it will establish social justice and abolish the waste ascribed by socialist theory to competition among free men. It has created new injustices imposed upon the thrifty, the self-disciplined, the foresighted body of citizens of small means or great, the body upon which the peace and prosperity of all the nation depends. It has piled up and is piling up a burden of debt which all the people must carry and is wasting the money of the people in reckless expenditure on a scale and at a rate which in due time will exhaust even the resources of this great nation and bring all its people to an equality of poverty.

This threatened disaster is inherent and unescapable in the doctrins and activities of the New Deal. No pretense of noble motive should conceal this truth from our people. The means to avoid it is in our keeping. It is in the reëstablishment of the limitations upon political power declared in the constitution. It is in the restoration in government and among our people of loyalty to the constitution.

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION.

Superintendent Bogan has opened the way for a greatly needed reconstruction of educational procedure in the high schools. It is long overdue. With his frank criticism of the present curriculum as cluttered up with nonessentials, which waste time and energy of both the pupils and the teaching staf, sensible people will heartily agree. As Mr. Bogan points out, the curriculum has been too much affected by the requirements of preparation for college, and while he proposes to retain them for students who expect to go on to college he insists properly that the eighty or more per cent of students who are not going to college shall not be required to do work which ill serves their needs or prospects.

Adaptation to individual capacity is a difficult problem, but more effort should be made to accomplish it. We think a great deal of waste of time and spirit is to be found in education not only in the high schools but in the colleges through lack of this adaptation. Parents who make great sacrifices to keep their children in school have a right to resent this waste, and educational progress unquestionably lies in the direction of better adjustment of a student's work to his capabilities. American communities have a commendable wish to give every girl and boy all the possibilities and privileges our educational means permit, but this does not or should not assume that all students have the same capacity for learning or the same kinds of capacities.

The reconstruction Mr. Bogan proposes will be a difficult problem, but it can be accomplished in a measure which will be richly profitable to the schools and the students if it is carefully considered. The plan for an expert preliminary study of six months, including experimentation, is desirable and indeed essential to the accomplishment of sound reforms. Mr. Bogan, we think, has started something of far-reaching possibilities and we wish his project well.

SHIFTING A CITY'S TRAFIC.

[Illinois State Journal.]

Proposals for a Bloomington highway belt line to relieve trafic congestion in that city and in Normal have developed a controversy which well illustrates the difficulties with which highway routing authorities are beset. The problems presented by the McLean county situation are paralleled in thousands of communities.

That it is necessary to shift through trafic from the business section no one questions. Opposition to the change comes from business interests, which are dependent upon this trafic and which have made heavy investments in order to serve the customers they supply.

When the routing is shifted, numerous long established filling stations, restaurants, and garages will find themselves without enough business to warant operation. They must change location or lose a large proportion of their custom. Even if they shift to the new route they have no assurance that they can successfully compete with those already in that field. In any event the change will cost them money.

During the early routing of paved roads, cities insisted that through routes traverse the business districts. No one then visioned the enormous increase in motor trafic which has since developed. There was plenty of parking space everywhere, and it was inconceivable that the automobile would ever make even so much trouble as the hitching rack of an earlier generation. The most optimistic car enthusiast had not dreamed of the "bottle neck" and trafic congestion in every town.

To bring the trafic past the business houses was long regarded as the duty of every chamber of commerce and business association. In numerous instances local struggles to that end held up the completion of highways and left the early roads with annoying breaks of mud and dust. Today the business organizations are belabored with demands that they get rid of the trafic they were once urged to promote.

EVERYTHING is being canned these days, even beer. Which started me to thinking until I fell asleep and dreamed that I was lost in the middle of a great desert with the sun beating straight down on the burning sands; no oasis in sight, no help anywhere, no water for hundreds of miles. I reached for my six cans of beer I carried, but found I had forgotten to bring a can opener. With an awful blood curdling shriek I fell out of bed and woke up.

AND THIS DAY is Constitution day. The framers of that immortal document looking at us from the other side of the Great Beyond may wonder why it took us so long before we discovered it, but John Hancock or Charles Carroll of Carrollton or some of the other singers will probably express the feelings of all the others by sagely remarking, "Well, better late than never."

I built my house according to Feng Shu;
Chose trees of juniper and golden larch,
A tree of maidenhair
To root beside the flowering courtyard wall.

But still you do not cross
To see the curved pagoda arch
Repeated in the lake . . .
The shelf of many jars reflected in the stream.
Because of this I am a stone
Set in an unnamed wall.

When shall you cross?

Azalia hungry for magenta bloom.

The sneering camel of the salt merchant has passed.
A head-bowed man appears.
He mourns his parents with bamboo
And mulberry.

How shall one mourn for love?

Perfume distilled at dusk?
Plum petal snow falls on my lacquered sill;
Shall I hold converse with antiquity
When modern language is of no avail?
When shall Confucius speak?

Deep silence holds forth in the Hall of Prayer.
You have not crossed.
The grass upon the unused bridge
Awaits embroidery of your tiny shoe.
Once more I draw the door
For cages of the butterfly.

How then shall I escape?

A CLEAN MOUTH IS NOT STERILE.

MOST of us live all our lives with bacteria of various sorts within the mouth and planted on the mucous membranes of the nose and throat. That there is probably no such thing as a mouth entirely free from germs is the conclusion of an English investigator who made an unsuccessful search for one.

Some years ago an attempt was made to feed newborn animals on perfectly sterile food, with the entire environment free from bacteria. The result was retarded growth which could be attributed to but one factor, namely, the lack of bacteria in the intestinal tract. So perhaps a mouth without some bacteria would be a peculiar place. The taste would probably be strange and food might even be unpalatable. Many foods derive their flavors from bacteria and their products, for example, several varieties of cheese.

Mouth organisms live on food particles that cling to the tongue and lodge in the spaces between the teeth. There is no bacterial filter provided for the mouth other than the mucous membrane. This is in sharp contrast to the nasal air passages, where hairs and many folds of mucous lining form a stopping place for bacteria that otherwise would enter the lungs with the inspired air.

Few articles of food are sterile and the types of germs that we harbor daily within the mouth cavity probably number a hundred or more. Many of them, however, live for but a short time. One investigator rinsed his mouth with a solution containing millions of lactic acid bacilli and was unable to find more than a scant trace of them the next morning. It would appear, then, that the mouth contains numerous sorts of bacteria, to which it is accustomed, but rejects foreign invaders as soon as possible. The recent tests of Arnold and Stewart showed that bacteria have only a brief existence on many body surfaces; for example, those found on the normal mucous membrane of the nose disappear within a relatively short time. The skin, too, was found to possess the same power, namely, of ridding itself of unwanted bacteria.

In attempting to discover a practical method of sterilizing mouth thermometers Arnold and Stewart noted that bacteria on thermometers removed from the mouth occurred in profusion where the slender glass tube came in contact with the lips. Pushing their investigation further they found disease producing germs at the corners of the mouth, the midline of the lips, and the tip of the tongue. The most luxuriant growths were obtained from the regions where the upper and lower lips lie in contact, the sides and base of the tongue, and the mucous membrane of the cheeks.

They conclude that there are two general types of bacteria within the mouth cavity: those that exist there most of the time and others that are present temporarily when taken in with food, water, or other articles that touch the lips or enter the mouth. They found that it takes only two or three minutes for organisms that are not normally in the mouth—many of them disease producing—to pass from the lips to the base of the tongue and the back of the throat.

It has been shown that while saliva does not assist the growth of bacteria, neither does it have antiseptic properties. It functions nevertheless as a flushing agent and thus aids in their mechanical removal.

As with the mucous membrane of the nose, that of the mouth possesses sterilizing power. The cheeks and the area beneath the tongue are efficient bacteria killing surfaces, but the gums, the tongue itself, and the palate have little or no ability in this direction.

We may conclude, then, that the lips are the seeding grounds and that organisms are carried into the mouth by the licking action of the tongue. All of which emphasizes the value of good mouth hygiene, and particularly the thorough cleansing of eating utensils, drinking glasses, etc. It is useless to attempt to sterilize the mouth, however.

Now let some one devise a lipstick that is not only sterile but sure death to germs.

LOSING ONE'S HAIR DOES NOT AFFECT ONE'S HEALTH

The idea that losing one's hair will cause loss of strength and health probably goes back to the story of Samson and Delilah. Scientists say that, as far as modern man is concerned, there is not the slightest connection between one's hair and one's strength or health. Many of the healthiest people have little hair and many sick ones have abundant hair. There are some sicknesses which will cause a person's hair to fall out, but the loss does not make the person any sicker. Hair does not influence either health or disease, medical men say.

FOR BETTER LAWYERS.

Galena, Ill., Sept. 12.—To the insistent demands of the bar, the press and the public that the legal profession be purged of its incompetent and unworthy members, and that higher standards of morals and service be adopted, I have two suggestions to make.

1. Enact into a statute the Bar association code of ethics, promulgated many years ago, attaching penalties to the violation of its provisions and conferring jurisdiction on the criminal courts to enforce them.

2. Enact a law requiring all practicing lawyers to pass a rigid examination as to their honesty during the past ten years, and as to their competency to continue the practice of law. Strike from the roll all who fail to pass and every ten years hold such an examination.

SAILORS ON THE STAGE.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Every so often I see actors on the stage impersonating a sailor, and always they make him appear as a drunk. I think it's a dirty, rotten thing to do. I was a sailor both in the United States navy and in the merchant marine, and only a very few did I ever see drunk on the streets. Don't these half-baked actors know that only the highest caliber of men is selected for the United States navy? Let some of these so-called actors investigate and mingle with sailors for a short time and I'm sure they'll change their minds.

EX-SAILOR.

MEANEST WOMAN.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—I would like to warn women shoppers to watch out for a large blonde woman who speaks to you very sweetly and then walks away with your pocketbook. My mother had this experience the other day in the basement infant wear department of one of our largest store. If this woman only knew the heartache she has caused me, as the $14 she took was to purchase my 15 months old daughter a snow suit, winter underwear, and winter dresses. My husband has been unemployed for three years.

UNFORTUNATE.

PARAPHRASING PATRICK HENRY.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 12.—Cæsar had his Brutus, Charles I. his Cromwell, Huey Long his Weiss, and various ambitious politicians in this country may profit by their example. S. K.

THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Doesn't everybody know that all street cars and buses outbound from the loop at 5 p. m. are now filled with standees? Likewise the "L"? The streets full of street cars, buses, trucks, and passenger cars? And then some one has the bright idea to split the "L" trafic between street cars and buses, as if there is not enough street trafic now.

I work in the loop and don't like noise and dirt any better than anybody else. I use none of these methods of transportation regularly, nor do I own any of their securities. But the "L" cannot be done away with and improvement result without having something to replace it and a place to put it. It looks to me as if there is just one other method of transportation left—underground.

HOME OWNER.

ANOTHER PLOW-UNDER?

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Several days ago I read in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that Mayor Kelly had a conference with President Roosevelt in Washington. Yesterday, after Mayor Kelly had returned to Chicago, I read that he had made the ridiculous statement that the "L" structure around the loop should be torn down.

Can it be possible that our mayor has been smitten by the idea of destroying wealth now so prevalent in Washington?

D. V. H.

THE LOOP.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—In your TRIBUNE today I read where Mr. Kelly says "he would like to remove the "L" out of loop. That leaves oop and oop to you, Mr. Kelly. Some one had better knock the L out of Kelly.

MRS. GEORGE W. SANDERS.

WOMEN IN SALOONS.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—I was born and raised on a farm, and am visiting Chicago for the first time in ten years. I found many changes. Some impressed me, and I was disgusted with others, especially the tendency of women to smoke and cadge drinks from male patrons in the taverns. Years ago women of the lowest type were allowed in the worst type of saloons, but they were confined to a back room. Get the females out of the saloons by Christmas, so men can drink a glass of beer in decency and comfort. C. MCGOLDRICK.

AMATEUR MUSICIANS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—I wonder why the amateur radio programs in Chicago do not allow amateurs to play musical instruments. Our present amateur programs originating in Chicago have practically nothing but singers who in many cases [not all, mind you] are sickening to the listening public. It is understood and only fair that the amateur become a member of the musicians' union after he becomes successful. The musicians' union [the tyrant in this case] has certainly succeeded in preventing our Chicago amateurs from achieving fame and fortune.

JOBS FROM SCHOOL BOARD.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—I have heard that the school board will employ, or is employing, men to act as guards to protect school property. What should I do to get such a job? Does one have to be on relief? A. N.

A project was submitted to Washington requesting over 1,600 men to act as guards to protect school property from vandalism and window breakage, under the WPA. If the project is approved, all men assigned for this duty will be clients who were formerly under the jurisdiction of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, and the board of education will in no way have anything to do with the hiring of the men direct.

JOHN HOWATT,
Chief Engineer, Board of Education.

HAS DOWER INTEREST.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died ten years ago. Home was in joint tenancy and went to mother. Mother has since remarried. 1. Can she sell this home without consent of her present husband? 2. Is his signature necessary? C. B.

1. No, in the sense that without his signature the sale would be subject to his dower.

AUDIT OF EIGHT COUNTY OFFICES BARES 'MUDDLE'

New Accounting System Declared Vital.

After receiving the results of a test audit eight Cook county offices yesterday the special audit and survey commission, appointed by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, following the $414,129 Sweitzer shortage scandal, recommended that the board institute a unified, coördinating system of auditing and accounting for all county offices.

The decision was based on the discovery of muddled methods of accounting in some of the offices examined and the oft-repeated assertion of the accounting firm, R. L. Pearce & Co., 20 West Jackson boulevard, that records of interest earnings of former incumbents were missing.

More Audits Under Way.

The eight offices included in the reports were those of the circuit and probate clerks, coroner, county superintendent of schools, the Juvenile court, county bureau of public welfare, the county liquor control commission, and the adult probation office. On Oct. 27 reports are to be made on similar test audits for the offices of state's attorney, clerk of the Superior court, recorder, sherif and Criminal court clerk.

Walter L. Gregory, president of the State Street council, is chairman of the commission and the other members are Col. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the Chicago plan commission; John O. Rees, director of the citizens' committee on public expenditures; W. J. Pitts, general auditor of Sears Roebuck & Co.; County Auditor Lee Howard, and County Commissioners William Busse, H. Wallace Caldwell, and Peter M. Kelly.

Report on Coroner's Office.

To this body, the Pearce company reported that it "had made a survey of the accounting procedure and records and a limited examination of the accounts" of the eight offices.

On the office of Coroner Frank J. Walsh the following recommendations are made by the auditing firm:

"The practice of making payments from the fee funds for various expenses and equipment should be discontinued. The accounting records are in the main, adequate to fulfill the requirements of the office; however, the method of accounting for the estate trust funds should be improved to enable a monthly report of the open estates and a reconciliation with the funds on deposit.

"[These funds include money and personal effects taken from the bodies of deceased persons by police and turned over to the coroner for delivery to the rightful heirs.] We suggest that an inventory of the open estates be compiled, the liability shown thereby determined and compared with the cash on hand in the estate fund as the starting basis for a monthly reconciliation of this fund."

Interest Records Muddled.

On the office of Mitchell C. Robin, probate clerk, the report said:

"We were unable to ascertain the amount of interest earned and the disposition thereof prior to Dec. 5, 1926; however, in the county comptroller's annual report for 1926, receipt of $3,380 is recorded as interest received from John F. Devine, probate clerk. With regard to the accounts receivable for uncollected fees, the records maintained in this office are designed to provide a control on each of the 400 odd ledgers; however, these controls have not been compiled in the past.

"In view of the amount outstanding, which is in excess of $1,500,000, we believe that the routine should be extended to cover a proof of the controlling account. While we recognize that this procedure would involve considerable additional work, we do not see how the transactions of the offce can be satisfactorily audited unless the correctness of this figure is established."

Urges Thorough Investigation.

Reporting on the mother's pension division of the bureau of public welfare the auditing firm said: "The personnel in this office seems to be efficient and well versed in their respective duties. However, in view of the large amount of money disbursed for this relief, it is our opinion that a thorough investigation be made of the data and supporting files and records on the individual cases comprising the semi-monthly pension rolls as assurance that the money disbursed is reaching the proper parties, in addition to the moral effect on the employés in charge of this work."

On the office of Circuit Court Clerk John E. Conroy the report said:

"We examined the records relative to fees collected and remitted to the county treasurer for the period from Dec. 1, 1924, to June 30, 1935. The records were found to be complete for the period from Dec. 5, 1932, the date of induction of the incumbent, Mr. Conroy, to date. Bank records, canceled checks and receipted collection warants prior to Dec. 5, 1932, were not available.

Urge Quiz on Interest.

"We suggest that the matter of interest earnings on both the trust and fee funds prior to Dec. 5, 1932, be investigated.

"Otherwise we found the records and routine relative to accounting for fees collected to be complete and accurate, with a good system of internal check. The facilities of the office for filing valuable documents and negotiable instruments ordered deposited in trust with the clerk appear to be inadequate.

"The vault is not steel lined and the safe is small, with an old fashioned lock. We suggest that the clerk be authorized to use a safe deposit vault for the safekeeping of such valuable and negotiable securities."

Report on School Office.

On the county superintendent of schools the report said:

"We advise installation of improved accounting records and routine, as well as a semi-annual examination of the accounts of the county superintendent and township treasurers. It was reported to us that the state aid fund accounts have not been subjected to an examination by the county auditor. It is our opinion that a detailed examination of the transactions in this fund prior to April 24, 1933, should be made in order to ascertain the disposition of interest earned on moneys in the fund, if any, the promptness and propriety of remittance to the township treasurers, whether all moneys remitted by the state have been accounted for, and whether fines due this fund have been remitted to it and accounted for."

The audit reported on the adult probation office, as follows:

"Over the period of the last 20 years there has accumulated the sum of $5,552.45 in inactive restitution accounts as of June 30, 1935. This money has not been remitted to the plaintifs, due, we are informed to unknown and incorrect addresses, incomplete or missing files. We are also informed that in prior years no great effort was made to locate plaintifs who had moved. At present however, all availalble information is referred to an officer for investigation.

Propose Transfer to Treasurer.

"We suggest that the funds on deposit covering inactive restitution accounts over seven years old be transferred to the county treasurer and in each succeeding year a transfer should be made of the inactive funds reaching that age. An audit of the accounts of this office should, in our opinion, be made at least once a year to insure the proper accounting of all the funds handled."

On the liquor control commission, the audit reported:

"The records were found to be generally sufficient for the volume of transactions involved. An elaboration of the present accounting records could be made toward enabling ready verification of the detail transactions."

Commenting on a bank account the Juvenile court maintains for its restitution account of minors, trust funds of minors, miscellaneous charitable donations and petty cash, the auditing firm said: "The records in use covering this fund are designed to provide a distribution between the trust funds and other funds.

Assails Neglect in Accounting.

"The accounting involved, however, has been neglected, with the result that the amounts on deposit applicable to the various funds cannot be determined without a detail analysis of all the past transactions. No bank reconciliation has been made since January, 1928, the date the present system of accounts was started. The cash receipts and disbursement records, which consist of duplicate receipts and checks, have never been totaled.

"It was reported to us that the accounts of this office have not been subjected to an examination by the county auditor."

The auditing firm said that a comprehensive system, such as the audit and survey commission recommends, could not be installed within one and one-half or two years.

PICK JURY TO TRY 2 UNION AGENTS IN SLUGGING CASE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Carl H. Ness, robbery with a revolver, sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal act by Judge Joseph B. David.

A jury was selected before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in the Criminal court yesterday to hear the case against Fred Bohlman and Larry Monahan, business agents for the Excavating, Grading and Asphalt Teamsters' union, who are on trial on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. They are accused of attacking Peter Javaras, 1145 North Harlem avenue, Oak Park, on June 11 for failure to join a florists' drivers' union. Javaras operates a flower shop in Oak Park. Testimony will start this morning and the case may go to the jury today.

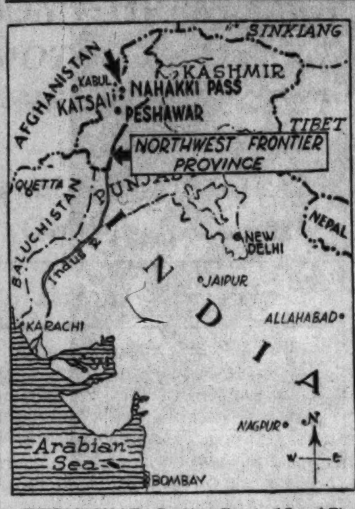
Troops Mop Up Tribes



PESHAWAR, India, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Thirty thousand Indian and British troops, who have been clearing the territory north of here of rebellious tribesmen, began their final major movement toward Mahakki pass today. The troops split into two columns, with advance units making their headquarters at Katsai, a short distance south of the pass.

The governor of the Northwest Frontier province, Sir Ralph Griffith, took a step contrary to ordinary military custom by warning the tribes in advance of the troops' objectives, asserting the area would be mopped up whether there was any resistance or not.

The trouble cropped up several weeks ago when groups of rebellious natives began damaging the Gandab road which runs north through barren hills to the pass. Reinforcements were required before the trouble was put down.

Tribes farther north persisted in the outbreaks, and the troops were ordered to advance in a formal campaign. Brig. Gen. C. J. Auchinleck, in command of the troops, referred to the progress of the brigade as far as Katsai as a "splendid achievement" in the face of long range firing by tribes on the troops, who were not hit.

LINDQUIST'S TRIAL IN SWINDLE CASE SET FOR SEPT. 30

The trial of Gustaf Lindquist, 60 years old, former Minnesota insurance commissioner, who is accused of conspiracy to embezzle $25,000 from the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill., was set for Sept. 30 by Judge Joseph Burke in Criminal court yesterday.

The conspiracy case was an outgrowth of the confession of Otto Van Derck, young clerk in the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard, who admitted assisting in the theft of $55,000 from the bank. A ring of conspirators sought to use this money to take over the insurance company with intent to loot it of $13,000,000 in assets. Lindquist was president of the insurance company at the time of the plot.

Dave [Long Count] Barry, boxing referee, was sentenced to a year in the county jail for his part in the bank theft. Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul attorney, was sentenced to one to five years in prison, and he also faces trial on the charge of conspiracy to loot the insurance company. Joseph Baiata, another member of the ring, is serving a one to ten year prison term for larceny.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS PLEDGE AID TO WORLD PEACE MOVES

New Orleans, La., Sept. 16.—(AP)—War veterans, all of whom have served abroad, heard war described today as a "mad international racket for profit," and pledged their efforts to world peace at the opening session of the 36th annual encampment of U. S. Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The delegates cheered as their commander in chief, James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., clasped hands with Admiral Isamu Takeshita, chief of a delegation representing war veterans of Japan, in a mutual gesture of friendliness.

The convention keynoter, Judge Arthur H. Day of the Ohio Supreme court, advised that the "best and surest means of avoiding war" is an adequate national defense, adding that "it is fitting for men of war to plan peace."

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, retired commander of the U. S. marine corps, urged strengthening of naval and military defenses as a preparedness measure against war.

Van Zandt told his comrades that it was his opinion the "so-called bonus will be paid by the next session of congress, shortly after it convenes in January."

FATHER TO SEEK CUSTODY OF BOY HEIR TO $750,000

Habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of Curt von Puttkamer Jr., 9 year old heir to a fortune of $750,000 left by his mother, Mrs. Florence Hill von Puttkamer, who leaped to her death last Wednesday from a New York hotel, will be started in the Superior court as soon as the whereabouts of the boy is determined.

This was announced yesterday by Atthe boy's father, an insurance broker, who lives at 315 Webster avenue. Mrs. von Puttkamer won a divorce and custody of the child in 1929.

At the time of her death Mrs. von Puttkamer left the child in the custody of her nephew, William B. Himmel, 2719 Asbury avenue, Evanston. He refused to say whether or not he brought the boy to Chicago when the body of the mother was returned for burial. If the boy is not located within the next few days, Attorney Ehrlich said, legal steps will be taken anyway.

Private funeral services were held for Mrs. von Puttkamer yesterday, and during the day her will was filed in New York, naming her son as principal beneficiary. A notation in the will asked that Mr. Himmel be named guardian of the boy and administrator of a $750,000 trust fund left by Mrs. von Puttkamer's mother, which is a part of the estate.

Decorate Veteran Who Captured Machine Gun

F. H. Swabey, 6458 Glenwood avenue, a printing salesman, was presented with a distinguished service cross last night by Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, commander of the 6th corps area. The award was made at the drill of the 131st regiment in its armory at 1546 South Michigan avenue. Following the presentation, the entire regiment passed in review in honor of Swabey. The citation stated that Swabey, who was a member of the 131st regiment when the United States entered the world war, succeeded in capturing a machine gun nest and men in the face of heavy shell fire in the fighting east of the River Meuse on Oct. 10, 1918.

Background for a NEW CAR

The average (not the exceptional) Herald Tribune suburban family lives in a modern-equipped, car-owning home like this — homes where a 1936 car is a strong probability.

It was suburban New York that bought nearly six out of every ten cars sold in Metropolitan New York during the first six months of this year.

This same suburban New York will be responsible for the major part of 1936 car sales.

To this same suburban New York the New York Herald Tribune sends a larger proportion of its circulation weekdays and Sundays than any other New York newspaper. In this same suburban New York the Herald Tribune has more readers — by a wide margin — than the newspaper with which it shares leadership of New York automotive advertising.

FIND EXPLOSION MERELY A PART OF CHURCH FETE

Italian Groups Like Noise; Clergymen Tell Why.

BY KAY HALL.

Residents of the north side who called police stations late Sunday night and reported their fears that heavy explosions were blowing up part of the city were told that the noise which roused them was a "church celebration with fireworks."

This fête, one of many similar ones indirectly connected with church observances, was conducted by the Deputazione Lauretano, a lay society celebrating the feats of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin, and was held at West Oak and Milton streets at night following a service in St. Philip Benizi Roman Catholic church, 938 North Cambridge avenue, in the morning and a neighborhood processional in the afternoon.

Catholic clergymen explained yesterday that the church and the lay societies annually sponsoring the various patron saint celebrations "have never quite come to an agreement on the form which the outdoor observances sometimes take."

Fireworks a la Chicago.

"Such celebrations are centuries old in southern Italy," a priest explained. "But there they are managed by the church and are well under control. The fireworks in Italy are a matter of pictorial beauty, not noise.

"These Chicago celebrations have been going on for years but only in the last few years have they acquired the battlefield sound effects. In the old country each town had its one big feast day for its patron saint and it was religious, social, and civic in aspect, like a fair.

"There are so many of them in Chicago because in carrying them over from the old country, each group coming from a certain town has its own society and celebrates its particular feast day."

Strong for Tradition.

The Deputazione Lauretano which sponsored the Sunday night fête comprises natives or descendants of natives of Alta Villa, Sicily, which has the Navitity of the Blessed Virgin as its day of civic observance. Because residents of nearby Palermo in Sicily also share in the Alta Villa celebration, the Chicago occasion was well attended by American-Sicilians of Palermo background.

Another priest, with more than twenty years' service in his parish, declared there is competiton among the societies in attempting to "put on the biggest blowout."

"The tradition is very strong in their breasts and the people love the celebrations," he said. "Political indulgence is involved. We are in the land of liberty so they want more noise. We could control the celebrations better with the aid of police but politics and aldermen and vote getting are involved. It is a delicate situation for the church.

Why They Do It.

"It is difficult for the American people to understand how strong this tradition is because they have jumped that gap of the centuries," said another priest. "It is dear to the hearts of these people of southern Italian descent and they contribute generously toward the expenses."

More than 10,000 people attended the observance starting at St. Philip Benizi church Sunday. Collections were taken by the society in its processional through the neighborhood in the afternoon with a float symbolizing worship of the Blessed Virgin Lauretano. It was learned the church received $400 contribution from the collection.

"We probably didn't take in more than $3,500," said Joseph Romano, president of the society. "We never get more than enough for expenses. We had three fine bands and all this street lighting and decoration and then the fireworks."

Evening Band Concerts Are Begun on Navy Pier

The first of a series of city band concerts was given on Navy pier last night. The concerts will continue each evening until the end of the month. Mayor Kelly, in making the announcement of the programs, said the concerts will be given by various large bands and will be financed out of a $15,000 appropriation made by the city council early this year.

DON'T OVERTAX MOTOR, M'ADOO'S HEALTH SECRET

Enjoys Air Trip

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Enjoying a "wonderful trip" in their cross-country honeymoon flight to Los Angeles, Senator William G. McAdoo and his 26 year old bride strolled up and down the airport's landing apron here tonight during the brief halt of their plane. The senator confined his remarks mostly to inquiries concerning New Mexico's economic and political condition.

Kansas City, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, a smiling 71 year old bridegroom, guided his pretty 25 year old bride around a water puddle at the Kansas City airport today, then talked about how to keep fit as a septuagenarian.

"Careful there, dear," he said in a soft voice to the former Doris Cross, whom he married Saturday at Washington. It was the senator's third matrimonial venture.

"You must not risk getting your feet wet with those thin soles of yours," he cautioned.

As Good Now As at 30.

"I can do every bit as much work now as I could at thirty," the tall senator said.

"The secret is gauging one's capacities. Get eight hours of rest at night and you can do 16 hours' work in a day if you need to.

"Now let's use this ship as an example."

As he spoke, the plane to which Mrs. McAdoo had returned, began moving to another section of the field.

"Hold on there," he shouted. "Let Mrs. McAdoo out of there. I couldn't afford to lose her."

"Now take a ship, for example," he continued.

"Don't Overtax Motor."

"I've owned one and it has been driven over 500,000 miles. I've taken as much care of the engine as I would a horse. I've owned quite a few horses, too. There, then, is an important rule. Don't overtax the motor."

His bride, attired in a navy blue crêpe traveling costume, appeared again at his side, looked up smiling, took his hand in hers and they hurried off for a motor car trip near the airport with Mrs. Stanley Stanton, wife of a plane pilot.

At Pittsburgh, an earlier stopover, Mrs. McAdoo asserted confidently, "The gap in our ages won't affect this marriage." The couple left Washington this morning, stopping briefly also at Columbus, O., and St. Louis. They expected to reach California late tonight.

LAKE FOREST COLLEGE OFFERS NEW STUDY PLAN

Dr. H. M. Moore, president of Lake Forest college, yesterday announced a new plan for independent study by seniors as the college opened its doors for its 59th year. The plan permits any senior with a "B" average or better to engage in independent study of any subject he selects.

"Credits to apply toward graduation will be granted for this work," said Dr. Moore. "Results of such studies must be included in a thesis."

Dr. Michael J. O'Connell, newly installed president of De Paul university, greeted more than 5,000 students starting classes yesterday. In a brief address he urged them to defend American and religious ideals and the constitution.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Haying Is Done

Sept. 16, 1935.

"WHEW, that job's done," chorused the harvesters on THE TRIBUNE experimental farms as they thrust their forks into the last forkful of hay, squeezed the last bale into its niche, and sent their straw hats sailing into the air.

And what a job! Six hundred and sixty-two tons of alfalfa, clover, and timothy hay has been put in the barns on the farms since the harvesting began about the middle of June. The workers on both farms have been busy haying almost every day since the beginning, except when they took time out to cut and thresh the oats. About the same amount of hay was put up on each farm—327 tons at the Wheaton farm and 335 at the Yorkville place.

All the hay, excepting a relatively small amount damaged by bad weather in curing or poorly stacked in the rush of harvest, is now in the barns either baled or loose.

Clarence Thurow, Yorkville farm manager, estimated today that he had about 261 tons of alfalfa and 74 tons of timothy or timothy and clover hay mixed. Carl Henderson, Wheaton farm manager, estimates that he has 225 tons of alfalfa, 82 tons of timothy, and 20 tons of clover hay.

During the rush in harvesting seven stacks of timothy hay and two stacks of red clover hay were left in the open field and baled later at the Wheaton farm. Stacking the hay on the moist ground resulted in the deterioration of about 500 pounds on the bottom of each stack, or about two and a half tons, including 500 pounds of damaged hay taken from the top and side of one stack that was improperly stacked. Most of the damaged hay will be fed to sheep and the worst of it will be used as bedding or scattered on the fields.

A little of the joy was taken out of the harvesters' celebration when the manager at the Yorkville farm announced to his men this morning that the soy beans were yet to be harvested as hay. Mowing the soy beans is on the schedule for this week. The soy beans will be raked into windrows and cocks and allowed to cure for two or three weeks while the men are filling silos.

The weather was ideal for the ripening of corn almost every day last week, according to Manager Thurow. He estimates that from one-half to two-thirds of the 450 acres of corn that will be harvested for grain on THE TRIBUNE experimental farm near Yorkville and Plano is in the dent stage. He says an additional thirty acres of corn to be cut for silage is not yet dented.

In October, 1931, only 85 out of every 100 single-family houses were occupied. In May, 1935, nearly 95 out of every 100 were in use.

Apartment occupancy has increased even more—from 71% in October, 1932, to 94% in May, 1935.

Total occupancy, including both houses and apartments, has increased from 72% in 1932 to 94% in May, 1935.

These figures are based upon periodic counts made by this Company in all sections of the Chicago area as set forth in the accompanying tabulation. Surveys made by others indicate a higher percentage of occupancy.

FIDDLE RIDDLES

Songs of Long Ago in Riddles

$5,000 IN CASH FOR BEST ANSWERS!

Can you solve the two song riddles printed below? Try it! It's real entertainment. And Tribune readers who send in the best answers to this series will be paid cash prizes totaling $5,000. Simply name the songs these pictures represent and write the name in the space below each picture. It is FREE TO ALL.

RULES AND PRIZES

1. Each weekday for 42 consecutive days, the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a Fiddle Riddle representing the name of an old-time song. The public is invited to cut out these riddles and name the songs they represent. The songs will be dramatized over W-G-N each evening preceding publication of the Riddle in the Tribune.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named complete sets of Fiddle Riddles in accordance with these rules. (See prize list.)

3. This offer is open to everyone, everywhere—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It does not matter where you live. No work to do, no subscriptions to solicit, nothing to pay.

4. Just prove your skill. Accuracy will count. Fiddle Riddles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Hold all riddles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Fiddle Riddles," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter of 50 words or less giving your name and address and telling which one of the 42 songs in this series is your favorite—the one you like best—and why. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Fiddle Riddle No. 42 has been printed.

5. Each entry must be sent by first class mail—postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department. Contestants may send in as many sets of Fiddle Riddles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

6. You need not purchase the Chicago Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the riddles from the originals and use the copies you have made. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

FILIPINOS ELECT PRESIDENT AND ASSEMBLY TODAY

Quezon Picked to Win 3 Cornered Race.

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 17 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Braving rain in many parts of the archipelago, Filipinos today began casting ballots for the first president of the new commonwealth government, a vice president, and members of the national assembly.

Three presidential candidates sought the privilege of guiding the new government—first step on the islands' road to independence from the United States—through its infancy. Politicians predicted a light vote because of the soggy weather following in the wake of a typhoon which struck the northern islands Sunday.

The term of the president is for six years and the salary $15,000 a year.

Women Cannot Vote.

Literate men will be the only voters in the election in which ninety-eight members of the national assembly will be named along with a president. The legislature barred women and illiterates.

The candidates are:

COALITION — Comprising Manuel Quezon's Nationalist Democratic party and Sergio Osmena's National Pro-Independence group—for president, Quezon; vice president, Osmena.

NATIONALIST — President, Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo; vice president, Raymond Melliza.

Quezon Is Favorite.

Quezon, president of the senate and an outstanding political leader for twenty years, declared a victory for the coalition was "an imperative national necessity" to show the solidarity of the Filipinos on the eve of the new régime.

Aguinaldo, who led the isurrection against the United States in 1899-1901, and Bishop Aglipay, head of the Independent Catholic church of the Philippines, attacked Quezon in the campaign and advocated a shorter road to complete independence.

SCAFFA GIVEN SIX MONTHS ON PERJURY CHARGES

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Noel C. Scaffa, private detective, was convicted of perjury in connection with the recovery of $185,000 worth of jewelry stolen last January from Mrs. Margaret Hawkesworth Bell, in Miami. Today he was sentenced to six months in the Federal House of Detention on each of three counts by Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks. The sentences are to run concurrently, making six months net. He was given two weeks to arrange his personal and business affairs. For years Scaffa has specialized in recovering stolen jewels for insurance companies.

George Z. Medalie, former United States attorney, as Scaffa's counsel, urged the court to be lenient.

COUNCIL DODGES FIREWORKS ON CICERO'S BONDS

Townsmen jammed into the council chambers of Cicero's village hall last night expecting a spirited debate on the proposed $935,000 bond issue to pay the back salaries of village employés. But action by the council was deferred again and policemen assigned to preserve order were not needed.

On Sept. 7 a committee of the Czechoslovak Taxpayers' association of Cicero, which is opposing the bond issue, attempted to present a petition to the village clerk calling for a referendum on it. A woman member of the committee was injured in a scuffle with town employés who destroyed the petition. Two days later, under police guard, a similar petition, bearing 10,800 names, was successfully presented.

Last night Frank Borkovec, clerk of the village court, representing the unpaid employés and their creditors, presented a petition bearing 14,000 names asking that the issue be passed. He also made charges of forgery in the rival petition. At the suggestion of Trustee Nicholas Hendriske, the council decided to investigate both petitions.

Psychiatrist to Examine Zenge Privately Today

Dr. Harold S. Hulbert is to make a private psychiatric examination of Mandeville W. Zenge today in the county jail. Zenge, a young farmer and carpenter of Clinton, Mo., is to go on trial Sept. 30 on a charge of mutilating and murdering Prof. Walter J. Bauer of Kirksville, Mo. Permission for the defense to have Zenge examined privately was given in Criminal court last week after the state withdrew objections. Previously prosecution had demanded that any examination Zenge underwent be in the presence of Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the Cook county behavior clinic.

Russians Plan Flight Into Stratosphere.

MOSCOW, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A passenger and freight carrying "parachute kite," which soviet aviation authorities said they believed would be able to ascend into the stratosphere, had its first successful trial today, lifting 4 tons of cargo. The "kite" reached a height of 3,250 feet.

An ordinary freight parachute, with a dome 65 feet in diameter, was used. The load was attached with short ropes leading from one side of the parachute. The other side bulges upward, giving the lifting power.

Longer ropes, running from the bulging side, also were attached to a load which, for passenger carrying purposes, would consist of a gondola.

Steer Chute by Rope.

By maneuvering the longer rope, the crew, experts said, could steer the parachute and control its ascent and descent.

Attached to the main parachute to give additional lifting power are other parachutes. Part of the cargo of passengers can be transferred to these parachutes and descend individually. The whole combination was called a "parachute train" in the official description by Prof. I. Grokhoffsky, chief of the experimental institute of the commissariat of heavy industry which is sponsoring the trials.

The contrivance got off the ground with a wind velocity of 23 feet a second.

Safe Descent Assured.

Grokhoffsky said he believed the parachute could carry explorers into the stratosphere. He described flying in a parachute kit as the safest mode of air travel, since the parachute is always opened, assuring a safe descent.

Further trials will be made soon on the Crimea tableland near the town of Yevpatoria. Grokhoffsky predicted that on these later trials the parachute would ascend at least 30,000 feet carrying freight and passengers.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN SAVED FROM NOOSE; GETS LIFE IN CELL

Long Beach, Cal., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nellie M. Madison, former Montana cowgirl, under sentence to hang on Oct. 4 for slaying her husband, was granted a commutation today. Gov. Frank F. Merriam changed the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Madison was convicted of the fatal shooting on March 24, 1934, of Eric D. Madison, her second husband. He was a film studio owner and son of a former Danish senator.

The governor's order was issued as William J. F. Brown, Los Angeles attorney and former husband of Mrs. Madison, was preparing to appear before the state Supreme court to seek a reopening of the case.

Flung in Lake by Mate, She Says; Wins Divorce

Her husband tossed her in the lake, clothes and all, pulled her out when she screamed, and then repeated the performance, Mrs. Esther Reinhard, 36 years old, 7235 Vernon avenue, testified yesterday. She was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Rudolph Desort from Bert L. Reinhard, 7749 Harper avenue, a partner in Molter-Reinhard company, dress manufacturers, at 317 South Market street. The judge restored her maiden name, Esther Bishop, and awarded her $10 weekly permanent alimony.

Tom Mooney's New Fight for Freedom Is Delayed

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Tom Mooney's habeas corpus hearing was postponed late today from tomorrow at 10 a. m. Wednesday by A. E. Shaw, referee appointed by the California Supreme court. Shaw explained the action was taken because of arguments to be presented to the Supreme court tomorrow on instructions for the hearing. Mooney is making a new court fight for freedom convicted by perjury.

Flying Cavalier Lands in Mexico City; Sees Senorita

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—Four months and four days after his take off from Santander, Spain, Juan Ignacio Pombo landed here today. The young Spanish cavalier at once was whisked through cheering thousands, gathered to greet him and to celebrate Mexico's independence day, to the Spanish embassy to see Señorita Maria Elena Rivero, whose hand he seeks.

Despite the excessive length of time consumed in his flight and the fact that he used two planes, Pombo is the first Spanish aviator to fly from Spain to Mexico in his own plane. He expressed thanks to the Mexican government for efforts made to find two Spanish aviators, Barberan and Collar, who flew three years ago from Spain to Cuba, then were lost between Havana and Mexico.

Gets Lost in Clouds.

Pombo could hardly have had more difficulties in getting here. His Atlantic crossing to Brazil was almost serene, but on the next hop he crashed in the interior and his plane was replaced. An operation for appendicitis next delayed him in Costa Rica. Saturday he reached Vera Cruz and yesterday on what is usually a two hour hop to Mexico City, he got lost in clouds and made an emergency landing at San Marcos.

Moreover, Pombo is not yet sure Señorita Rivero will be his bride. To his declaration on leaving Santander that he was flying the ocean to seek her hand, fair Elena told interviewers that she hardly knew the young man.

Delays Her Answer.

When he crashed she admitted she loved him. Recently her father died, and she is still in mourning. With her mother she was scheduled to sail from Vera Cruz tonight for Spain and it was fortunate for Pombo that he finally reached Mexico City today.

"It cost me a lot of work, but I got here," Pombo exclaimed at the air field. Citizens greeted him with "vivas" wherever he went and he was invited to ride in the air show that was part of the independence day celebration.

Our own family's whiskey!

Personally supervised by me and the boys

Quite some time ago I got a notion a heap of people with a taste for good whiskey would get real pleasure out of tasting the Wilken Family Whiskey. And besides—I figured they'd appreciate somebody having a heart when it comes to the price of it.

So I got busy, with the help of my boys, Harry Jr. and William—and Tom, my son-in-law—putting out some bottles of what I think you're going to declare the mildest and tastiest whiskey you ever got a hold of.

So far everybody that's tasted it has said it's the grandest whiskey they've run across yet. I hope you think the same.

Word was received here yesterday of the death in Los Angeles Sunday of Samuel S. Page, 84 years old, well known Illinois jurist and a former Chicago attorney. His death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Judge Page, a brother of George T. Page, Peoria, a retired member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, was born on a farm in Woodford county, Illinois, and was educated at Metamora in that county.

State's Attorney at 24.

At the age of 18 he started teaching school and was deputy superintendent of schools for several years before he gave up the field of education to enter law. Judge Page was admitted to the bar in 1872 and became the Woodford county state's attorney at the age of 24.

Later Judge Page moved to Peoria, where he practiced law until he became state circuit judge in 1885 for the circuit composed of Woodford, Peoria, Tazewell, Putnam, Marshall, and Stark counties. He resigned from the bench in 1890 to practice law in Chicago, remaining here until 1914. Judge Page then moved to New York, where he lived until four years ago when he moved to California.

Survived by Six Children.

He is survived by six children, Edwin, Chicago broker; Cecil, New York; Roy, Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. John Chase Scully, Peoria; Mrs. George Everett and Miss Lucia Page, both of Catalina, Cal. The body will be cremated and the ashes brought to Oak Woods cemetery.

SUZANNE ADAMS DIES IN CAPITAL FOLLOWING FALL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Suzanne Slayback Adams, 74, formerly of St. Louis, died in Garfield hospital this afternoon of injuries received Saturday when she fell down the steps at the home of her daughter, the Baroness Maximilian H. von Pagenhardt.

Mrs. Adams' father, Col. Alonzo Slayback, fought in the civil war and for years was a leading figure in Missouri politics. He was shot to death in the editorial room of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in 1882 when he entered the office to dispute the paper's politics.

Mrs. Adams had lived with her daughter here since 1930. She suffered a stroke a year ago, but recovered and was in good health until her fall when she received a broken leg, a broken arm, and a fractured skull.

She was the widow of Dr. Arthur Wellington Adams, an inventor. In addition to her daughter, here, she is survived by three others, Mrs. William S. Pullis of California, Mrs. William A. Hart of Florida and Mrs. George I. Bartling of St. Louis, and two sons, Blakeney and Wellington Adams, both of St. Louis.

MRS. ANNA BURNS, PASTOR'S WIDOW, DIES AFTER FALL

Mrs. Anna P. Burns, widow of the Rev. Dr. William H. Burns, former pastor of the Hemenway Methodist church of Evanston, died yesterday in her home at 931 Hinman avenue from injuries incurred earlier in the day in a fall on the kitchen floor. She was 88 years old. Her husband died 20 years ago.

Mrs. Burns was a lineal descendant of Thomas Doty, one of the passengers on the Mayflower. She was born in Pittsburgh, and later moved to Aurora, where her father, the Rev. Caleb Foster, was a Methodist preacher.

Surviving Mrs. Burns are her brother, R. N. Foster, with whom she lived, and a son, Col. William Foster Burns, former judge advocate of the United States army, and a former Evanston alderman, now living at San Diego, Cal.

Clive Runnells' Funeral Rites to Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in a chapel at 4001 North Clark street for Clive Runnells, 58 years old, vice president of the Pullman company and former Chicagoan who died last Thursday in Santa Barbara, Cal., where he had made his home for several years. The services will be in charge of Dr. Duncan H. Browne of St. James Episcopal church. The body will arrive this morning in a special car attached to the Golden State Limited of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

J. D. Child, U. S. Consul, Dies in Strasbourg at 60

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 16.—(AP)—James Dwight Child, 60, the United States vice consul here, died today. Mr. Child was appointed to the consular service from Oregon in 1929. He was born in Bath, N. Y., in 1875 and graduated from New Hampton Literary institute and Dartmouth college. After engaging in the contracing and builders' supply business he entered the American army at the outbreak of the world war and served in France two years. He formerly was stationed at Bordeaux.

Logansport Woman Dies 40 Years After Husband

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jane De Haven, 92, died today on the fortieth anniversary of the death of her husband, Abner. She was one of the county's oldest citizens.

SHOT IN ROOMING HOUSE FIGHT.

Rustico DeGuzman, 38 years old, 2234 West Jackson boulevard, was shot in the right leg yesterday during a quarrel in his rooming house. Cornelius Calaycoy, 27 years old, who lives at the same address was sought as the assailant. DeGuzman was taken to the County hospital.

Today's Features

Constitution day ceremonies at the Chicago Stadium tonight are to be broadcast by W-G-N in two periods — from 7:30 to 8 and from 8:30 to 9:45. A special orchestra under the direction of Leo Kopp and Isaac Van Grove will give a concert at 7:30. During the second period addresses of the three chief speakers at the Stadium rally will be heard. They are Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, who is to be presiding officer; Col. Frank Knox, and James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri. Quin Ryan will be the announcer. Mr. Ryan will read THE TRIBUNE and present his usual 9 p. m. sports review at 9:45 tonight.

Frederick Tudor Haskell Rites Held; Body Sent East

Funeral services were held yesterday in St. Chrysostom's church for Frederick Tudor Haskell, capitalist, banker and philanthropist, who died Friday in his home, 1200 Lake Shore drive, after an illness of several months. He was 81 years old. Business leaders of the city and representatives of several New York concerns attended. Members of the staf of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, from which he retired as director a year ago, served as active pallbearers. The body was sent for burial to Ogdensburg, N. Y., his birthplace.

Thomas Hanks, 54, Printing Company Head, Found Dead

Thomas Hanks, 54 years old, president of the National Printing and Engraving company, 7 South Dearborn street, was found dead from heart disease in his room at the Congress hotel yesterday after he failed to appear at his office and employés started a search. Hank, a widower, had lived at the hotel more than a year. Relatives in Lawrenceburg, Ky., were notified.

Albert W. Pierce Is Dead at 74 After Brief Illness

Albert W. Pierce, 74 years old, 6636 Woodlawn avenue, died yesterday after a brief illness. For years he was connected with the Wilbur-Suchard Chocolate company and since 1928 was its manager for the Chicago district. Funeral services will be held today at 3 p. m. in a chapel at 6110 Cottage Grove avenue.

DR. EDWIN SLOAN FUNERAL IS HELD AT BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. Edwin P. Sloan, internationally noted goiter surgeon, was buried here today with physicians and surgeons from many states serving as pallbearers.

Dr. Sloan came to Bloomington in 1905 and later organized the American Association for the Study of Goiter. He was the first president. Dr. Sloan also served as president of the Illinois State Medical society and the Illinois board of health.

Prior to the funeral plaster casts of Dr. Sloan's hands were made.

FINED FOR TOSSING BOTTLE.

Municipal Judge Eugene Holland in the South State street court yesterday fined David Knight, 25 years old, 5738 Maryland avenue, $25 on a disorderly conduct charge for tossing a liquor bottle from a balcony to the floor of the Coliseum, 1513 South Wabash avenue, Sunday night.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With more than 50 acts in a three hour broadcasting marathon WMAQ on Sunday evening celebrated its boost to 50 kilowatts. W-G-N presented a musical salute to the station shortly before the program went on the air. As Russell Pratt, the last of the Three Doctors of radio, explained, the show was "a long, dandy program." Long it was, but interesting to all confirmed listeners since it covered practically the entire history of broadcasting in its panoramic sweep.

Particularly delightful was the musical portion of the show, handled in the main by Roy Shield, with the assistance of a 40 piece symphonic orchestra. Hits of 13 years ago had their brief moments again and many of them sounded lovelier than they did when first heard. Orchestras are better now and transmission is vastly improved. Program makers have made great strides, but when one considers the amazing fidelity of the new receivers one is likely to doubt programs have quite kept up with technical advances.

A highlight was the appearance of some of the pioneers of radio—Jerry Sullivan, who made his radio reputation largely by his peculiar pronunciation of Chi-caw-go; Sen Kaney, Quin Ryan, Henry Selinger, Russell Pratt, the Whitney trio, Hal Totten, Jesse Crawford, Judith Waller, Bill Hedges, Joe Gallicchio, Moissaye Boguslawski and many others.

Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden were the comic hit of the evening. They make an even better team out of character than they do as Amos 'n' Andy. And Pratt, handicapped without the aid of a stooge, was a good laugh getter.

Any tendency toward nostalgia over the good old days was swiftly dissipated when the contemporary radio soloists swung into action. Such singers as Edward Davies, Charles Sears, Ruth Lyon, and Marion Claire made out an excellent case for 1935.

* * *

A small voice of criticism must be raised, however. WMAQ took credit for just about everybody and everything in radio except Rudy Vallee. For the year 1928 it claimed Wayne King. Oldtimers well know that Wayne King made his first radio appearances elsewhere. In the year 1924 the station claimed the first remote control pickup. Joe Sanders, for one, will tell any one that he was operating by a remote control pickup in Kansas City several years earlier. And Phil Baker, who was claimed for 1930 made his first paid radio appearance seven years earlier, also in Kansas City.

* * *

Wendell Hall will be back with a new series Oct. 1 for that Des Moines toiletries maker who has sponsored him for three seasons. The red-headed music maker will be heard over WENR-NBC at 9 p. m. Tuesdays. Sponsor's present show Sunset Serenade, with the Ranch Boys and Morin Sisters, at 6:45 Sundays, will be continued.

* * *

Ethel Barrymore is to make one of her rare radio appearances on the CBS Radio Theater at 8 o'clock next Monday evening. She will play the leading rôle in St. John Ervine's "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary." Mrs. Fiske played the part when it was first produced on Broadway.

MRS. CALDWELL DIES IN OAK PARK; A PIONEER THERE

Mrs. Grace Bevis Caldwell, 68 years old, a pioneer resident of Oak Park and the mother of County Commissioner H. Wallace Caldwell, died yesterday at the family home, 417 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park, where she conducted a Sunday school class for thirty years.

Mrs. Caldwell had been a resident of the suburb for 43 years. During the war she and her husband, the late Frank C. Caldwell, were hosts to President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Wilson during a visit here.

Mrs. Caldwell was a past regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution and was a member of the board of the Presbyterian hospital of Chicago. She was active in Red Cross work and during the war was vice chairman of the Oak Park chapter.

MRS. E. S. KIEFER WILLS DAUGHTER BULK OF $200,000

The will of Mrs. Minnie Kiefer, leaving the bulk of an estate estimated at $200,000 to a daughter, was admitted to probate yesterday. Mrs. Kiefer, widow of Edgar S. Kiefer, head of a tanning company bearing his name, died Sept. 5. She resided at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The following other wills were admitted to probate:

JOHN GEHRLS, died Sept. 3. Estate, $10,000, to widow, four daughters, two sons, and grandson. Theodore Gehrls, son, executor.

ANNA R. WILSON, died Aug. 30. Estate, $22,500, to two daughters. Catherine Wilson, executrix.

MARY C. LAWSON, died Feb. 5. Estate, $4,000, to two sisters. Frances Plunkett, sister, executrix.

Col. Percy M. Kessler, 63, Dies at Fort Hancock

Fort Hancock, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Col. Percy M. Kessler, 63, died last night of a cerebral hemorrhage at the army coast defense base where he was commanding officer.

6000 cu. FEET OF CONDITIONED AIR

THOUSANDS of people visit the Lain Chapel every month—because more services are held in the Lain Chapel than in any other in Chicago. And their comfort is assured; their health protected, even on the hottest days.

FIRST IN CHICAGO

Lain's is the first Chapel to have a modern Air-Conditioned System. Every minute 6000 cubic feet of air is washed, refrigerated and circulated throughout entire building. Humidity is also controlled.

So when there is a service at Lain's—do not hesitate to attend. There is an abundance of purified air at the right temperature for season or attendance.

AT LAIN'S CHAPEL

more services are held in one month than the average Chapel has in a year. This greatly reduces the Lain cost per funeral—makes possible lower prices—although it is one of the most up-to-date Chapels in the country.

IMPERIAL QUARTET ORGAN, ORGANIST

More than one-third of Lain's funerals cost less than $200. Services to all parts of Chicago and Suburbs, day or night.

140 HELPED TO GO TO HIGH SCHOOL BY SCHOLARSHIPS

The Children's Scholarship league began paying out yesterday the first monthly allowances of the current school year to 140 boys and girls whose parents otherwise could not send them to high school. The roll of scholarship pupils is the largest which the league ever has sponsored at the beginning of school. Last year it began the school year with 125, helping almost 200 by the end of the year.

Scholarships are based on scholastic merit and need. Amounts vary according to family needs, explained Mrs. Alma C. Livermore, executive secretary. A boy or girl must have made an average of 85 or better in his grade school work to be eligible. If he maintains this average and continues in need he is provided with scholarship money for all of his four years.

Seventy-three per cent of the pupils aided by scholarships during the last five years have full time jobs. The league is one of 147 private welfare agencies of Chicago benefitting by community fund contributions.

Draft Plans for Barge and Ship Transfer Basin

Plans for the construction of a transfer harbor at the mouth of the Chicago river, where cargoes can be exchanged between ships and barges, are being drafted by a committee of city and Chicago plan commission officials, it was disclosed yesterday. The estimated cost of the project is $4,000,000, for which a federal loan might be sought. The transfer docks would be located on either side of a lock to be constructed by the sanitary district. The city's campaign for fixed bridges over the Chicago river would thus be advanced, it was asserted.

Shuberts Take Long Lease on Twin Theaters

Harris and Selwyn Will Be Reconditioned.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Several years of rumors to the effect that the Harris and Selwyn theaters, most modern playhouses in Chicago, would be demolished were rendered null and void yesterday with the following announcement from Shubert headquarters:

"A new long term lease with the owners of the Harris and Selwyn theaters assures that these two legitimate playhouses will survive for many years to come, under the direction of the Messrs. Shubert. More than $25,000 will be spent immediately on rehabilitating and renovating the two houses.

"An entire new lighting system will be installed both inside and out, so that the theaters and their signs will be seen for blocks away. New seats will be installed in both houses, and new carpeting, curtains, fixtures and furniture are to be put in. A complete painting job is also in prospect."

These theaters have bookings that insure steady operation through the season of 1935-1936.

The program of stage entertainment at the State-Lake theater this week consists of an elaborate revue, produced by the house management under the title of "The State-Lake Follies." It contains as many dancing girls as any of the Broadway revues—thirty-two well drilled and comely ballerinas whose maneuvers in handsome costumes are marked with grace and precision. The most striking number in which they participate is a "jungle" affair in which the dancers slap tom-toms while Claire Powell, nearly nude and decidedly pictorial, leads the revels.

In addition to Miss Powell, who is an alumni of Earl Carroll's "Vanities," the other principal entertainers are Hal Young, operetta tenor; Joe and Romeo Donatello, accordionists; Joe and Pete Michon, comic acrobats; Clifford and Pearl, in eccentric comedy; Cedric and Arlinda, ballroom dancers; Sandra and Winters, specialty dancers; Louise Miller, prima donna, and Verne Buck.

Mrs. Robert M. Adams, general chairman of the Junior League Open House, entertained committee chairmen at a luncheon yesterday.

'Miss Chicago' of '34 Fair Sees Hollywood, but Prefers Politics

Hollywood, Cal., Sept 16.—(AP)—"Miss Chicago" of the 1934 Century of Progress exposition took a look at the film capital today and remarked "politics is more fun than the movies."

Blue eyed and blonde, Miss Alice Jaglowski, 19, was on her way to San Diego to reign as "Miss Illinois" at the California Pacific International exposition on Illinois day, Oct. 12.

She said the films held no lure for her because she was studying law at Northwestern university in hopes of a political career.

Ruth Chatterton Flying West in Private Plane

Junior League Pushes Plans for Big Benefit

Announcements will be in the mail in a day or two of the Chicago Junior league's open house on Oct. 4 at the Drake hotel. And such intriguing announcements as William Welsh has made for the enterprising young women who are seeking to raise a large sum for their charity fund by "manning" the hotel for one day!

◆

Just one look at an announcement makes one certain the reader should plan to spend that day at the hotel, enjoying the many things that the league is planning to give a ticket purchaser, all for $9.85.

One doesn't have to buy everything, however, for each part of the day's entertainment is a separate event, with single tickets for the current events lecture by Clifton Utley that will start the day, for the luncheon, for the exhibition of banned books, for the bridge lecture and game, and for the dinner-dance and cabaret that will finish the festivities.

The exhibit of banned books, which was gathered for a Junior league exhibit in New York last spring, attracted much interest and aroused considerable discussion, so the Chicago league is delighted to have the chance to show it here. Miss Adelaide Atkin is in charge of it. The exhibit is not filled with books of a pornographic nature, for every country practically has at one time or another sought to prevent freedom of the press, so there are many books on political subjects.

No book has been banned more frequently than the Bible, and even "Alice in Wonderland" and Andersen's "Fairy Tales," and the more modern "Anthony Adverse," have been kept out of various countries. There are about 250 volumes in the exhibit, which the Publishers' Weekly last spring said was "a picture of the social history of Europe and America that is worth the thoughtful study of all producers of books as well as students."

◆

The first meeting of all committee chairmen was held yesterday morning at the league headquarters in the Drake hotel and reports were made on the work that already has been done to make the benefit a success.

Mrs. Robert M. Adams gave a luncheon in her apartment at 936 Lake Shore drive after the meeting, at which Mrs. Ely Culbertson, whose husband will give the bridge lecture at the benefit, was a guest.

Also at the luncheon were Miss Margot Atkin and Mrs. Gordon Lang, co-chairmen with Mrs. Adams of the general committee.

Lydia Swift Engaged to Paul Rowan

Wedding Is Planned for Late Fall.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. ALDEN B. SWIFT announce the engagement of their daughter, Lydia, to Paul Rowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Reilly of Sharon, Pa., is the interesting announcement we are asked to make this morning. It will not come as a surprise to the close friends of Miss Swift and Mr. Rowan, for they have been seen together almost constantly for the last few months; in fact, almost since the attractive young man moved here from the east a little over a year ago.

The easterner, who is marrying a member of one of Chicago's best known families, must have met by now a bewildering number of aunts, uncles, and cousins of his handsome young fiancée, for she is a great-granddaughter of Gustavus Franklin Swift, founder of the packing company which bears his name, and is a granddaughter of Louis F. Swift and Mrs. William C. Niblack, so she has many relatives hereabouts and elsewhere. Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Austin H. Niblack are her mother's sister and brother and Mrs. James Minotto of Arizona and Louis F. Swift Jr. of Texas are her father's sister and brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Swift have a home in Lake Forest and an apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Miss Swift attended the University School for Girls, Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and Miss Nixon's in Florence. She was presented to society in November, 1932, at a tea given jointly for her and her cousin, Miss Marie Swift, by the Alden Swifts and Marie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, in the latters' home on Astor street. Miss Lydia is a member of the Junior league.

Mr. Rowan, who makes his home with several other young bachelors in a house on Bellevue place, attended Annapolis for two years before coming to Chicago to engage in business. The wedding will take place late this fall. Miss Swift has an elder sister, Miss Narcissa Swift, and a brother, Nathan B. Swift, who was married last year to Nancy Traylor.

Many Parties for Miss June Cornell.

When Miss June Cornell arrives in Chicago this coming week-end she will find a full calendar of parties planned, leading up to her marriage to Kellogg Fairbank Jr. the following Saturday at Lake Geneva.

The senior Byron S. Harveys are starting the festivities with a dinner next Monday evening at the Saddle and Cycle club. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hauck will give a small dinner at the Samuel Chases' Lake Forest home. Mrs. Stewart Harvey, Miss Cornell's sister, and Mr. Harvey will entertain at dinner in her Schiller street apartment Wednesday evening, and there will be a cocktail party before the dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Daggett Harvey's new apartment at 200 East Delaware place. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell will give a dinner for their nephew and Miss Cornell at their Hubbard Woods home.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Foster have decided to present their younger daughter, Miss Geraldine Foster, to society at a tea at home in November, but because of the illness of their son, George Jr., who is convalescing from an operation on one foot, they have not had time to make more definite plans.

Miss Foster attended the Latin School for Girls and Le Fougeres in

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A hair style in the Grecian motif to set off your new Grecian gown.. Hair is parted on the right and swirled back in sculptured waves, with formal ringlets in the back.

A new hairdressing salon opens tomorrow with considerable splendor. But what you'll be most interested in is the sort of work that's done there.

If you read Antoinette Donnelly's articles as faithfully as you should for the good of your looks you'll recall that recently she suggested we women rise up in righteous wrath and demand better shampoos. This ten minute business of soaping, rinsing and swoosh with the waving fluid doesn't promote more beautiful hair and it's time the beauty shops began to give us a better deal. Don't you agree?

In this new salon half an hour is allowed for every shampoo, and each one is preceded by one of the best brushings you ever had in your life, plus a good massage. The cleansing operation is meticulous and the rinsing goes on and on. Then the hair artist who presides in the salon does his stuff with the scissors. When the whole operation is completed and you've emerged from beneath the drier [which is a speedy one], your hair is gloriously washed and gloriously arranged. The man, you see, is an artist.

He'll do something practical if that's what you want—and if you're bound for a party and want something swish you'll find him only too happy to oblige. In the photograph above you see a hairdress in the Grecian motif, destined to knock the onlookers dead the first time you wear your Grecian gown.

But whether your hair style is simple or sophisticated you'll find that your hair itself looks beautiful, with lovely luster you didn't know it had.

Jeritza, Upset by Criticism, Drops Benefit

UNTERACH, Austria, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The golden voiced Maria Jeritza, piqued because some Austrians don't like her second marriage, refused today to sing for the home folk.

The Austro-American diva, whose marriage to Winfield R. Sheehan, American film executive, has aroused the ire of the semi-official and Catholic press, asserted:

"If that's the way our countrymen feel about it I will not embarrass them by singing. I had planned a benefit for the Austrian poor, but now I intend to make a $6,000 contribution to charity instead.

"Then I'll hurry back to America to open the Chicago opera season, and later I'll appear at the opening of the Philharmonic season in Los Angeles."

It had been announced that Jeritza, whose first husband, Baron Leopold Popper, is living here, would take the leading rôle in a benefit performance of the Vienna state opera. This brought from the press the observation: "There is no room in our opera program for an artist with such an attitude toward an Austrian institution."

◆

Jeritza replied:

"Austrians who have gone so far as to intimate that legal proceedings should be started against me because of my marital status are misinformed. That is, I got the Catholic church's approval for my second marriage.

"Born a Catholic, I became a Protestant to marry Baron Popper in Vienna in 1919 at a Protestant ceremony. That was ended by my Arkansas divorce, but I am still an Austrian citizen under a new Austrian law and my Protestant marriage to the baron does not count.

◆

"I returned to the Catholic church to marry Mr. Sheehan, and competent church authorities assured me it all was regular."

Some lawyers, however, seeking to interpret the intricacies of the Austrian marriage laws, say that in similar cases the courts have held Protestant marriages binding under the civil law even if they are not recognized by the church.

Gold Gadgets Effective on New Fall Togs

Big Clips Especially Good with Green, Red, Brown.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Most of the glittering gadgets are of gold—costume accessories, the clips, the bracelets, belts, earrings, and watches that adorn your chest hung on a fine chain are of tawny gold. Rich, barbaric and infinitely effective with tweeds, with smooth wools, with velvets, with striking black satin and silk one piece dresses, gold is by far the outstanding contrast.

Big clips are especially good. There are some of miniature oak leaves and acorns that are just what you need for your forest green velveteen dress, for a stunning rusty red wool two piece dress, or with warm brown tweed mixtures. Wide bracelets, flexible affairs that fit snugly around the wrist, come in pairs, but you can wear them one at a time. Gold settings for pearls, for lovely faded red garnets, for simulated sapphires, and emeralds make some stunning multistrand bracelets and necklaces.

Six or eight band bracelets of beaten gold metal are breath taking with long slip-on charcoal black suede gloves. Besides making a nice jingle as you move your hands they decorate handsomely the all-black swank of gloves, matching handbag and footwear. Or you'll like the filigree gold band bracelets that are wide and lacey, the tailored gold bands resembling straps, with clips to match, the woven effects with clips to match and the beaded bands in various widths.

Also worn with these gold accessories are plenty of gold belts, gold kidskin affairs and the gold mesh decorative belts worn with both dresses and suits and the bigger, wider numbers that accent the slim waistline of a heavy wool coat.

The workshop is sponsoring a series of lectures on various phases of the theater this winter.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A RECENT visitor to Chicago was a gentleman from Australia, an enthusiast about amateur movies. A trip to Minneapolis was a part of his American program, and he was advised to ride the Burlington's Zephyr as a phase of his experience. On the train he entered into conversation with a quiet, elderly gentleman, and the talk veered to amateur movies. The Australian expressed his disappointment at not getting pictures of the Zephyr at the station. He had tried to do so but the light had been insufficient, he said.

Big Shot—Nonsense—Gag.

Soon afterwards the train speeded up perceptibly and after it had got ahead of its schedule it came to a stop. Surprisingly, the elderly gentleman invited the Australian to walk up the track with his movie outfit and photograph the train as it started toward him. The operation completed, the astonished visitor climbed back on the train, presented his astonished thanks, and asked the name of his traveling acquaintance.

"My name is Kellogg," was the answer. He was Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state and a director of the Burlington railroad, whence came his power to speed up the train and stop it.

THAT little piece recited by the 9 year old Glencoe boy and printed in this space wasn't an original composition written by a school friend after all. Judging from the mail, it was derived from [a] a piece printed in "Chatterbox" between 1888 and 1893; [b] from some nonsense written by Edwin Forrest, the actor, who died in 1872; [c] that Foot, the dramatist, wrote it for the purpose of trying the memory of Macklin, who had boasted that he could repeat correctly anything after hearing it once, and [d] that a teacher at the Gunn school named Stanley was responsible for it.

* *

THE true version, according to Mrs. F. M. Giles, follows:

She went into the garden to cut a cabbage to make an apple pie;
And the she-bear stuck his head into the window, "What! No soap!" and he died.
But she very imprudently married the barber.
At the wedding were the hobgoblins, the jibwibblins,
And the great Panjandrum with the little round button at the top.
They played "Catch who catch can," and they danced and danced till the gunpowder ran out of the heels of their boots.

IN SPITE of a certain reluctance to print gags by bandmasters, Dave Rubinoff's latest herewith sees the light of day. He says he ran into a Russian friend on the Twentieth Century-Fox lot and asked him what he was doing. "Nodding," said the Russian. And Rubinoff says he can't figure whether he's out of work or a yes man.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. Milly's caravan has broken down. She and a young sister and brother are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way.

INSTALMENT II.

WARNED NOT TO TRESPASS.

Dan guessed the children were from Tennessee or perhaps Arkansas. "The Chinks do the washing," he told Milly.

It was clear she was disappointed. The tired slim figure drooped.

"You'll get something to do," he comforted, though he could not think for the life of him how a decent girl of her age could earn a living for the three of them.

In the late afternoon they drew into the irrigated country adjoining the town. Here and there were one story adobe houses and occasionally a Mexican jacal. The town opened below them, a haphazard little place of two or three adobe streets, some frame buildings in process of construction, and hundreds of tents scattered over the flat near the river.

Dan drove to a camping ground on the edge of the Rio Grande. He bargained with a Mexican for some greasewood which Milly could use for cooking. Before she would accept it he had to convince the girl it had cost him nothing. He would have liked to leave her money, but he knew he could not persuade her to take it. She might be a Cinderella, but she was as proud as the daughter of a millionaire.

As he drove his mules to the Elephant corral Dan remembered how she had always tried to stand or sit in such a way as to conceal from him the little pink toes peeping from the worn out brogans. She was so unsure of herself that she blushed at trifles. Her gratitude for the little he had done was almost pathetic.

After supper at a Chinese restaurant he strolled round to the Last Chance. Restlessly he moved from table to table, betting a dollar aimlessly now and again.

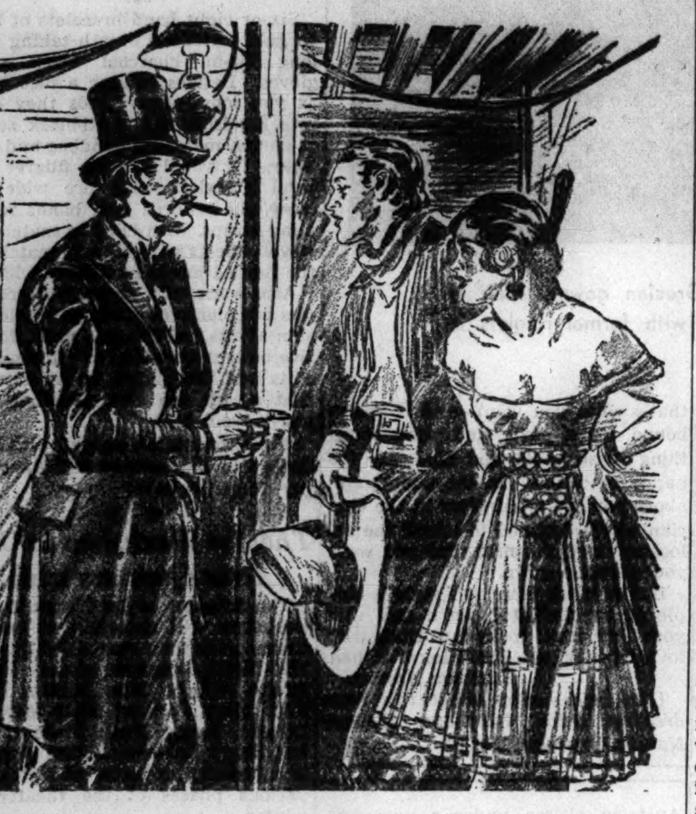
He turned and smiled. She was as pretty as he had remembered her. "How is Juanita?" he asked.

"You have been away long," she said. Her dark soft eyes offered gifts to him.

A man approached them. Immediately Juanita's smile became professional and rigid.

To Dan the man was a stranger, but the mule skinner knew the type.



"Introduce me to your friend, Juanita," he suggested insolently.

The pallid impassive face, the long soft fingers stamped him professional gambler as surely as the polished boots, the black frock coat, and the two carat diamond in the white shirt. He was one of the human buzzards who had come in with the rush to fatten on the unwary.

"Introduce me to your friend, Juanita," he suggested insolently.

The Mexican girl knew he had interpreted the look in her eyes when Dan had turned to her. She knew, too, he was not pleased. Jasper Ford had done her the honor to take an interest in her.

Obediently Juanita went through the formula of introduction. All eagerness had gone. Her face had become blank, as if she had lowered a shutter.

At once Dan recognized the name. It was known all over the frontier. Jasper Ford was a killer. He had slain at Dodge, at Kit Carson, at Leadville. Rumor credited him with a dozen victims. The eyes of the man were cold and hard, his face rigid. He was tall, slender, immaculately dressed. Many would have called him handsome.

He did not offer to shake hands with Dan. "Not a stranger here, Mr. Clifford," he said.

"I've been here off and on," Dan said. "I'm a mule skinner."

"Interesting," Ford drawled with cool contempt. "And a friend of Juanita. You are lucky. Or are you?"

With the last three words the drawl vanished. A chill ran down Dan's spine. He was aware of a velvet cruelty in voice and manner. He was being warned not to trespass.

Dan said as lightly as he could with a wooden smile that he reckoned he did not rank quite as a friend since he had met the senorita only three times. He added that he was not much of a lady's man.

The gambler wasted no more time on him. He told Juanita that there were some important railroad officials in town and he wanted her to sing for them. She walked away with him.

Presently she stepped upon a raised platform, guitar in hand. She made a gesture of drawing her reboza about her half bare brown bosom before she began. The song was Spanish. Translated, it ran something like this:

> Like an eagle, brave and free,
> Is my love;
> Yet he's ever unto me
> As the dove,
> Cooing,
> Wooing,
> But, eaglelike, pursuing
> When I rove.

During the storm of applause that followed Dan walked out of the Last Chance. He had no desire to fall foul of Jasper Ford. If the man had marked Juanita for his own young Clifford did not need to argue with himself to know that he would walk a long way around her.

He had another reason for leaving. All evening the thought of the three helpless waifs in the camp down by the river had haunted him. He had done as much as most men would have done for them, but he felt as if he had walked out and left them to their troubles.

What more could he do? He had an inspiration. Polly Doble would know how to help them. Polly was the fairy godmother of all who were ill or in need.

He found Polly sitting on the veranda of her boarding house smoking a black cigar. She was a big, angular woman, mannish, and she wore her sacklike clothes as if they had been flung on her. Her face was the color and the texture of wrinkled lether. Though a mistress of vitriolic profanity, Mrs. Doble had the reputation of concealing carefully a kind and tender heart behind her rhinoceroslike exterior.

Since Dan was one of her favorites she greeted him with a burst of jovial badinage. He bandied repartee with her cheerfully, but she could see his mind was on something else. Presently, with a shrewd look out of her wrinkled eyes, she demanded to know what it was.

"Can't I come to see a lady without some other reason?" he wanted to know.

"Get out with you. I'm no lady and it's plain as the nose on your face you must want something from me. Out with it."

He told her about the Sutherlands. She interrupted to ask one or two questions.

"They're so poor and so helpless, such children," he pleaded.

Polly was not so sure about that. They might be all Dan thought them, but a lad of his age was not the best judge of a pretty girl who told a hard luck tale.

"Maybe they won't be so poor in a month," she said dryly.

"She isn't that kind," Dan protested.

"What do you want me to do, boy?" she demanded.

He drew a roll of bills from his pocket. "I want you to see they don't starve. She won't let me do anything for her. She might let you because you are a woman."

Polly waved back his money with her cigar. "Keep it. You'll need fodder for the faro tables. I wouldn't want you to spend anything for trash like food when it ought to go to an honest place like the Last Chance." She rose briskly. "Lead me to this Little Eva. I'll take a look for myself."

Creamed Soups Substantial in Autumn Menus

BY MARY MEADE.

Second in our soup week series come the cream soups. Yesterday's discussion of the clear soups, for reason of space, progressed no further than a description of stockmaking, but we're leaving the matter from there on to your own knowledge and discretion. From a good stock base all manner of tempting appetizer soups can be evolved, as well as the heartier stock and vegetable combinations. But today it's a different matter entirely.

Instead of merely whetting the appetite the cream soups are filling, dependable affairs, made by combined cooked (usually mashed or strained) vegetables, fish or meat pulp with a thin white sauce. While this sauce may be made from a white soup stock and thus revert to yesterday's problem, it frequently is made from milk.

Aside from the tricks of tomato soup there's little difficulty confronting the creamed soup maker. Once the ingredients are blended together at most all she has to do in the way of extra frither is to whip the soup with a rotary beater just before serving. This dissipates any likelihood of objectionable "skin" on the top.

But tomato soup! All too frequently that's the downfall of even the best of yez, so our mailbag says, and your soup making ends in a despondent and curdled flop. When and how to combine the milk with the tomatoes, whether or not to use soda, and subsequent heating all are vulnerable spots in the procedure. Most recipes call for thickening the milk with a paste of flour and butter, but one of the most stable ones we know is made by thickening both mixtures slightly. They're then combined by stirring the hot tomato mixture slowly into the cool milk, and the soup is heated to serving temperature and served immediately.

The use of soda, oft disputed because of its possible effect upon flavor and vitamin content of the soup, usually is condoned. A minute quantity usually is enough to insure the smoothness of the soup—and we, for one, believe it's a good idea. Authorities on the subject tell us that, no matter what the method, sometimes the milk and tomatoes both may be sufficiently acid that curdling will take place unless a little soda is added. And, after all, vitamins in a curdled soup are of no good to anybody. Better fewer vitamins in a good soup than dozens of 'em poured down the kitchen drain.

Except for cream of tomato soup, which must be served as soon as it's mixed and hot, most cream soups bear standing. However, once they are thickened to the desired consistency they should be kept hot over hot water, for evaporation caused by additional cooking may make them thick and pasty, a quality with which no good soup should have truck.

Tapioca is more and more frequently being used as a thickening for cream soups, as a binder instead of flour. Its translucency makes it attractive for this use and it's delightfully simple to use. In general the method is to combine quick cooking tapioca with the liquid of the soup in the top of a double boiler and let it cook for six or seven minutes, stirring frequently. When thickened the vegetables, meat, or fish are added to the tapioca bound base and the soup reheated before serving.

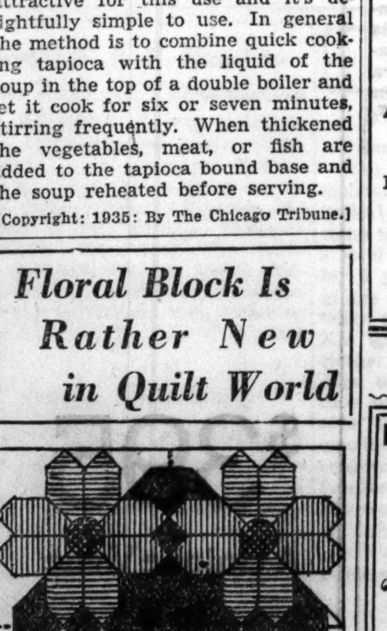
Floral Block Is Rather New in Quilt World



Modern Daisies.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This flower design is comparatively new, because no example of it ever has been found among the old-time patterns. Gold, rose, blue, and white combine to create one of the most interesting and effective blocks among the newcomers to the quilt world. The quilting design for this block requires the utmost in care and attention in outlining the flowers, but that is just what most expert quilters enjoy.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Jackie Cooper, 13, Vetoes Kid Birthday Party

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Jackie Cooper has outgrown "kid" birthday parties. He vetoed his mother's plan for a big ice cream and cake spread for neighborhood kids and his studio boy friends when he turned 13 yesterday and insisted on a sedate family dinner, grown up style, with his mother and stepfather, Charles Bigelow. But Jackie wasn't above enjoying the flock of elegant model airplanes which turned up among his birthday gifts.

In the wake of the highly successful world première of Paramount's "Big Broadcast of 1936" here, Hal Roach comedy studio has announced a two-reel "Our Gang Follies of 1936." Darla Hood, 4 years old, is a new juvenile "find" of the gang.

Having been informed that one Ambrose Field of Lansdowne, Pa., was protesting that people sent him bills made out to "W. C. Fields, actor," Bill Fields, who is recuperating at Soboba Hot Springs, Cal., sends this word: "I sympathize with Ambrose, but I don't know him. But I do know I have been paying strange bills for years, merely because I keep thinking I may have contracted them late the night before."

John Hay, "Jock" Whitney, millionaire turfman, who is making big time movie production his hobby [and hopes it will become a paying hobby] announces through his local production chief, Merian Cooper, that "Encore," an original story by O. H. P. Garrett and Billy Wilder, has been chosen for one of Whitney's forthcoming all-technicolor films. The first of Whitney's series was "Becky Sharp."

Switzerland, and now is studying at the Art institute. Her older sister, Marguerite, and her husband, Lee Fetcher, are expected from their Cincinnati home soon to spend a few days with the Fosters.

Service Club Tea for Debutantes Today.

Today is a great day for all the debutantes who are not going away to school or college, for they have been invited by the Service club to a tea in the home of Mrs. Harry Ives Robinson on the grounds of the Glen View club. Mrs. Robinson is the mother of Mrs. Frank G. Osborne, president of the Service club.

During the afternoon the young women who may one day become members of the organization will learn all about the work expected of them, and the fun they will have in the show, which will be given on Nov. 2. Rehersals will start early next month in the Polo room at the Ambassador East.

Miss Helen Fulton, daughter of the Frank D. Fultons, is entertaining at luncheon today in the Winnetka home of her parents for Miss Grace Barnum, debutante daughter of the Harry Hyde Barnums of Winnetka. Miss Fulton, who returned with her parents Saturday from a round of tennis tournaments in the east, has invited only debutantes to the luncheon, and for their amusement she has invited a fortune teller.

Mrs. Bent Wins Tennis Tourney.

Mrs. John Peale Bent won the women's tennis championship at the Onwentsia club last Saturday afternoon, defeating her cousin, Miss Jean Schweppe. Leslie Wheeler Jr. is the men's tennis champion at the Lake Forest club, having defeated Louis Hardin.

Mme. Giovanni Cardelli, the former Ruth Lamson, has returned to Chicago from a visit in New York, where she was joined by her son and daughter-in-law, Count and Countess Giovanni Cardelli of London. The young Cardellis have rented a house at North Egremont, Miss., for the winter. The house, called The Terrace, is an attractive old white painted village landmark, built before 1800. Its present owner is Mrs. Joseph R. Lynes.

Mary Ellen Case Arrives Next Monday.

Miss Mary Ellen Case is arriving in Lake Forest next Monday to be the center of a whirl of entertaining, and to provide some entertainment and interest herself at a series of lectures which she will give at Ferry Hall as a benefit for the Druce lake camp. Miss Case, who is known as the author of "Mary Peters" and "Uplands," recently returned from Europe where she just completed another novel, "Silas Crockett." She was given a year's leave of absence from Smith college, where she is a professor, to write the book, and she is taking another year off, beginning this fall, to return to England to write another book.

The first three days of Miss Case's Chicago visit will be spent in the home of Mrs. Arthur W. Cushman in Winnetka, and the rest of the week at the Fortnightly club in Chicago. Mrs. Thomas E. Wells, vice president of the Druce Lake camp, is entertaining members of the board and Miss Case at dinner Monday evening in her Lake Forest home, and the following day Mrs. George W. Blossom will entertain at luncheon for the lecturer and author. Miss Ellen Holt, who is very interested in the camp, will give a luncheon for Miss Case on Thursday, and the Chicago Smith College club will entertain at tea in town Thursday afternoon for the visitor.

Miss Case will give the first lecture at 11 o'clock next Monday, and it will be on "A Critical Symposium of the Literary Year." At the same hour the next day she will speak on "The Reading and the Writing of Fiction" and on Thursday at 11 o'clock she will speak on "The Brontës in the Light of Modern Ideas." Her final lecture at 8:30 o'clock a week from Saturday night, also at Ferry Hall, should prove very amusing, for she will speak on "English Authors at Tea," a subject with which she is familiar after a winter in England.

Katherine Hamill Going to New York.

Miss Katherine Hamill, the daughter of the Robert W. Hamills of Hinsdale, will give up her little house near Cornish, where she has spent the summer, Nov. 1 and go to New York to stay until the end of December. Then she will go south to Ocean Springs, Miss., to join her parents, who have a winter home there.

Miss Frances Hamill returned from England two weeks ago, and the Hamills' other daughter, Mrs. Fifield Workum, and her husband sailed last Saturday from Glasgow and will be at home in New York late this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bernard Kilbourne of 70 Scott street have closed their summer home at Green Lake, Wis., and have returned to the city.

The Parker Bryants, who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Dixon, will remain here until the middle of next month, when they will go to their home in Florida for the winter. Miss Ethel Dixon is in New York.

Friday was moving day for the John E. Wheelers, who have left Lake Forest and have come to town to occupy an apartment at 20 East Goethe street.

The president and the board of directors of the Chicago Smith College club will give a tea for the girls entering Smith college this fall from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Chicago College club. Mrs. E. O. Griffenhagen is president of the club.

Test Vision and Hearing of the "Slow" Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Today's article is for the parents who are distressed because their child is not doing well in one or all of his three R's.

Instead of going unhappily through another year of school with your child—and parents do go through it—why not try to make this year a pleasanter and more successful one? Let us see what can be done about it.

A frequent cause of poor school work, especially in reading, writing, and arithmetic, is poor eyesight or poor hearing. It is almost impossible for a boy or girl to do good work, especially in the lower grades, if he or she can't hear clearly what the teacher or other children say, or cannot see clearly the work on the blackboards, or has to strain to see his own books and written work.

Sometimes these defects are slight and temporary and are outgrown with childhood. Often they can be remedied by a competent physician. One instance is the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

As far as eyes are concerned, the first thought of the average parent and opthalmologist is glasses. While glasses undoubtedly have their place, they are not always the answer. Relaxation in general and special relaxation just for the eyes, plenty of rest, building up the health, overcoming a nervous condition, removing any special physical obstacle to health will often help the vision.

Where the sight or hearing difficulty is not too great, the teacher can help a child by seating him to his advantage in the classroom. Where the trouble is more of a handicap, he should be placed in a sight saving class, or one in which the work is planned definitly for those who are hard of hearing. Children transferred in this way may achieve average or even brilliant results in academic work.

"Mental Hygiene in the Classroom," a booklet of interest to teachers, may be obtained from this department on receipt of fifteen cents and a large envelope.

Dancing One of Major Social Obligations

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In his high school days he was so shy that he used to avoid young people entirely. His friends, consequently, are of his older brothers' and his parents' generations. But there's no young woman among them. His brother is sixteen years older. Now the boy is due for college and he would like to learn the art of sociability with girls of his own generation. When in high school, he tells, he never learned to dance and, consequently, was left out of the usual high school affairs. He wouldn't go to public dances because the girls met there are not likely to interest a serious young man. He likes the theater and movies, and has enough of an allowance to take them in frequently. But it is dances, he finds, in which girls are most interested.

To which we would reply, then, why not learn to dance? For the life of us we cannot understand how any normal young man can set himself against the dancing habit. As a means of getting acquainted it offers the greatest opportunities. We don't mean by attending public dance halls, necessarily. But if word gets around that a young man is a good dancer, he won't lack invitations.

Learn to dance well, not just to get around on the dance floor. Even at the sacrifice of other things, we'd urge young men to spend some money on dance instructions for, as said, it is the social art that gets a young man places in a girl's esteem. It's not right to expect young women with tingling feet, which most of the attractive ones have, to sit out while others dance.

More important, however, it gives a certain confidence and poise and bearing that serves a young man well in any social life. If one is shy by nature, but a skilled dancer, his troubles are minimized. He'll get encouragement from the girls and, presently, his shyness will be past history.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

Two piece dresses are greatly favored for school wear, and since either part may be worn separately, this pattern gives variety to the wardrobe. For instance, sweaters are perfect to wear with the skirt, and this blouse will look chic with a black woolen or velveteen skirt. The original dress was made of a wine red rabbit's hair woolen. The buttonholes on the blouse should be bound.

The pattern, No. 3023, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Bare Home Needs Furniture.

Miss D., a caseworker, writes for assistance: "The X. family were typical depression derelicts when they came to us for help. Mr. X. has been a steel worker, but was out of work for 5 years. Five children, ranging in age from 6 years to 6 months, had taken all Mrs. X.'s ingenuity and Mr. X.'s spasmodic income to feed and clothe. They lived in the cheapest, dark basement flat, and their furniture was in pieces. We have been able to move them into brighter quarters, and the children are now recovering from various ailments, but furniture still is a problem. They also can use women's clothing, size 34 to 36; children's, infancy to 8 years, and men's apparel, size 42."

Radenkovitch Water Colors Magnificent

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A striking exhibition of water colors by Yovan Radenkovitch is the first notice given by the Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building, that another season has started. The water colors make a magnificent sweep of turbulent contrasting color. The technique is modern and an intelligible modern, sincere, and carrying conviction.

Radenkovitch is a young painter who has been living the last ten years in Paris, where he claims as a close friend the artist Segonzac. He has exhibited in New York successfully and is represented in the Metropolitan museum, the Brooklyn museum, and as far west as San Francisco. His is an attractive personality, earnest and eager. He talks as he paints, broadly, generously, and colorfully.

Many of the water colors were painted in Dalmatia, but among the most fascinating is a little sketch done near Buckingham palace. It is called "Twilight, England." Two feathery white trees, a daring note, stand in beauty against a darkening sky before a running stream. Mr. Radenkovitch was a reporter in London and begged to be allowed to sketch in the grounds of Buckingham palace when he was there on other business. "Just a tiny sketch," he begged—and this is the answer, a delicious bit of sentiment.

A richly turbulent blue characterizes the fine marine "Windy Day." There is something of Winslow Homer in the force of the waves and the vigorous upflinging of the brown rock that repels their attack. The gorgeous "Spring Road" is a little reminiscent of Segonzac. It is impulsive and impressionistic, a broad, rich, virile landscape. "Carmel" is a pattern in green and dwarfs in significance beside either of those others.

The only still life in the group is one beautiful in line and composition, with a delicious color effect in the bowl of flowers that centers it. It is a choice piece of decoration, fantastically perfect in its appeal.

Two Marriages Announced by Movie Personalities

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Kay Sutton, actress, and Eddie Cronjager, well known cameraman; and John Warburton, English born actor, and Mrs. Lucille Morrison, socially prominent friend of many film personalities, today announced their marriages.

According to CULBERTSON

UNBLOCKING.

All good bridge players know the value of entries, cards by which a player wins a trick and can lead to the next trick.

In the organization of the pasteboard armies there is a group of plays of which the object is exactly the same as with engineering corps in the regular armies. These plays are called "communication plays" because their purpose is to build or maintain entries in partnership hands.

There are four principal arteries or lines of communication between partnership hands, one for each suit. The player often can create an entry into his partner's hand by unblocking, which consists in playing an unnecessarily high card in order to win a trick with a lower ranking card of the suit, in the hand where the entry is desired.

NORTH

WEST

EAST

SOUTH
♦ A-K-Q-3

The other cards held by the four players are not important, since we are discussing only the diamond suit shown above. The bid is no trump. South leads the ace, king, and queen of diamonds. If on these North follows with the 2, 5, and 6, North retains the diamond 7 and South the 3. East and West have no more. When South leads the 3, North wins it with the 7, and obtains the right to lead.

Suppose South wants to keep the lead himself after all the diamonds have been played. In that case North plays the 5, 6, and 7 of diamonds on the ace, king, and queen. Now North has the deuce and South the three. The three will win the fourth round of diamonds and South still will be in the lead.

Before beginning to play a suit of this type, the declarer should stop and ask himself: "Where do I want the lead to remain after the suit has been played out?" There are several reasons for wanting a certain hand to have the lead. The most common reason is that when one player holds high cards, such as A-Q, K-J, etc., known as tenace positions, that suit should be led by his partner and not by himself.

The Right Spot.

In most cases it is better to contract for a slam in a suit than in no trump. When twelve or thirteen tricks are required, high cards alone usually are not enough. With a trump suit a trick may be added by trumping a losing card.

♥ A-K-3
♦ K-10-5
♣ A-9-7-6-2

WEST
♠ Q-8-5-4-3
♥ 5-2
♦ Q-9-8-7
♣ 10-4

EAST
♠ 10-9-2
♥ 9-7-4
♦ J-3-2
♣ J-8-5-3

SOUTH
♠ A-K-J
♥ Q-J-10-8-6
♦ A-6-4
♣ K-Q

The bidding [neither side vulnerable]:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
1 Cl.	Pass	2 Ht.	Pass
3 Ht.	Pass	3 Sp.	Pass
3 N. T.	Pass	4 Cl.	Pass
4 N. T.	Pass	7 Ht. [Final bid]

West opened: club 10.

South, convinced that a slam could be made, bid cleverly to find out about the ace and king of hearts. Without the latter a grand slam could not be bid. Finally he heard North bid four no trump, which is a conventional slam try showing two aces and the king of a bid suit. Three suits had been bid and South had the king of two of them. He could, therefore, contract for seven immediately. West opened a club, and after South took the ace of trumps he cashed the top spades and ruffed the spade jack with dummy's king of hearts. Then he drew trumps, claiming the balance. At no trump, the spade ruff, which was the decisive trick, could not have been made.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

QUESTION—What is the weakest suit you can bid?

ANSWER—An opening bid may be made in as weak a suit as Q-J-x-x if the hand contains three honor tricks or more. This is a minimum biddable suit. The suit, if only four cards in length, must be headed by two cards higher than the tenspot; A-10-x-x is technically not strong enough.

Expert on Mental Hygiene Urges More Care for Normal Child

Parents must be careful about the "patterns" they make for their children, Dr. Frances Gaw of Seattle, Wash., said yesterday in an interview at the Edgewater Beach hotel. A member of the board of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Dr. Gaw is in the city to attend the board sessions today and tomorrow at the north side hotel.

Dr. Gaw is one of the country's leading students and teachers of mental hygiene. It was indicated that she will direct a course in this subject this year for the Congress of Parents and Teachers. She believes that it is just as necessary to give attention to the mental status of the normal as the subnormal child.

Special committee meetings and a dinner last night preceded the board sessions today, which will be presided over by Mrs. Benjamin F. Langworthy of Winnetka. Policies of the organization, which claims a membership of two million, will come up for discussion. Other out of town members here for the meetings include Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith of Austin, Tex.; Mrs. A. B. Shuttleworth of Denver, Colo.; Dr. A. F. Harman of Montevallo, Ala.; Mrs. C. H. Thorpe of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. M. P. Summers of Sioux City, Ia.

The 8th WOMAN ... her advantage over others
THERE used to be eight million sufferers every month. Today, a million women escape this regular martyrdom to pain. So, why be miserable—or even uncomfortable? Be that eighth woman who lets Midol carry her serenely through those difficult days!
Midol is a tiny tablet, white and tasteless, and quite safe for anyone to take. A merciful medicine which specialists recommend for this very purpose. It is not a narcotic.
Must you favor yourself, and save yourself, certain days of every month? Nature doesn't keep the woman who uses Midol off the links—or from all the other strenuous activities. It means freedom!
This truly remarkable medicine is taken any time, preferably just before the expected pain. This precaution often avoids the pain altogether. But Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It is effective for hours, so two tablets should carry you through your worst day.
Remember, the smallest degree of relief you might get from Midol means a great deal to your comfort.
You get these tablets in a trim little aluminum case. All druggists have them—they're usually right out on the toilet goods counter. If you are now a periodic sufferer, why not become that eighth woman who escapes this recurring pain and discomfort? Address a card, now, to Midol, 170 Varick St., New York, and receive a trial box postpaid.

Shorter Skirts for Daytime Require Slim Leg Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Your day time skirts up to 14 inches if you have good legs."

That's the fashion note for fall and winter!

"If you have good legs!" Remember!

If you haven't them, why not beg, steal, or borrow 'em from some good leg exercise program? Or by putting yourself in the hands of a good masseuse? Or, taking yourself off daily to one of those gyms that will concentrate massage work on the beefy parts? They're good, believe me. Worth the money you spend. An inch or two rolled and massaged off the leg girth is going to make a big difference in your 14 inch skirt length qualification.

But, of course, if you haven't the money to spend on the recommended massage service, you're still not out of luck. You can plane down that leg and ankle girth with exercise. I have seen it done. I know it can be done, but not in jiffy. If ever you needed will power, you're going to need it when you tackle the leg and ankle thickness.

I find that with a good many women dieting doesn't help the legs at all. The fat on the leg and ankle is too solid. Too set. Sometimes, it is true, the general weight reduction will slim the legs down perceptibly. But, as said, more often it won't. It seem that these pedal extremities call for special exercise work.

I'd better give you a little idea of good leg and ankle measurements. The following were taken from an average of over 1,000 perfect figure measurements, and apply to a person around five feet six inches, and weighing around 135 pounds, which is an average weight and a good weight for five feet six inches.

Thigh—20 inches.
Knee—14 inches.
Calf—13¼ inches.
Ankle—8 inches.

Here's a grand exercise for reducing leg and ankle: Raise the right leg backward by bending knee, grasp the ankle with right hand and hop ten times on the left foot. Then reverse, holding left leg with left hand and hopping on other foot. But keep on hopping and hopping.

And here's another good one. Stand erectly with hands on hips. Advance one foot, rise on tiptoes, and rock back and forth ten times. Advance other foot and repeat the rocking performances. Do these two exercises time and time again, morning and night and every day, including Sundays and holidays, and you can't help but get the leg and ankle silhouette slimmed down.

MILLION LIGHTS
burned late last night

BETWEEN Maine and California last night, farm families sat down with their copies of the October FARM JOURNAL—one million one hundred thousand of them. Instantly, they saw something different. They found a new partner in an old friend. They found more helpfulness in the pages of this old farm magazine which has held their confidence and loyalty these many years. They were unexpectedly nearer to their business, their neighbors, Washington, and the world as it affects them.

Not until 2:00 a.m. Thursday, September 12th, did the October issue of FARM JOURNAL go to press. All day Tuesday and well into Wednesday, reporters in every farming section were wiring last-minute crop reports and farming news. The wires hummed from FARM JOURNAL'S Washington office. Then to press—faster than any national, monthly magazine. Last night, four days later, farming America was deep in its pages.

Because it intensifies the reading habits of this major market, FARM JOURNAL has a vast advertising significance today.

FARM JOURNAL is written for the useful, productive American farmer, regardless of his geographic location. It serves the dairy farmer of New York as well as the citrus grower of California—the Iowa corn farmer as well as the Georgia peach grower. It goes where the farmer uses ideas and machinery, where the farmer's wife has ambitions and a family.

Now, FARM JOURNAL is the only national farm magazine to deliver immediate, world-wide farm information and news service to better farm families everywhere.

FARM JOURNAL has become even more national to protect and further the welfare of today's more nationally-conscious farmer—even more rural becomes this R. F. D. farm family's friend and adviser.

No advertiser can truly cover the American farm market without using the pages of FARM JOURNAL. Our short closing date—six days—makes it the advertiser's only medium for last-minute announcements and current price changes. New speed and versatility make it the most active and timely farm medium in which your advertisements can appear. Continued insistence on national R. F. D. circulation makes it the one medium through which you can reach those farmers who are earning money and spending money.

Rural Sales Up 22.5%

A Billion Dollar Increase in Farm Income

SPENDABLE farm income will increase a billion dollars this year—equal to the entire 1934 net income of 413 leading industrial corporations.

Yes, the farmer has money to spend—more than any single income group in America.

He is spending it today. Rural sales to date are up 22.5% over 1934. Leading mail order houses report largest August in five years. Farmers' purchases are mainly responsible for 1935 industrial gains. Farm equipment business is 100% above 1934. Automobile sales are the best since 1929. Chevrolet has just announced an all-time August sales peak of 99,018 cars and trucks—due in a large measure to farm buying.

Gains in retail trade are particularly significant. These reflect the mobile character of the farm market. The farmer is on wheels. He buys where he likes. No manufacturer need worry about carrying merchandise to the farmer. If he wants your brand he will get it.

He is a powerful influence in determining brand purchases by retailers at cross roads, in villages, in towns, and in cities. He is just as definite in his preferences as his city brother. He buys the brands he knows. If you have a product for sale, tell him about it. The time was never better.

BAER IS JUST A BOY WHISTLING IN THE DARK

Ex-Champ Worrying Over Louis.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Speculator, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Max Baer, deserted by manager and wife, had plenty of time today to reflect on the possible outcome of his 15 round scrap a week from tomorrow night with Joe Louis in the Yankee stadium. He did not work in the ring today. Ancil Hoffman, Baer's manager, left camp last night for New York accompanied by Mary Ellen Sullivan Baer, the ex-champion's bride of a few weeks.

Hoffman's exodus supposedly was due to concern over the crash of the bleachers yesterday afternoon, which resulted in injury to a score of spectators. Nineteen of these, according to camp grapevine, already have arranged to ask for damages and the question is, "Who is responsible?"

Past Looms Up In Future.

Jerry Casale, presumably an employé of Hoffman, signed the lease for use of the arena. Apparently Casale can be sued, but except for a small piece of property in New Jersey, he is without funds. Casale is a mighty worried gent, however. So is Baer, who has information that another of his lady friends from his Broadway play days is figuring on ways and means to attach some of the money Maxie will earn in the Louis bout.

Baer is worried. Moreover he's superstitious. A gypsy accosted him this morning in the barber shop. He offered to tell Max whether or not he would whip Louis, but Baer told him to come back in 20 minutes, then ordered his car to the door and fled to the seclusion of his Olmstead camp on Sacandaga lake.

Izzy Has an Idea.

The situation is an enigma. Although many believe Baer will be even in the betting by fight time [he's now quoted on the short end of 7-5], there is no basis for confident support of the man who tossed away his heavyweight championship last June in 15 negligent rounds against Jim Braddock. Baer, according to consensus of those who have been here since he opened training, has been in and out as far as his attack is concerned. At times he has seemed to regain the power and accuracy which leveled Primo Carnera and King Levinsky while again, noticeably yesterday, he was a novice in efforts to escape George Turner's fists.

Izzy Kline, Chicago Golden Gloves trainer, who is in charge of Baer's conditioning, told us he expects Baer to take punishment from Louis in the early rounds, but that he should come through by outpunching the colored boxer. This, of course, is prophecy of victory, but not encouraging to the man who must take a licking in order to deal out a more complete licking to his rival.

Baer Talks Up Confidence.

Baer himself repeats with pleasure the several arguments that bolster confidence. He chatted today of Louis' inexperience and mentioned the fact that none of Louis' 24 opponents has tested Joe's ability to take a solid punch. Baer likes to reflect on the yarn out of Chicago that Louis was knocked out in Trafton's gymnasium by a spar mate. This, somehow, means to Baer that he will knock out Louis eight days from now.

Incidentally, Louis was knocked down for at least a short count in that Chicago training episode, but there is no particular reason why this should prove beyond doubt that the Louis chin is brittle. For one important item, Baer must find the range and the world knows he could not get at Braddock in 15 rounds.

Whistling in Dark?

"Baer reminds me of a boy whistling in the dark to keep up his courage," Sec Taylor, sports editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, remarked after today's interview.

This observation may be a trifle partial to Louis' cause, but the truth

LITTLE AND JONES.

WHILE the Cubs were astonishing the baseball world with their drive toward the pennant, Lawson Little, Stanford collegian, was setting a golf record never before accomplished of acquiring two American and two British amateur championships in consecutive years.

It is therefore popular to hail the stalwart Californian as a successor to Bobby Jones, than whom there was no whomer, and many thought there never would be. The Wake is not quite ready to go that far—yet. Little may be just that, but he has not been up in the championship flight long enough to have answered all questions.

Granted that the strain of match play is more severe than that of medal play, as so many assert, an open tournament provides even more conclusive tests. In open tournament play, against professionals, Jones was at his best.

Note if you will that in the period from 1924 to 1930, inclusive, the Atlantan was five times champion and once runner-up in seven amateur title competitions. From 1922 to 1930, nine competitions in the open event, Jones was four times champion, twice lost in a play-off tie, and two other times was second.

During the same period Bobby was three times British open champion and once British amateur champion, the latter in 1930, when he made the so-called "grand slam" by taking both American and British amateur and open tourneys the same year.

That's a pretty sweet record at which to shoot. If he has time and means to continue championship matches, young Mr. Little may do equally well. His amateur prowess is established. Those pros are a skilful lot and becoming stronger in numbers each year with first flight skill.

Allison in Tennis.

After having received from Great Britain the worst defeat in Davis cup play since Australia registered a whitewash in 1911, what consolation can Americans derive from Wilmer Allison's triumph over Fred Perry, world ace, which saved the United States singles title last week?

Allison's victory was clouded by the fact the Briton took a hard fall on the court in the last game of the first set, losing in straight sets thereafter. Perry was sportsman enough not to advance that fact as an alibi. Experts present said none could have beaten Allison the way he was playing that day. However, the incident detracted somewhat from Allison's victory just as Helen Wills Moody's default to Helen Jacobs two years ago minimized to a certain extent the triumph heading Miss Jacobs' way at the time of the default.

One cannot forecast future Davis cup results from this match. Allison, a veteran, was at his best in our national event. Perry may or may not remain an amateur, with alluring pro offers dangling, now that he is married. America's chance to recover the international trophy, lost since 1926, is still ephemeral.

APPLING, JONES LEAD SOX TO 9-1 TRIUMPH

Near Fourth Place with Victory Over Senators.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Please, neighbors, take a few minutes from your contemplation of the Cubs and be advised that the White Sox, the Chicago entry in the American league, this afternoon defeated the Washington Senators, 9 to 1, in a great display of power, skill, courage, and stamina.

Luke Appling, one of the flowers in Jimmy Dykes' bouquet, who insists he is not a morning glory, made five hits in five times at bat to help Sam Jones win his seventh victory of the year and his second of the current bleak pilgrimage. Sam was some help to himself, too, seeing as he allowed only four hits, all singles. Two of them came in the sixth to account for the only Washington run.

Approach World's Record.

In accomplishing their impressive triumph, the Sox approached a world's record. Not a putout was made in the outfield. The record, of course, is nothing, but is held by three teams, including the Sox, who have gone 10 innings without a putout by an outfielder.

Appling started his big day by clearing loaded bases with a double in the first inning, then followed with four line singles. He scored after his fourth hit and drove in the last two Chicago runs with his No. 5 smack.

The day's doings lifted the Chicagoans to within a half game of the first division, which still is the goal of the non-shufflers on the team. And the decisive showing today also revived hopes of finishing third, a position from which the Sox are but two games removed. The Indians, occupants of third, are next on the Sox calendar.

Luke Has Range.

The setting for Appling's base clearing shot in the first inning was prepared thuswise: Radcliff walked, paused while Simmons fouled to Kuhel and went to third on Hayes' single to left. Bonura was grazed by one of Hadley's pitches and the bases were filled. Then Appling lined a double to the right field corner, scoring Radcliff, Hayes, and Bonura. Miles came in for Washington's fly and Hadley tossed out Hopkins.

Dykes' boys got a couple of runners on base in the third for the second threat of the contest, but a couple of strike outs slowed up the works. With one out Appling singled to right for his second and the Sox fourth hit and Washington reached first by the reliable process of getting hit in the seat of his bloomers. Hopkins whiffed and Sewell became a strike out victim for the second time in two innings.

One More for Sox.

Hadley fanned Jones, Radcliff, and Simmons in the fourth inning to record five strikeouts in a row, but he eased up in the fifth and the Sox

O'Mahoney Is Victor Again Over Savoldi

The bout, windup event of a wrestling show which ushered in the indoor season at Chicago Stadium, came to an end after 32 minutes 36 seconds when O'Mahoney scored a fall with a flying body scissors.

The result was highly satisfactory to the crowd of 7,242 who paid $13,666 to see the spectacle.

The victory was the second Danno has recorded over Savoldi in the last month. It was his sixtieth successive triumph since he made his debut in this country Jan. 4. The string includes his title conquest of the former champion, Jim Londos.

O'Mahoney, who weighed 220 pounds, sixteen more than Joe, sought permission to go on earlier than 10 p. m. because he said he "had to catch a train." When the Illinois athletic commission countered by ordering all ticket selling halted at 9:30 in that case, the champion's handlers changed their plans and Danno wrestled on schedule.

Midway in the match Savoldi attempted to drop O'Mahoney over the ropes. As O'Mahoney headed for the tile flooring the referee grabbed his ankles and pulled him back into the ring. Savoldi didn't pay much attention to this apparent favoritism. Later, when Joe had the champion's shoulders on the mat, the referee warned the champion: "Watch your shoulders; watch your shoulders." Savoldi's finish was foreseen and accomplished—immediately.

The time was 12:22.

Jim McMillen, Antioch, Ill., 210 pounds, threw Frank Bronowicz, Poland, 214 pounds, with a reverse body slam in the second match, in 23 minutes and 9 seconds.

Pete Mehringer of Chicago, and Rusty Wescoatt, Honolulu, wrestled 30 minutes to a draw. Chief Little Wolf, an Indian from Trinidad, Col., threw Emil Dusek, Omaha, in 16:25 with an Indian deadlock.

P. Dean Beats Dodgers, 1-0, in Pitching Duel

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The second place St. Louis Cardinals, coming back after losing three straight to the Giants, held their ground in the National league pennant race today as they defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 1 to 0 in a mound duel between Paul Dean and Van Mungo.

The Cardinals remained within two games of the pace setting Chicago Cubs but increased their margin over the third place Giants to two and one-half games.

Dean, making his first appearance on the mound in six days, blanked the Dodgers with six hits while striking out six and issuing only one base on balls. Mungo went the St. Louis player one better in the matter of hits and strikeouts, allowing only five hits and fanning seven, but he handed out four free tickets.

Three of the Cards' hits came in the first inning, however, when they scored the only run of the game. Terry Moore's single, Rothrock's sacrifice, and Frankie Frisch's single produced the run. Jimmy Collins followed with another single after Medwick had fouled out and Delancey drew the first base on balls from Mungo, loading the bases, but Martin failed to come through.

Each side threatened once more to score, but failed. The Cardinals filled the bases in the seventh and the Dodgers duplicated the effort in the ninth. Score:

The Pennant Race

The Cubs now are in a position where by winning half their ten remaining games they may become National league champions. If the Cubs win 5 while losing 5 the Cardinals, to tie them, must win 9 out of 14. The Giants, to tie, need 13 against 4 defeats.

If the Cubs should win only 5 of their last 10, the Cards should win 10 of 14, and the Giants win 14 of 17 the final standing would be:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
St. Louis	98	56	.636
New York	98	56	.636
Chicago	97	57	.630

If the Cards break even in their 14 games the Cubs would need only 4 out of ten to be ahead of St. Louis at the finish. On the same 4 out of 10 basis for the Cubs, the Giants to beat them out would have to win 13 while losing 4.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The rollicking Cubs can almost hear the jingle of the world series coin and the flapping of the pennant. They surged forward again yesterday, this time to the thirteenth straight victory in their triumphant march. They not only whipped but crushed the contending third place Giants in the opening game of the series, leaving the New Yorkers rocking on their heels and pawing at their own pennant hope, which now is 4½ games away. The score was 8 to 3 and it was dramatically compiled before 29,740 spectators.

The Cubs remained two games ahead of the second place St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated Brooklyn, 1 to 0.

Cubs Break Out in Fourth.

It was one of those time honored Cubs-Giants struggles only for a limited time. Manager Charley Grimm's young Bears went tearing away to a one run lead at the start. The presence of Lon Warneke, a Giant tamer of consequence, made this run loom large. But the enemy suddenly broke forth with two runs in the second. Not long after that there was a crash. The Cubs started pounding the ball in the fourth, Dick Bartell cut in with a decisive error, and when the wild inning closed six men were across the plate. The fight was over.

To carry on their victory march the Cubs had to step cruelly on a freshman from Baltimore, one Harry Gumbert, who was making his first start as a Giant. They slapped him around with three hits in the first inning, but he righted himself and was untouchable in the second and third. But the turbulent fourth got under way with three hits, whereupon Bartell, with a wild throw, heaped more trouble on the youngster. More hits followed and away he went, making room for Frank Gabler, who surrendered the sixth hit of the inning, after which the firing ceased.

Galan Hits Two Doubles.

Gallant Augie Galan rammed two doubles into space, both worth runs in the first and fourth.

Warneke helped his own cause with a single which drove in two mates while the panic was on in the fourth.

And Phil Cavarretta, after a single

HIS BABY NEEDS SHOES; SO DOES HE; THEY GET 'EM

Gripping Tale of a Horse, a Hat, and Hawthorne.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Al Horton, young trainer of race horses from Aurora, was stall walking not long after daybreak on the back stretch at Hawthorne yesterday morning. He was so nervous he could not stand still.

This party visited one stable after another. Finally it reached the barn paced by the nervous sentinel, Mr. Horton.

O, the Pity of It.

"Brothers, my baby needs a new pair of shoes," he told them.

He explained that his 3 year old filly, Myrtle Brooks, was to start in the third race yesterday afternoon and that she had no shoes to wear.

A bit bashfully he revealed to them that there was a "horseshoeing" bill of $56 that was already aged three years and if it wasn't paid before the race, Myrtle Brooks would go into the contest as barefooted as she was on the morning she was foaled.

"I've got $20," he told them. "If you gentlemen have $36 concealed any place and would come up with it, I'll buy Myrtle a new pair of shoes and you will win the bet of your lives."

President Sabath passed the hat. Soon $36 had been collected. The blacksmith was paid his back bill and Myrtle Brooks got a new pair of shoes.

Hey, Mr. Alger! She Won!

Came the race. Twelve of the cheapest platers at the track paraded to the post and Myrtle Brooks, wearing her bright new shoes, stepped out with them. She was away sixth. She wheeled into the stretch in second place, a length behind Prince Sulieman, and she was a neck in front charging past the judges.

Myrtle Brooks, a daughter of Cotlogomor-Hattie Willdo, will have another new pair of shoes this morning and another pair of nice shiny ones tomorrow for she paid $63.60 to win, $31.40 to place, and $22 to show.

Trainer Horton also bought himself a new pair. Brown brogans, they were.

Dan Hanley, Former Rockne Star, to Coach De Paul

Dan Hanley, former Notre Dame full back, yesterday was engaged as back field coach at De Paul university. Hanley played on the 1930 team, the last coached by the late Knute Rockne. He dropped out of school, but returned and finished his career last season.

WELL, IT BEATS WORKING

Jamboree and Frolic Head District Golf Card Tomorrow

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Two of the Chicago district's leading invitational tournaments—the Flossmoor Frolic and the Exmoor Jamboree—will head tomorrow's golf program. In the Exmoor event three north shore courses will be called upon to accommodate those in the large field who wish to play thirty-six holes. Actual play for prizes, all over the eighteen hole route, will take place on the Exmoor layout, while those wishing to get in another eighteen may do so either at Bob o' Link or Knollwood, both of which have opened their courses for the overflow.

The prize list for the eighteen at Exmoor calls for awards for first, second, and third low net for eighteen, first and second for each nine, low net foursome, low net twosome [host and guest], low net foursomes on each nine, and blind bogey.

Chairman Harold O. McLain of the Frolic committee announces a program of nineteen events for the south side club's tourney, with twenty-four prizes attached. Two of these are for first and second low gross at thirty-six holes, with eighteen hole low net prizes for both morning and afternoon play, and two low net foursome awards.

"Admiral" Bill Dewey will be honored by members of the Bob o' Link club in a special tournament to be held on the north side course Thursday. The Chicago District Golf association will hold one of its final one day handicap tournaments at Park Ridge on Thursday also, and Friday's schedule will be headed by the wind-up day of the West District Golf league at Medinah. Officers of the Chicago District Golf association and Norman Freer, president of the Western Golf association, are expected to attend.

Professionals who qualified for the national tournament opening at Oklahoma City on Oct. 17 will receive a test in the Indianapolis open sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will be held on the course of the Highland Golf and Country club Oct. 3, 4, 5, and 6. The purse is $5,500. Entry of the entire British Ryder cup team is assured, and Walter Hagen, captain of the American team, has promised its entry.

The North Shore Golf league will hold its final get-together day tomorrow at Westmoreland, Ray Matson announced last night. A big prize list has been set up for the field, which will play for individual prizes rather than the team awards used during the regular season. The tournament will be followed by a dinner at which officers will be elected for next season and the trophy presented to Sunset Ridge, this year's winner.

Westmoor Country club will hold its annual homecoming stag tomorrow. A program of entertainment following the morning and afternoon of golf has been arranged by Ralph Jacobs, chairman, and Joseph J. Klein, co-chairman of the entertainment committee. The stag is the feature event of the year at Westmoor.

BALDING HURT; POSTPONE FINAL U. S. POLO MATCH

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—The final match of the national polo tournament scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed until Saturday following an injury to Gerald Balding, No. 3 on the Greentree team. The match is to be played at International Field, Meadow Brook.

Balding suffered a slight concussion when thrown heavily from his pony during the match in which Greentree defeated the 1934 champion Templeton team at Meadow Brook yesterday. Balding finished the match after a short rest and helped score the upset victory.

Doctors examined Balding after the match and ordered complete rest for two or three days, but said he probably would be in condition to play on Saturday. Balding is a former British internationalist, but makes his home in this country. He is rated at eight goals.

CRIPPLED BEARS FACE PACKERS IN OPENER SUNDAY

8 Members of Squad on Hospital List.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

George Halas, coach and owner of the Chicago Bears, returned from a scouting trip to Green Bay yesterday to find eight members of his squad under the care of the club physician. The physician's report and his own observation at Green Bay, where he saw the Cardinals defeat the Packers, 7 to 6, left Halas greatly upset. The Bears open their season at Green Bay Sunday.

The cripples worried Halas mostly. Five men were hurt, all of them too seriously to make certain their availability at Green Bay, in the exhibition at Kenosha, Wis., Sunday. Bernie Masterson, regular quarter back, suffered a severe thigh bruise. Bob Dunlap, Masterson's relief, wrenched an ankle and was unable to report for practice yesterday. Reds Pollock, the highly regarded rookie half back, received a shoulder injury which left his arm paralyzed. Ben Franklin, reserve full back, received a leg injury and Ray Richards, veteran guard, was unable to walk because of a similar complaint.

Nagurski Still Out.

Johnny Sisk, half back, and Damon Wetzel, full back, were injured a week ago at La Crosse, Wis., and Bronko Nagurski has not recovered from an operation and early season injury.

This leaves Halas with only Jack Manders for full back in the game with Green Bay and makes it necessary to move George Corbett, veteran half back, up to quarter back to relieve Masterson, or start the game if the husky Nebraskan does not recover.

Peterson Helps Attack.

The Cardinals made 12 first downs to Green Bay's six and piled up a total of 199 yards to 88 for the Packers. They made 121 yards on running plays, Russell getting 58 in 14 attempts, and Peterson 56 in 17.

LADDIE TONELLI GETS DECISION OVER WEINERT

Laddie Tonelli, weighing 145, of Marseilles, won the ten round decision over Puggy Weinert, 147½, at the Marigold Gardens last night. Weinert was on top of his man throughout, but Tonelli's left hooks scored more effectively than the two fisted attack of his opponent. The action was fast from the fourth round on. Other results:

Al Nettlow, International Golden Gloves champion, beat Jimmy Richards [4].

Johnny Campbell beat Bobby O'Dowd [4].

Harold Brown knocked out Carl Adams [1].

Quick, the Helmets! Maroon Linemen Drill on Blocking

Helmets, shimmels and pads sprouted on the Midway practice field for the first time yesterday as candidates for the Maroon line were given their initial taste of contact work. Judge Robert [Duke] Dunne, new line coach, in the rôle of an amiable Simon Legree, sent 20 husky forwards grinding against each other during an afternoon of blocking practice. Back field men continued to drill on formations.

A momentary scare enlivened the morning routine when Jay Berwanger came up limping after having stepped on the heel of one of his interferers, Warren Skoning, on the last play of the workout. No ankle sprain developed, however, and Jay sprinted through the afternoon exercises with his customary alacrity.

BRADLEY SHINES AT ILLINOIS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Ken Bradley, reserve Illinois half back last season, sprang into prominence today as a possibility for quarter back, as the second week of practice opened. Bradley, who won his letter at DePauw, failed to obtain any competition last season but is considerably improved and is being considered as an understudy to Wib Henry, leading candidate for quarter back.

Bill Charle, squadman several years ago, is another back who is receiving consideration. Today's practice consisted largely of punting and passing with a number of candidates absent on account of registration.

NOTRE DAME BACKS DRILL.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Notre Dame coaches went to work today ironing out mistakes which cropped up in Saturday's scrimmage. Most of their time in this respect was devoted to the backs, who rehersed plays in both morning and afternoon drills.

The lines of the various teams showed up well on defensive Saturday, Coach Elmer Layden explained, because they knew exactly the few plays to which each quarter back was limited. Blocking and tackling constituted the bulk of line practice.

Harvey Becker, who is being groomed for right guard, rejoined the squad today after several days' absence caused by a sinus infection. Larry Danbom, junior half back, was moved to that position after a trial at tackle.

MICHIGAN TAKES IT EASY.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—A bruised lot of Michigan football players ran through plays during most of two practice sessions here today. The backs, several of whom are injured, did a minimum of strenuous work, but the linemen, still in need of additional speed, scrimmaged again.

BADGERS WORK ON DEFENSE.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Defensive play was stressed as the University of Wisconsin football squad opened its second week of practice today. Although the Badgers' offensive is far from what it should be, Coach Spears is more concerned right now with strengthening the defense, as a result of the trouble the reserves, many of them sophomores, gave the veteran varsity line Saturday in scrimmage.

Allen Mahnke, first string end, will be kept out of scrimmage for several days because of minor injuries. Bobby Neubauer, who was injured in scrimmage last Friday, returned to the first team this afternoon to run at half back with Clarence Tommerson in place of Gene Zinser and Johnny Wilson, both sophomores. Bill Parrott, quarter back, who had been out several days with injuries, also scrimmaged again this afternoon.

SLEIGHT HELPS PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Purdue's coaching staf was given some unexpected assistance today in developing tackles as Elmer [Red] Sleight, All-American tackle on the undefeated championship eleven of 1929, returned to school for a visit.

Sleight arrived as a spectator and was promptly pressed into service.

HENDERSON JOINS N. U. SQUAD; TOTH LEADS PUNTERS

Waldorf Orders Opening Scrimmage Tomorrow.

Northwestern's football team opened the second week of practice yesterday by going through a varied program, including an intensive kicking drill, a long passing session, and work on blocking by both backs and linemen. Both morning and afternoon workouts were topped off with long signal drills.

Bill Henderson, regular end last year, donned a uniform for the first time. He suffered a broken ankle a month ago. He is expected to be ready to take over his position in the lineup in another week.

Six backs got an opportunity to test their kicking ability under dummy scrimmage conditions. Steve Toth, who was one of the best punters in the conference last year, demonstrated that he is still good. Most of his attempts soared fifty yards or more.

After a week devoted largely to fundamentals and the learning of plays, Coach Lynn Waldorf is satisfied that the squad is ready for actual scrimmage. The first scrimmage under game conditions is slated for tomorrow afternoon.

INDIANA STRESSES PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Renewed work on forward passing and blocking kept the Indiana university football squad busy in a hard drill this afternoon. Coach McMillin liked the play of Eddie Antonini and Vincent Schaefer in intercepting passes, but expressed disappointment in the blocking shown in a pass scrimmage.

1,500 Preps Open Football Drill in City League

Fifteen hundred candidates, one of the largest turnouts in the history of the Chicago Public High School Football league opened a 12 day practice period yesterday in preparation for the opening of the league season Sept. 28.

Kelly High school will make its first appearance in the race. Francis D. Hansen will coach the central section eleven.

The opening of the season calls for 12 games, three in each section. The five remaining teams will engage in practice games. Senn and Loyola will meet in their annual pre-season game at Loyola stadium.

A league ruling which forbids practice games two weeks before the opening of the season, will handicap many coaches in conditioning their squads. This rule was put into effect last year to cut down the number of injuries sustained during practice games.

The football committee composed of Ernie Wills [Marshall], chairman; Ben Mosby [Phillips], Floyd Brown [Lane], Charles Harvey [Tilden], and Doug Fessenden [formerly of Fenger, now head coach at the University of Montana] made a few sectional changes. Bowen and Harper were moved to the south section, with Phillips of the south division and Harrison of the west taking their places.

Summer Burglar Gets $135 Haul at Crisler Home

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Herbert O. [Fritz] Crisler, head foot ball coach at Princeton, reported to police today some one had broken into his home and stolen $135 in old coins, jewelry, and clothes. The robbery took place some time during the summer vacation. Crisler came home yesterday.

BOWLING LEAGUE MEETS.

The Church A. A. of Chicago bowling league will meet tonight at Pioneer alleys, 1545 North Crawford avenue.

Went to post at 2:21½. At post 3½ minutes. Start good for all except Magenta from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

OVERSHOES, away fast, took an easy lead before reaching the turn, rapidly increased his advantage when approaching the stretch and, continuing well, dominated thereafter. FULL UP, taken to outside on the turn, lost much ground entering stretch and closed well under strong riding. INFINITY, also forced to lose some ground, was under vigorous riding the final five-sixteenths and held on fairly well.

MYRTLE BROOKS, in close quarters early, began to improve her position after going to outside on stretch turn and, after getting up in final eighth, withstood TECHNOCRACY'S challenge. Latter, taken back repeatedly while saving ground the first half mile and slightly impeded soon after reaching the start, finished fast when clear. PRINCE SULIEMAN displayed the most speed from the start, swerved out slightly in stretch and weakened in last sixteenth.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25. [Daily double, 2d and 3d races, paid $636.80.]

BUILDING TRADES, never far back and lucky to save much ground, came through on inside in the drive and outlasted LADY SCOUT. Latter, probably best but given a badly judged ride, was eased out of it before reaching the turn, came to extreme outside in stretch and, responding to strong urging the last three-sixteenths, finished badly and was wearing down the winner. NO WORRY, badly outrun early, came with a rush in stretch.

HASTINOLA, much the best and sharply forced back soon after reaching the turn, gained gradually after coming to outside in stretch and won drawing clear. MR. JAMES, under strong riding throughout, held on well after working his way clear in stretch, but was not good enough. POMPOUS GENIE, on inside throughout, reached the lead under strong pressure on stretch turn and, while unable to hold it, held on fairly well.

BRENDARD, quick to get going but taken back slightly before reaching the turn, came around NET PROFIT gradually when under strong pressure in stretch and drew out steadily in final eighth, but had little left. NET PROFIT displayed good speed from the start, slowly gave way to winner and faltered badly near end. HOSE saved ground much of the race and also weakened in late stages, but outstayed DORAN.

*SINGING LARK [J.Dobson]	110	9	9	7½	9²	11	11	J.Jasper	58.70-1

*Field. Time, :22 3-5, :46 3-5, 1:13 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Haggerson, $15.20 straight, $7.80 place, $5.40 show; Julia Grant, $5.20 place, $3.40 show; Claremont, $6.80 show. Winner trained by A. Pelleteri. Went to post at 4:48½. At post 1½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

HAGGERSON, slow to begin, improved his position fast after reaching the last five-sixteenths and swerved to inside after getting to front, but held JULIA GRANT safe. The latter, raced wide much of the trip and slow to respond to light urging, bore over badly when closing with fine late speed. CLAREMONT forced the early pace under restraint, but weakened in last eighth.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :24, :48 2-5, 1:13 1-5, 1:39, 1:45 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bebest, $14.60 straight, $5.80 place, $4.00 show; Boiling Point, $8.00 place, $5.40 show; Miss Vince, $6.00 show. Winner trained by A. Goldblatt. Went to post at 5:16½. At post 4½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

BEBEST, going in her best form and well rated in the early pace making, stood strong hand riding gamely the final quarter and just lasted. BOILING POINT, well in hand for three-quarters and forced a trifle wide on stretch turn, fought it out gamely in the drive. MISS VINCE, close up after three-eighths, lost much ground on stretch turn, closed boldly and appeared best.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :25 1-5, :49 2-5, 1:14, 1:39, 1:45 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Legal Gamble, $7.80 straight, $4.60 place, $3.00 show; Snobeeda, $7.60 place, $4.00 show; Sea Eagle, $2.80 show. Winner trained by N. W. Burkhart. Went to post at 5:48. At post 2½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

LEGAL GAMBLE, a strong factor from the start and lucky to save much ground, responded to mild pressure in stretch where he came through on inside and outfinished SNOBEEDO at the end. Latter, inclined to bear out and well rated in the pace making, held on stubbornly and but for losing ground might have lasted. SEA EAGLE, sharply forced back on far turn, saved ground on stretch turn and weakened in last eighth, but outstayed others.

TIGERS' 5 RUNS IN FOURTH BEAT RED SOX, 5 TO 3

Tommy Bridges Pitches 20th Victory of Year.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Detroit pulled ahead to a 9½ game lead over the New York Yankees in the American league pennant chase today by whipping Boston, 5 to 3, while St. Louis turned back the Yankees in New York.

Tommy Bridges, Tiger hurler, won his 20th game of the season. The Red Sox outhit Detroit 10 to 8, but a five run Tiger uprising in the fourth spelled defeat for Boston.

Cubs Score 6 in Fourth; Beat Giants, 8 to 3

It's No. 19 for Warneke.

There was nothing about the Cubs on defense to indicate that the sudden encounter with first division opposition or the strain of occupying first place was giving them any concern. For one thing they had to come from behind to perpetuate their brilliant record against the Giants, who now have been taken down the line in eight of their last nine games with the Chicagoans. And they fielded not only smoothly but nonchalantly in spots, and in spectacular style when it was necessary. For instance, there was a one handed leaping catch by Frank Demaree of a drive Mel Ott had headed into the seats.

Warneke's 19th winning performance would have been a mere romp if Hank Leiber and Gus Mancuso hadn't been around. They shared six of the seven Giant hits, each drawing a double and two singles.

Galan Doubles on First Pitch.

There was great whooping by the multitude when Warneke, although wild, set down three Giants in a row in the first inning. One of the victims was Terry, who struck out. There was more whooping when the Cubs jumped into their temporary one run lead in the opening half. Galan lifted 'em out of their seats with a double to left on the first ball pitched by young Gumbert. He went to third on Herman's infield out and scored on Lindstrom's single through short. Hartnett kept things moving by singling to center, but the next happening was a crusher. Demaree bounced to Koenig for a double play.

Warneke apparently was slightly afraid of Ott, who led off in the second. The little fellow, as Warneke well knew, hits home runs occasionally. The Cub ace was overcautious, so Ott walked. Leiber stepped into one and lined the ball low into left center for a double, Ott halting at third. Mancuso singled to center and Ott and Leiber galloped across the plate.

Cubs Threaten Again.

The Giants didn't see first base in the third, but the Cubs thought they saw a ray of light in their half. Remembering that Galan had previously helped himself to a double, Gumbert refused to give the sprightly Californian anything to hit at when he appeared with one out. This maneuvering grew into a pass for Galan, but nothing came of it. Herman's drive bounced over the pitcher, but Bartell, dashing over to cover second, scooped up the ball, stepped on the bag just ahead of Galan, and missed a double play at first only because his hurried throw was low. Then Gumbert slipped across a third strike on Lindstrom.

Demaree put on his highlight of the battle with none out in the fourth. The home running Ott walloped a drive to right and it was just about ready to clear the bleacher screen when Demaree leaped up, shot his gloved hand over his head, and speared the ball. The crowd was still shouting about the catch when Mancuso and Bartell singled with two out, but Critz was easy on a pop to Cavarretta.

Cubs Go to Town.

The hitting riot by the Cubs in their half of the fourth came suddenly. Hartnett singled to center on Gumbert's first pitch. Demaree made his hero rôle more extensive by singling to left. The Giants moved around to set themselves for a sacrifice play, but Cavarretta swung and lifted a fly behind second. It dropped for a single, Hartnett scoring and Demaree racing to third.

Then Bartell helped out. He picked up Hack's bounder and with the easiest sort of play at the plate gave the ball a powerful heave against the grandstand. Demaree scored on the error, Cavarretta went to third and Hack to second. Three strikes sent Jurges on his way. Warneke leaned into Gumbert's first pitch, bounced it over Koenig's head for a single, and Cavarretta and Hack registered. The mauling continued on Galan's double to right, Warneke stopping at third.

Out went the freshman Gumbert and in came Gabler, whereupon Herman celebrated with his 52d double and his 200th hit of the year. He lined it into left center, Warneke and Galan scoring. Lindstrom flied to Leiber for the second out and Bartell took care of Hartnett on a grounder.

Cavarretta's home run, a fairly healthy fly into the right field seats with the bases empty, raised the Cubs' margin to 8 to 2 in the fifth.

The Giants put together two hits in the sixth for a run that annoyed nobody. After Ott had popped to Jurges, Leiber singled through short and raced around to the plate when Mancuso doubled to right center for his third hit.

Cubs Use French Today; Castleman Is Giants' Choice

Larry French, who has won 15 games and lost 10, will oil up his left arm this afternoon and put it to work against the Giants in the second of the series. Clydell Castleman will start for the Giants unless Manager Terry switches to Hal Schumacher.

Travis Jackson, the Giants' veteran infielder, hopes to return to third base today. He has been out for a week because of recurrence of his old knee trouble.

The comment of the Giants on the Cardinals was that the latter appeared tired and the pitchers shot as the result of their brilliant spurt. But the Giants conceded that there was no reason to feel certain the Cards would stay that way.

Four umpires have been pressed into service for the series and their boss, Ford Frick, National league president, is on hand to see that his guessers conduct the show in fitting style.

All the old, well established pass gate tricks were tried yesterday on Secretary Bob Lewis, who handles the Annie Oakleys. One fellow said he was a state fire marshal and when this didn't appear to mean anything to Lewis, threatened to throw the latter in jail. After the gentleman had cooled his heels for a time, Lewis gave him the pass.

Canadiens Sold to Savard in $200,000 Deal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 16.—The Montreal Canadiens, who have been famed for nearly fifteen years as the most colorful team in professional hocky, will continue to play in the National Hocky league when the season opens in November, but they will have a new boss.

He is Ernest Savard, owner of the Montreal Royals of the International Baseball league, who today announced that he had purchased the Flying Frenchmen from Joe Cattarinich and Leo Dandurand, wealthy local men who have held the Canadiens' franchise for more than a decade. No details were given as to the purchase price, but it was understood that the deal brought Catterinich and Dandurand more than $200,000.

Formal signing of the contract will take place later this week, Savard said, since a few minor details remain to be cleared up. Dandurand, now at the Fairmount race track in St. Louis, confirmed the purchase there today.

The Canadiens were understood to be on the block even before the last season was out, and although several tentative buyers entered into negotiations with Dandurand, the deal was never completed. Both Dandurand and Cattarinich said at the end of the season that the Frenchmen had cost them a $40,000 loss last season and nearly that amount in the preceding two years.

The club, composed largely of players of French-Canadian extraction, was organized to appeal to the large French population of Montreal. Last season the attendance at the Canadiens' games slumped considerably, largely due to a midseason losing streak.

Gabby Street Signs with San Francisco for 1936

Here's Schedule for 3 Leaders in National League

The Cubs have ten games to play, all against first division teams, before completing their 1935 schedule. The Giants have seventeen more to play, fourteen against second division teams. The Cardinals face 14 remaining games, equally divided between first and second division competition. Here's how the three leaders will battle down the stretch:

resumed scoring operations. Hayes opened the fifth with the second single to left and Jackie went on to third when the ball got through Marion. He scored on Bonura's fly to Miles. Appling knocked his third straight hit to right, a single, but was forced by Washington. Myer threw out Hopkins.

The Senators used a pinch batter for Hadley in the fifth inning in quest of their second hit off Jones, but the maneuver did no good. Hayes threw out Bolton and pinch batter Lewis and Kuhel popped to Appling.

Hayes Is Robbed.

The Sox made their fifth run in the sixth inning and thought they had two more home when their minds were changed by umpirical decision on a ground rule. Jones walked with one out and was forced by Radcliff. Radcliff was safe at second when Kress dropped Bolton's throw on an attempted steal. Simmons singled to center, scoring Radcliff. Hayes drove his third hit, his eighth in two days, to the left field corner and while the ball was bouncing around in the Sox bullpen Simmons and Hayes both went home. The umpires said a home run was too much for Hayes, sent him back to second and Simmons to third. Bonura tapped to Kress to end the inning.

The senators ducked a shutout in the sixth inning. Myer beat out a single to deep short, the second Washington hit, and reached second on Appling's high throw. He went to third on Marion's grounder to Appling and scored on Estallella's single to left. Estellella was caught dozing off first, Sewell to Bonura.

They March On.

With two out in the eighth, Russell walked Hayes and Bonura and let them advance on a wild pitch. Appling then drove them home with his fifth straight hit.

Dublinsky Goes 10 Rounds to Draw with Jannazzo

Baseball Chiefs Meet Today to Arrange Series

World series plans will be made today at a meeting in the office of Commissioner Landis when representatives of all clubs still having a mathematical chance in the pennant races will meet with the commissioner to arrange details.

Officials of the Cubs, Giants, Cardinals, and Pirates of the National league and the Tigers and Yankees of the American league were invited. William Harridge, president of the American league, and President Ford Frick of the National league also are expected to attend.

How the series tickets will be sold, the prices, the eligible players, and whether there again would be a commercial broadcast will be decided.

The exact opening date has not been fixed, but the general impression seemed to be that Wednesday, Oct. 2, would be named. Under the rules, the series will open in the city winning the National league championship, as the American league city had that honor last year, with the Tigers meeting the Cardinals in Detroit.

The series will be of seven games, with the world's title going to the club first to win four victories.

"It will be up to the interested clubs and the two league presidents to agree upon the opening date, also the schedule," Commissioner Landis said. "The prices of tickets, no doubt, will be the same as those prevailing last year."

DR. CARLOS WINS WARD TROPHY IN TRIBUNE GOLF

Dr. T. A. Carlos won the blind bogey event and was awarded the Arch Ward trophy yesterday in the fourth annual Tribune Athletic association golf tournament at the Northbrook Country club. Sixty-two members and guests participated in the golf, horse shoe and softball contests.

J. J. Lipp won the low gross member trophy with 95, and H. J. Fischer was second with 96. Charles Sidebotham and Walter Sonnenleiter tied for first place in the low net event with scores of 96—15—81. Sonnenleiter won the toss for the trophy. John G. Gunderson was second with 97—10—87.

Baer Has Something on His Mind

is that Baer isn't entirely carefree. He doesn't have the spontaneous confidence that preceded his other bouts. His ineffectiveness against Braddock may be one reason. His subconscious respect for Louis may be another. It may also be a realization that he faces the end of his career and the bottom of the golden purse if he is decisively beaten by the former Golden Glover.

Add this to your list of facts; Neither Baer nor Hoffman really wished to take the Louis fight this year. They were talked into it because Mike Jacobs, promotional chief for the Twentieth Century, said [1] Louis will have more experience next year, and [2] there's more money in this fight now while the public remembers Louis' victories over Carnera and Levinsky.

Louis Likes to Fight.

These are the best of reasons for Baer meeting Louis. Max also reflects that it was he who softened Carnera for the Louis touch and taught Levinsky to fear a knockout before Joe chased the King around Comiskey park ring.

But, at the same time, Baer must realize that Joe Louis never has quibbled over his opponents. He has been willing to fight any one and this summer, in three months, he will have faced Carnera, Levinsky, and Baer, an unheard of and practically preposterous desire to fight.

LOUIS IN SECRET DRILL

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—"If Ancil Hoffman and his bunch of yes men imagine they are pulling any wool over our eyes by making Max Baer look like a ham on the days that the newspaper boys come up to see him work, he is just kidding himself. That's old stuff. It doesn't fool anybody around here," laughed Jack Blackburn, coach and trainer of Joe Louis, today.

As a matter of fact, John Roxborough, one of Louis' managers, received a tip Saturday that the rival camp would perform poorly on Sunday for the benefit of the experts.

Works in Secret.

The colored heavyweight challenger was scheduled to stay away from the gymnasium today. This announcement was made public. But several newspaper men who visited camp found Louis was being put through a private workout.

On orders from Blackburn no one was admitted. Jim Dugan and Bill Russell, two burly bodyguards, were stationed at the door and politely turned away all who sought admittance. By the time that Managers Roxborough and John Black were located for the necessary permission to enter the gym the lesson was over.

"I just wanted to have Joe all by myself to check up on a few moves. We didn't do anything much. Joe will put on the gloves again on Wednesday," apologized Blackburn.

Jim Braddock will be among those present when Louis indulges in his next public workout.

A private showing of slow motion pictures of the Baer-Carnera fight preceded the secret drill. Louis and Blackburn studied Baer's blows and attempted to analyze his style. Blackburn, who is a veteran of 325 fights and was one of the leading lightweights of his time, put on the gloves with Louis and showed him how he should feint and shift.

Patrick to Meet Wallace Tonight in Western Ring

Mickey Patrick, the East Chicago light heavyweight who knocked down Joe Louis in a training bout a few months ago, will head the boxing show tonight at Western stadium, Western and Devon avenues. His opponent will be Noble Wallace, Indianapolis, Ind., substitute for Steve Roberts. Lorenzo Lovings, 1935 Golden Gloves international lightweight champion, will meet Joe Richards in a four round preliminary. Johnny Brown, north side light heavyweight, and Joe Mendoza will be opponents at four rounds.

Lorenzo Pack, former Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, arrived yesterday for his eight round contest with Art Sykes at Arcadia Gardens Friday. Shortly after his arrival he began drills at Trafton's gymnasium. Sykes worked at the same place, sparring two rounds each with Otis Thomas and George [Tiny] Bittner. Bittner boxes Max Marek in a four round supporting match Friday. Two others closed by Matchmaker Ed Purvis will bring together Sam De Pasquale and John Campbell, and Tony Michaels and Dave White. Billy Treest expects to spar with Bittner this afternoon at Madison Square loop gymnasium for his eight rounder against Gordon Fortenberry. Another eight round on the card involves Mickey Dugan, Cleveland, and Clinton Bridges.

Gus Plays Inning for 619th Straight Game.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The smallest crowd of the season—less than 500—saw Pittsburgh beat Boston, 5 to 3, today, aided by fine relief pitching by Rookie Mace Brown.

Brown relieved the veteran Guy Bush in the fourth after the Braves had tied up a three run lead. Boston didn't get another safety until the ninth, when Wally Berger hit his third double of the game.

Gus Suhr, Pirate first baseman, played the last inning and ran his string of consecutive games to 619, a new National league mark. Eddie Brown set the old one of 618 while playing with the Dodgers and Braves.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Sammy Byrd broke up a battle of rookie pitchers today, his eleventh-inning single giving the Cincinnati Reds a 3 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Nationals.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Developments over the week-end in the Italio-Ethiopian situation found reflection in weaker prices for Italian bonds today.

With the war situation taking a turn for the worse, traders were not willing to acquire bonds except at substantial sacrifices. The weakest spots in the market were Milan 6½s, Rome 6½s and Italian government 7s, which lost about 2 points each.

Domestic Trend Indefinite.

The market for domestic bonds, meanwhile, followed no definite trend and was less active than usual. Interborough 6s and Manhattan first 4s declined sharply on a few offerings. Declines of a point or more were recorded also in International Paper 6s, New Haven convertible 6s, Seaboard first 4s, Utilities Power and Light 5s, and Illinois Central 4¾s.

High grade corporate issues were steady, but extremely dull. Treasury bonds were soft as the market became abnormally dull. Liberty 4¼s sold off to a new low for the year at 100.14. Conversion into notes ceased at the close of business Saturday, leaving holders as the only alternative of accepting par Oct. 15 in exchange for 2¾ per cent bonds, with a bonus of one month's interest.

Watch U. S. Bill Offering.

More than customary interest was shown in today's offering of discount bills. Usually these sales, bids on which are opened on Monday mornings, pass by unnoticed. In the past ten days there has been a certain stiffening of short term credit and a rise in the discount rate on treasury bills.

In the foreign bond market the general tone, aside from Italian obligations, was firm, Buenos Aires 6s of 1960 being carried up to a new high. Province of Cordoba 7s advanced sharply.

Mesta Machine.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Mesta Machine.—F. G. C.

Answer: Mesta Machine company is primarily engaged in manufacturing heavy steel mill machinery, equipment and castings. Business is mostly domestic. Rate of operations, consequently, depend in large part on activity of steel mills as a whole.

Although no statement of earnings covering any part of 1935 is yet available, every indication points to increased earnings over 1934. On Aug. 7, 1935, a spokesman for the company said that the plant was running at capacity. Orders on hand, he said, were sufficient to maintain that rate through 1935 and into 1936.

Also indicative of increased current earnings is the action of the directors on Aug. 20, 1935, in boosting the quarterly dividend to 50 cents a share from the previously prevailing rate of 37½ cents a share.

Net income in 1934 was $1,517,000, or $1.45 a share, against $631,000, or 93 cents a share, in 1933. In 1932 net income was $328,000, against $2,012,000 for 1931.

On Oct. 6, 1934, the outstanding 11,887 preferred shares were called for payment. A 66 2-3 per cent stock dividend boosted outstanding common stock from 600,000 to 1,000,000 shares.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $5,022,000 and current liabilities were $2,102,000.

Investors' Guide: Will you please advise me of the standing of Morris and Essex Railroad construction 4½s, due 1955?—R. B. R.

Answer: The assets of Morris and Essex Railroad company have been leased to Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company in perpetuity. Under the lease the D., L. & W. has assumed the bonds.

The construction 4½s and 5s, due 1955, and the 4½s, due 1975, are entitled to a fair investment rating. They are secured by a general lien on all of Morris and Essex's property subject to $35,000,000 of first and refunding bonds.

This division is a valuable portion of the D., L. & W. system. It provides the lessee with a valuable New York waterfront and substantial earnings.

Delaware, Lackawanna and Western covered 75 per cent of its fixed charges in 1934, 65 per cent in 1933, and 69 per cent in 1932. In 1931 charges were earned 1.14 times, and in 1930, 1.78 times.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were fairly active today and prices on most constructions continued strong. Raw silk prices rose sharply, advances ranging from 5 to 8 cents a pound. Rayon yarn markets were active. Men's wool sweaters are selling in volume. Demand for wool goods continued to expand.

BOSTON EDISON PLANS 16 MILLION ISSUE OF STOCK

California Edison Bonds Are Offered.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Directors of the Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston at a special meeting today recommended that stockholders authorize the issuance of new stock to retire $16,000,000 in short term debt now outstanding.

At a meeting Oct. 7 shareholders will consider the recommendation, and if favorably acted upon will fix the amount of the stock issue and the price at which it will be offered. Their action is subject to review by the Massachusetts utilities department.

May Be Final Financing.

This will be the second and perhaps the final step toward the permanent financing of the company's existing plant investment. At the beginning of the year the company had $71,000,000 in short term debts.

Several weeks ago the company sold an issue of 3½ per cent 30 year bonds, face value $53,000,000, at a premium of $1,013,890, probably the lowest long term rate obtained by a private company in modern times. The proceeds from this issue and other funds available permitted the retirement in July of $55,000,000 dollars in short term debts.

California Edison Bonds Offered.

Southern California Edison Co., Ltd., announced yesterday that the final step in its $165,500,000 refunding program will be taken today when $30,000,000 of first and refunding 4s, due 1960, and $27,500,000 of serial 2½, 3½, and 3¾ per cent debentures will be offered through an underwriting group headed by the First Boston corporation.

The same banking group sold an issue of $73,000,000 in the company's refunding mortgage 3¾ per cent bonds in April and an issue of $35,000,000 in refunding mortgage 3¾ per cent bonds in July.

ROCK ISLAND RAIL HEARING WILL BE HELD HERE TODAY

Members of bondholders' protective committees and creditor groups from New York are expected in Chicago today to attend a hearing before Judge James H. Wilkerson in the United States District court on the affairs of the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railway company, which is endeavoring to reorganize under the provisions of section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act.

Judge Wilkerson on Aug. 6 ordered the railway company to show cause on Sept. 17 why an order should not be entered requiring the road to submit a plan to the interstate commerce commission by Nov. 1. The judge's ruling applied to the railroad corporation and not the three trustees of the road.

It is understood that the Rock Island will request more time. The bankruptcy act provides that railroads submit reorganization plans within six months of the effective date of the amended act, or by Feb. 28.

GROSS REVENUES OF MILWAUKEE RAILROAD LOWER

Gross revenues of the Milwaukee railroad in August fell below the $8,782,000 total of a year ago, H. A. Scandrett, president, said yesterday. He said passenger revenues increased slightly while freight revenues declined. Because of the larger maintenance program and higher wage rates the net operating income will be substantially below August, 1934, he said.

Scandrett said the road expects to spend about $17,200,000 this year on maintenance of way and structures, compared with a 1934 expenditure of $12,851,000. The 1935 expenditure will be the largest since 1930.

RAIL EXECUTIVES HEAD TO ADDRESS ROADMASTERS

Harry C. Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives, will deliver the opening address at the initial session of the fiftieth annual convention of the Roadmasters and Maintenance of Way association at the Stevens hotel today. The convention opens at 10 a. m. and continues through Thursday.

President Charles W. Baldridge of the association and assistant engineer for the Santa Fe, stationed in Chicago, also will address the first session. The night program will commemorate the organization's fiftieth anniversary.

CHICAGO STOCKS DISPLAY EASIER TREND IN PRICE

Chicago stocks were moderately easy yesterday on a total turnover of 46,000 shares. The bulk of the changes were fractional, mostly on the down side.

Waukesha Motor was off 2 points to 76 and Walgreen dropped 1 to 30. Armour common dipped an eighth to 3⅞ and Bendix Aviation declined a quarter to 22¼. General Household Utility closed at 3⅜, off ⅝.

Sutherland Paper was up a half on sales of 2,850 shares and Noblitt Sparks gained a quarter to 26⅝ after hitting a high for the day of 27.

Special Master Approves Butterick Company Plan

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—The plan of reorganization for the Butterick company, magazine and pattern publishers, as amended in hearings before him, was approved by Special Master Peter B. Olney Jr., in a report filed today with Federal Judge John C. Knox.

FAIR WEATHER, HEDGING SALES CUT COTTON PRICES

War talk failed to have any effect on the cotton market yesterday, American markets developing an easy undertone as the result of continued favorable weather and increased hedging pressure. Prices in Chicago were off 1 to 7 points and other markets were 1 to 8 points lower with the distant deliveries selling close to the lowest levels of the season.

Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New Orleans 10.50 cents; Houston, 10.55 cents, and New York, 10.65 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

PACKING HOUSES CHARGED WITH PRICE FIXING

Action Is Regarded AAA Smoke Screen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Evidence purporting to show that twelve large meat packing concerns had entered into a price fixing combination in violation of the packers and stock yards act was introduced at a hearing today before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The respondents must show cause why a cease and desist order should not be issued.

Although the government concedes that the alleged conspiracy was suspended voluntarily in November, 1932, a cease and desist order is sought in order to lay the foundation for criminal prosecutions in the event the respondents enter into future combinations.

Regarded AAA Smoke Screen.

The proceeding against the packers is regarded here as a part of the general campaign of antagonism Secretary Wallace is seeking to build up as a smoke screen to allay opposition to the policies of the AAA which have boosted prices and resulted in housewives' strikes.

Secretary Wallace and other AAA officials have replied to criticism from the housewives by attacking the packers, and the federal trade commission was authorized by the Wheeler resolution, passed in the closing days of congress, to investigate the disparity between producers' and consumers' prices for foodstuffs. The filibuster of the late Senator Huey Long of Louisiana killed the third deficiency bill, which carried an appropriation of $150,000 for this investigation, but the trade commission plans to use funds from other sources. Its interim report to congress in January is expected to supply material for assaults on the packers in the 1936 campaign.

List of Respondents.

Respondents in the present proceeding are Swift & Co., Armour & Co., the Cudahy Packing company, Wilson & Co., all of Chicago; the Jacob Dold company, Buffalo, N. Y.; Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia.; the North American Provision company, formerly Morris & Co., Memphis; the St. Louis Independent Packing company; Abraham Brothers, Memphis; the Memphis Packing company; the Birmingham Packing company, and the George A. Hormell Packing company, of Austin, Minn. C. E. Miles presented the argument for the government, but the hearing was adjourned until Oct. 7 without a reply from the respondents because of the sudden illness of Frank Glanker, of counsel for the defense.

Miles presented a letter from Ed Winant, representing the North American Provision company, to Ed Hill, of the Valley Provision company, of Cleveland, Miss., saying: "In line with our talk in front of the hotel the other night I am attaching a list of minimum prices effective next Monday. The map shows the territory affected [approximately the western half of Mississippi]. If you meet with any trouble let me know about it and I will see if it cannot be fixed up."

Complains of Price Cutting.

Hill then complained, according to the evidence, to Eugene Doyle of the Cudahy Packing company that Wilson & Co. was cutting prices. Doyle protested to Wilson & Co. and Glen Waldren of that concern replied: "Acknowledging your note of the 1st and I plead guilty with a promise that we have tightened up in the order department and that there will not be reoccurrence. I certainly don't have any intention of doing anything that will cause any one to sell products on a low basis. Salesmen will not get any orders shipped below the list."

Submits Other Letters.

Miles introduced a letter from E. P. Allen, a Birmingham independent grocer, to a meat packer who is not a respondent, saying:

"This is the list that I explained to you that we got out once a week after holding a meeting with other interested parties, and is a price list that we sell the closed or small trade." Another letter from Allen said: "I have never seen a time when we had a more unanimous get-together meeting."

Finally, on Nov. 9, 1932, the evidence showed, Hayes Winsler of Jacob Dold & Co. wired to Ed Hill: "No list. Follow your own dictations." The government contends that this was the breaking up of the alleged combination.

FOURTH LIBERTY BOND CONVERSION LAGS SLIGHTLY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—A total of $759,000,000 of called Fourth Liberty Loan bonds, of which there were $1,250,000,000 outstanding, have been refunded during the first two weeks of the treasury's conversion operation, Acting Secretary Coolidge announced today.

Although Coolidge expressed no dissatisfaction with the second week's showing, the conversion appeared to be lagging slightly. Sixty per cent of the outstanding bonds have been converted during the first two weeks, leaving the treasury still $240,000,000 short of a "normal" 80 per cent conversion.

The treasury announced last night that applications for the latest offering of 273 day bills aggregated $149,236,000, of which $50,015,000 was accepted. The average price was 99.850 equal to an average rate of 0.198 per cent annually, on a bank discount basis.

Boondoggling to Spur Trade Temporarily

BY HOWARD WOOD.

President Roosevelt's decision to concentrate federal expenditures on the "nonpermanent" type of public works is expected to stimulate another temporary boom in the consumers' goods industries beginning later this fall and continuing as long as the money lasts.

Experience during late 1933 and the summer of 1934 when the Civil Works administration was spending huge sums for leaf raking and other forms of boondoggling makes this a reasonable expectation. During that period sales of such things as food, clothing, and automobiles were stimulated by the handing out of federal funds through the CWA, but heavy industries — companies making cement, bricks, lumber, etc.—remained comparatively depressed.

* *

Had the President decided to spend the money on works of the permanent type the stimulus to business would have developed much more slowly, because months would be required in most cases to condemn sites, prepare plans, and perform the actual physical work of completing the projects. This would have prevented the spending of much of the money until after next year's primaries, and probably would even have seen the 1936 national election arrive before the funds had all been used. It was, therefore, politically inexpedient.

The nonpermanent type of public works can be started almost immediately. Concentration of expenditures in this field will mean quicker reflection of government spending in employment, retail sales, and earnings of corporations manufacturing consumers' goods.

There will be some stimulation of the heavy industries because the New Dealers will spend part of their funds for such things as housing, public buildings, paved roads, grade separations, and hydroelectric plants, but the principal impetus is expected to be felt in consumers' goods.

* *

To the extent that business volume expands as a result of the spending of the four billion dollars voted by congress the nation will be simply feeling further effects of inflation, because the money to be spent does not now exist. It is to be borrowed —created—by the government. Instead of printing money the treasury will print bonds and will exchange these bonds for credit with banks throughout the country. As the government spends this money for wages and materials or subsidies it will withdraw it from the banks, but total bank deposits will not decline because the people who get the money from the government will either redeposit it in their own banks or spend it with others who will redeposit it.

Thus the government's spending in excess of its revenues continues to be inflationary in two ways: It stimulates increased business volume by the spending of funds which did not previously exist and it increases bank deposits, thereby increasing the idle excess reserves of the banks and pressing the banks to lend more money and at lower rates.

* *

If the government's budget were in balance the effect of government spending would not be inflationary because every dollar spent by the government would be taken from a taxpayer. At present, however, the government is spending billions of dollars without taking them away from anybody. The four billions of borrowed money to be spent on work relief this year means virtually a 10 per cent increase in the national income for this fiscal year. The deflation will come in future years when the taxpayers get the bill for these and other billions that the government has been spending in excess of its income.

While the money is being spent, however, sales and earnings of companies dealing in consumers' goods are expected to enjoy a pleasant spurt. Rising stock prices are already discounting this anticipated boom as well as the inflationary effects of the ballooning of bank deposits.

MORGAN 'YOUNGSTERS' FORMALLY OPEN NEW INVESTMENT FIRM

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Six young bankers, who until last week reported at the house of Morgan at Wall and Broad streets, this morning turned in at No. 2 Wall street and proceeded briskly to a suite of offices occupying the entire nineteenth floor. Thus formally opened the career of Morgan, Stanley & Co., Inc., or "the junior house of Morgan."

Four of the six only last week gave up partnerships in J. P. Morgan & Co. to launch an investment banking business. The featured member of the new firm, Henry Sturgis Morgan, son of J. P. Morgan, was not present for the opening ceremonies because he was aboard ship returning from Europe.

To Wall street the launching of the new firm was an indication of brighter hopes for revival of the long dormant investment market. J. P. Morgan & Co., following enactment of the banking act of 1933 which required separation of banking and investment operations, elected to confine its business to deposit banking.

Smaller Banks Sell Federal Bonds Freely

Banks outside the New York and Chicago areas sold government bonds freely last week, banking statistics of the federal reserve system, issued last night, disclosed. While New York banks were adding 24 millions of federal paper to their portfolios and local institutions bought 6 millions, banks in the other 89 cities covered by the report liquidated 41 millions.

At the same time idle funds of the banks continued to mount with gross deposits of interior banks climbing 157 millions and individual deposits rising 134 millions. Total loans and investments of these banks dropped 17 millions.

Business Loans Rise.

Loans to business were increased 12 millions, commercial acceptances gained 2 millions, real estate loans advanced 4 millions, and holdings of other than government securities rose 7 millions.

The system as a whole showed an upturn of 278 millions in gross deposits, a gain of 120 millions in interbank deposits and a rise of 154 millions in the individual account. Total loans and investments mounted 61 millions, of which security loans accounted for the bulk—33 millions.

Acceptances of the system climbed 5 millions, real estate loans gained as much, and loans to business increased 29 millions.

FAIRLESS TO BE PRESIDENT OF NEW STEEL UNIT

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Benjamin F. Fairless will be president of a new company, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, which will unify the operations of the Carnegie Steel company of Pittsburgh, and the Illinois Steel company of Chicago, largest subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation.

Since it was announced three weeks ago that Mr. Fairless would be "head" and supervise the sales and production of the Carnegie and Illinois units from a central office to be set up in Pittsburgh the steel trade has been conjecturing as to Mr. Fairless's official title. On Wednesday at a luncheon to be given in Pittsburgh by company executives, Mr. Fairless will be introduced formally as the president of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation. The invitations to the luncheon disclosed Mr. Fairless' title and the creation of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

A day or two later Mr. Fairless will be introduced to a similar gathering in Chicago.

DAWES TO SPEAK ON DEPRESSIONS SEPTEMBER 26

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who late last December stirred the business world with a prediction of an upturn in business and improvement in the steel industry, will speak at the Hotel Stevens Sept. 26 on "The Three Great Depressions in the United States of 1873, 1893 and 1929. A New Method of their Study and their Lessons."

Gen. Dawes' address will be given at a joint session of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturers association.

WAR SHIP INSURANCE CANCELED; COMPANIES SEEK HIGHER RATES

LONDON, Sept. 16. — (AP) — Marine underwriters decided today, in view of the Italo-Ethiopian situation, to give notice that ships and cargo using the Mediterranean and the Suez canal must be insured separately against war risks or be included in ordinary insurance contracts at special premiums.

Contracts for marine insurance normally provide against war risks, but a clause allows the insurer to exclude war risks by giving ten days' notice. This notice now is given and fresh inquiries for war risks, brokers said, will probably be considered at a higher rate.

Norwegian ships carrying nonhazardous cargoes are mainly affected by the rate, which at present is 5 shillings [about $1.25] per £100 [about $500] for time charters, and 2 shillings 6 pence [about 60 cents] per £100 for six months' cargo.

Insurance on munitions cargoes were said to be at a prohibitive rate and the subject of special inquiries.

Insurance odds quoted against the risk of involving Great Britain in war are around 15 to 1, or 6 per cent; France and any major power, about 20 to 1, and the United States and any major power, 100 to 1.

FIRST CHALLENGE OF UTILITY LAW IS FILED IN COURT

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Contending the measure is unconstitutional, "arbitrary, unreasonable, and capricious," trustees for the American States Public Service company today asked the Federal District court here to rule invalid the utility holding company law enacted by the recent congress. The suit was the first court fight undertaken against the act.

It was filed in the names of J. B. Whitworth and F. Donald Fenhagen, trustees for the company which, the action stated, controls or owns power companies in eight states. The firm is incorporated in Delaware, but has headquarters in Baltimore.

John W. Davis, counsel for the Edison Electrical institute and former Democratic presidential nominee, appeared as counsel for Fred Lautenbach, an intervening petitioner, also seeking to have the act declared unconstitutional.

The American States company filed proceedings under section 77B of the national bankruptcy act in June, 1934, and reorganization plans were instituted after the naming of the two trustees. Two plans were suggested, both of which were said to contemplate formation of a new company which would acquire and own securities of the various companies controled by the Delaware corporation.

It was contended, however, that the new utility act's requirements concerning registration and filing of statistics and other information would make it necessary for the petitioners to "expend out of the estate substantial sums of money to the detriment of the estate."

OLDS TO START PRODUCING NEW MODELS TODAY

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—C. L. McCuen, president and general manager of the Olds Motor Works, revealed today that assembly lines at the local plants will start turning out 1936 model Oldsmobiles tomorrow. Schedules call for production of 43,500 units before Jan. 1, he said, bringing the year's total production to approximately 170,000 as compared with a previous all time high of 101,000 in 1929.

The plant has been expanded since work on 1935 models ended late in August. The Olds moved its axle plant and part of its assembly division into space vacated by the Fisher Body company, whose entire operations have been transferred to the former Durant plant here. The additional space for both Fisher and Olds organizations greatly increased production capacity.

Holland Lifts Discount Rate to Save Guilder

New York, Sept. 16. — [Special.] — Setting up a defense of its currency and to stem the outflow of gold, the Bank of Netherlands today raised its discount rate from 5 to 6 per cent, a high mark since 1873.

Aimed at alleviating pressure in the foreign exchange markets, the results fell below expectations here as the guilder rallied feebly to 67.48 cents, up 10 points over the week-end, but eased later to close at 67.44 cents, or 6 points net higher but still more than 20 points below the gold export point.

Gold continued to flow in heavy amounts to the United States. Already $40,393,000 [59,350,000 guilders] has been sent to this country in the current movement. Approximately 10 per cent of the total gold reserves of the bank has thus been lost.

Future Guilders Weak.

In the futures markets a decided undertone of weakness persisted in the guilder, 90 day rates widening to a new low record of 375 points. Holland government bonds have fallen approximately 2 per cent in the last few days.

All gold bloc currencies were surrounded with the same atmosphere of tension, Swiss francs declining 4 points to 32.50 and the French franc breaking to 6.59 cents, ¼ point below the gold shipment level. The dollar was worth $1.0066, compared with $1.0058 Saturday. Discounts continued to sag, with the Swiss currency carrying an 80 point penalty for 90 days and the French franc falling to 13 points for three months. Italian lire dropped 2 points to 8.16 cents.

Sterling Dips 1⅛ Cents.

Sterling dipped 1⅛ cents to $4.94, halting the advance of the last few days, which had been generally attributed to a sympathetic movement of gold to London from the harassed capitals.

Canadian exchange broke 25 points to 99.25, the heavy onslaught of trading erasing all early gains, and closed at 99.37½ cents, off 12½ points.

The federal reserve bank of New York reported golf receipts today totaled $1,811,500 from India and $552,500 from England. There were no exports. It also reported additional engagements for shipment of gold from London, Paris, and India.

Independent Pneumatic Tool Votes 25 Cents Extra

Independent Pneumatic Tool company yesterday announced an extra dividend of 25 cents, payable Oct. 1. A similar extra was paid on July 1.

Gorton-Pew Fisheries voted a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, payable Sept. 30. This places the stock on a $3 annual basis against $2 previously. Keystone Steel & Wire declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common, payable Oct. 15. On Aug. 1 a $1 payment was made and prior to that 50 cents was paid.

SANTA FE MAY CUT SCHEDULE ON COAST RUN

Two Lines Reduce Time to Cincinnati.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Two important developments in the speeding up of American railroad passenger service were disclosed yesterday. The Santa Fe railway indicated that as a result of the marked success of tests of its new giant Diesel electric engine it may reduce the running time of the Chief between Chicago and Los Angeles by a half day.

The Pennsylvania and the New York Central lines announced that effective Sunday, Sept. 29, the running time of their faster trains between Chicago and Cincinnati will be reduced to 6 hours for the southbound run and to 5 hours 55 minutes on the northbound trip.

Makes Run to Coast.

On the westbound trip the train attained a momentary speed of 111 miles an hour, west of Goffs, Cal., and eastbound it traveled at 110 miles an hour for 2 miles between Flagstaf and Winslow, Ariz.

W. K. Etter, vice president of the Santa Fe in charge of operation, expressed the belief that a reduction of a half day in the present westbound schedule of 53 hours 45 minutes of the Chief seemed entirely feasible with existing track conditions. He said such a schedule is now under preparation and that a preliminary round trip on this basis probably will be made within a few weeks.

Time Cut Two Hours.

Without any attempt to set a record the Diesel today pulled the Chief out of Kansas City at 6:07 a. m. and arrived at the yards here at 2:33 p. m., an elapsed time of 8 hours 27 minutes for the 450 mile run. The present schedule of the Chief is 10 hours 45 minutes for the trip.

Officials of the Santa Fe said that the huge Diesel, which will be one of a fleet that will ultimately haul the Chief, gave a practical demonstration of its ability to accelerate quickly, to negotiate curves, bridges, and other road checks at much higher speeds than are possible with steam locomotives, and reduce to a minimum the number of time consuming stops for water, fuel, and engine changes.

The Santa Fe has put 1,500 extra men to work improving the roadbed, straightening curves, and reducing grades in preparation for the faster runs.

Make Trip in 5½ Hours.

On its new schedule the Pennsylvania's Union will leave Chicago at 1:30 p. m., central standard time, and arrive in Cincinnati at 8:30 p. m., eastern standard time. Northbound it will leave Cincinnati at 2:55 p. m., eastern standard time, and arrive here at 7:30 p. m.

The New York Central's Sycamore will leave Chicago on the new schedule at 1:55 p. m., central standard time, and arrive in Cincinnati at 8:55 p. m., eastern standard time. Northbound it will leave Cincinnati at 3:30 p. m., eastern standard time, and arrive here at 8:25 p. m., central standard time.

Stocks Forced Downward by Profit Taking

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 16.—In one of the slowest trading sessions in nearly two weeks the stock market was forced to a lower level today as profit taking in moderate proportions brought the general list down fractions to more than a point. Sales totaled 1,492,650 shares.

The trend of the market was attributed in most quarters to technical conditions rather than outside influences. The market appeared to be more sensitive to light orders on either side. The speculative fraternity stepped warily awaiting the outcome of political developments abroad, but there was little bearish sentiment evident in important financial circles.

Long Rise Develops Caution.

The caution of traders was also traced to the long rise in the share market, although to some the tendency seemed to be to stand on the sidelines rather than to switch the direction of operations.

There was little in the news likely to start a flow in either direction. Steel figures indicating a drop in the industry's operations from last week brought some fresh selling into the steel shares. U. S. Steel rose to a new 1935 high of 47¾ before reacting. Copper stocks were in some demand following the marking up of the price of the metal to 9 cents, but gave up most of their gains in late trading. The actions of Lloyd's of London in canceling the war risk clauses in its policies was regarded as a mildly bearish element.

Motor shares were particularly vulnerable. Chrysler, General Motors, and Auburn had losses of 1 to 3 points at their low for the day. Production estimates for last week indicated the lowest total for the year.

Chemicals Hold Firm.

A few chemicals stood out against the selling. Du Pont was particularly strong as it hit a new high of 128 and closed 3¼ points higher. Monsanto closed at 79⅛, its best price of the year, and 2⅛ points over Saturday's final figure. The rest of the group was irregular.

Mail order shares were active but weak. Montgomery Ward declined almost 2 points following publication of the company's half year report in which the president disclosed difficulty in keeping up with advancing taxes and costs in cashing in on the higher purchasing power of the farmers. Sears-Roebuck dropped 1⅜ points in sympathy.

Rails softened in spite of early reports showing substantial gains over a year ago. American Telephone was a weak spot in the utilities, dropping more than a point.

Mining shares were heavy. The high priced Homestake lost 8 points. American Smelting, U. S. Smelting, and Cerro de Pasco gave up fractions.

ASSOCIATED GAS MAKES SHARP CUT IN 1933 LOSS

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—The Associated Gas and Electric company issued today a final report for 1934 which showed drastic revisions from a statement published earlier in the year. The earlier report recorded a net loss of $390,640 for 1934, against one of $4,930,109 for 1933. Today's statement leaves the total for 1934 unchanged, but cuts the 1933 loss to $1,678,489.

The holding company reported operating revenues of $83,973,088 in 1934, against $81,331,301 in 1933. These totals remain unchanged in the final report, but an improvement in the 1933 result is made to show by increasing "other income" for that period from $36,649 to $1,725,077, and by cutting down fixed charges.

WORLD WHEAT PRICES BOOSTED BY WAR CLOUDS

Chicago Grain Rises Nearly 2 Cents.

Wheat prices advanced throughout the world yesterday as tension over the Italio-Ethiopian war situation gripped speculative imagination. Prices here moved nearly 2 cents a bushel higher and Buenos Aires pushed its quotations up nearly six cents. Liverpool, Rotterdam, and Winnipeg confined upturns to more modest proportions, gains ranging from fractions to a cent, but the improvement in all four of the foreign markets was sufficient to establish new high marks for the season.

Other grains in Chicago mirrored action of the market leader with corn rising about 2 cents, oats a fraction, and rye a cent. September corn continued to display outstanding strength because of small available stocks. At one time it touched a premium of 21⅝ cents a bushel over the December contract, the nearest new crop future.

War Risk Clause Canceled.

The principal stimulant to the rather broad buying was a report that Lloyds underwriters had canceled the war risk clause included at present in all general shipping policies.

May wheat enjoyed the day's largest advance—2⅛ cents. Market students look with particular favor on this contract, because of the narrow spread existing between May and September. Normal carrying charges from now until next May amount to about 10 cents a bushel, which normally would be reflected in the difference in prices between the two deliveries. The current spread is about 1½ cents. In addition, a considerable portion of recent hedging has gone into the deferred contract and observers argue that when these hedges are lifted, through buying in the short commitments as grain moves into consuming channels, price enhancement must follow.

Comparative Figures.

Closing prices of principal December futures here yesterday follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Week ago.
Wheat	$ .95⅝	$ .94	$ .93⅝
Corn	.57¼	.57	.55⅝
Oats	.27¼	.27⅛	.26⅝
Rye	.45⅝	.44½	.43⅞

Visible supplies of wheat for last week, reported yesterday, increased 4,523,000 bushels, carrying the total to 65,973,000 bushels, against 111,930,000 at this time last year. Slightly bearish, the report was overshadowed by war gossip and had no effect. Visible supplies of corn dropped 1,468,000 bushels to 4,688,000 bushels, a larger decline than had been expected.

Canadian exports of wheat were reported as high as a million bushels. Winnipeg advices asserted a leading broker usually acting for importing countries bought liberal quantities of wheat in the futures pit.

Cash Wheat High.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Wheat farmers of Oklahoma had available today the highest cash market here since pre-depression days as an advance of 4 cents a bushel brought a top of $1.02.

The highest price here this year was 99 cents in April. Last year's peak of 97 cents was scored in August. Keen competition between milling interests for supplies was given as the explanation of today's sharp upturn.

CURTISS-WRIGHT EXPORTS LARGE PART OF BUSINESS

Firm One of World's Big Aircraft Producers.

Although manufacture of engines by Curtiss-Wright corporation is its most profitable activity, production of airplanes is an important part of this $28,800,000 company's business. Export trade ranks high, normally accounting for about 40 per cent of total sales. Foreign business is believed to be more profitable than domestic business with Curtiss-Wright. It is one of the world's largest aircraft producers.

Heavy losses for several years forced the management to retrench. It cut down nonmanufacturing activities and consolidated production facilities. Airports have either been closed or leased.

Produces Several Leading Engines.

Its leading engines are the Cyclone, probably the most widely used high powered airplane engine, and Whirlwind. Military planes are the Hawk, Falcon, Shrike, Osprey, and Condor. It produces the Condor transport sleeper biplane and the Sport biplane.

Unfilled orders March 19, 1935, amounted to $7,791,513, against $6,504,763 the year before and $5,345,890 March 31, 1933.

Loss of $62,880 in the second quarter of 1935 brought the deficit for the first half year to $260,228, against a profit of $94,307 in the first half of 1934.

Sales in 1934 increased to $14,009,533, a 40 per cent gain over sales of $10,450,729 in 1933. Sales in 1932 were $12,406,721. The company earned a profit of $359,737 in 1934, against profit of $135,896 in 1933. It lost $396,574 in 1932, $4,126,000 in 1931, and $9,012,920 in 1930.

Large Concerns Represented.

On the board of directors are individuals connected with the investment banking firm of E. A. Pierce & Co., Pennsylvania railroad, Consolidated Oil corporation, and Sperry corporation, manufacturers of aviation equipment.

Total assets Dec. 31, 1934, were $28,793,823, against $82,377,491 June 30, 1929. The sharp drop indicates the deflation which hit airplane manufacturers during the last six years, out of which they are now emerging. Current assets Dec. 31, 1934, were $5,541,325 and current liabilities were $1,091,002. Capitalization is represented by 1,147,798 shares of $1 par class A stock and 6,728,100 shares of $1 par common.

[An article on Sperry corporation will appear tomorrow.]

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES ARE ⅛ TO ¼ CENT HIGHER

Short covering and new buying appeared in butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday and prices advanced ⅛ to ¼ cent in the face of bearish statistics. November closed at 25⅝ cents per pound. There was a net into storage movement at the four leading markets, while receipts were heavier. The AAA bought four cars of spot butter.

Egg futures advanced ⅛ to ¼ cent with the October closing at 25½ cents per dozen. Receipts at the four leading markets were 58 per cent in excess of a year ago. Sales of butter were 109 cars; eggs, 62 cars, and cheese, 4 cars. Prices follow:

PRICE OF COPPER RAISED ½ CENT TO 9C A POUND

Boost Restores in Effect During NRA.

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—As foreshadowed by recent developments in the metal market, producers today raised the price of copper for domestic consumption half a cent a pound to 9 cents, thus restoring the market to the level which ruled while the copper code was in effect.

Export copper in the meanwhile crossed the 8½ cent level when selling agencies advanced the price to 8.57½ cents a pound, a rise of about 10 points over the week-end. It was said both domestic and foreign sales were good.

Price Highest in Two Years.

The export price of copper is at the highest level quoted for it since July 25, 1933, when the price went to 8.62½ cents a pound.

Simultaneously with the advance manufacturers of copper products raised prices. Phelps Dodge Copper Products corporation, Anaconda Wire and Cable corporation, General Cable corporation, and other manufacturers advanced prices ⅜ to ½ cent a pound.

Statistics of copper for August issued today shower that world stocks of copper decreased approximately 19,800 tons during August. Stocks of copper are estimated to aggregate 549,830 tons, compared with $569,378 tons at the end of July.

Domestic Stocks Lower.

Domestic stocks are estimated at 248,000 tons, compared with 263,000 tons at the close of July, a decline of 15,000 tons. Foreign stocks amounted to 301,000 tons at the end of August against 305,000 tons the previous month, a fall of 4,000.

Improved demand during the last few months for the metal has been a factor in the rise in the prices of both the domestic and foreign commodity and today's upturn had recently been anticipated in copper circles.

Higher prices for export copper were said to have been stimulated by an increase in consumption, mainly in Great Britain, Japan, Italy, and Sweden. Sharper demand has been attributed both to improved industrial activity and to military needs.

The buying movement slackened somewhat today after the new prices had been announced. Doubt was expressed in some quarters that the 9 cent level could be maintained.

MEAT PRICES DIP BUT LIVE STOCK DROP IS CHECKED

Despite bearish reports from wholesale meat channels yesterday declining live stock prices were halted, with hogs and the best grades of cattle selling strong to higher. Receipts in all departments were lighter than a week ago, and this offset the adverse influence of warm weather and lower meat prices.

With hog receipts at Chicago at 9,000, the second smallest on record for a Monday, barring strike periods, packers' live costs rose mostly 15 to 25 cents, with many of the underweights 35 to 50 cents above the close of the week.

Several carloads of selected 190 to 240 pound butchers brought $14.40, processing tax included, the day's practical top.

There was a two-way market for cattle yesterday. The limited supply of choice steers and yearlings met good demand at strong to 25 cents higher prices, while most of the "fed" steers slumped 15 to 25 cents. Plainer classes within a range of $8 to $10 were steady.

Two carloads of steers averaging 1,245 and 1,335 pounds reached the $12.85 top.

Packers bought most slaughter lambs at about steady prices, weakness being evident in spots. A few selected ewe and wether natives to city butchers at $9.35 established the day's top.

So urgent is the demand for replacement stock because of the huge surplus of rough feeds harvested this year that farmers in Omaha, Neb., yesterday paid 50 cents over the fat lamb price. Feeders there sold at $9.00, while packers bought the best fat stock at $8.50.

STEEL INSTITUTE ESTIMATES MILL OUTPUT AT 48.3%

Week's Decline 1.4 Points —Month's Profit Up.

Operations of steel producers during the current week will decline 1.4 points to 48.3 per cent of capacity, according to the estimate of American Iron and Steel institute yesterday. The figure of 49.7 per cent of capacity given as the index for last week is at sharp variance with estimate of 54 per cent made by the magazine, Steel.

The American Iron and Steel institute's figure compares with 48.8 per cent a month ago and 22.3 per cent a year ago.

According to the association, this will be just the third time that decreases from the preceding week will have been registered since July 1, the low point of this year, when operations were at 32.8 per cent of capacity.

Six Months' Profit Rises.

The institute's compilation of earnings showed a profit of $30,923,927 for 158 companies in the industry for the first half of 1935. This was 22 per cent more than the $25,305,232 profit for the first six months of 1934.

Total production during the first half of 1935 by these companies amounted to 14,000,000 gross tons of iron and steel. On a tonnage basis, profit equaled $2.20 a ton. During the first half of 1934 profit was equal to $1.70 a ton on 15,060,000 gross tons.

Wages, Salaries Higher.

The 20 per cent rise in net income occurred in spite of a lower rate of operations, 46.7 per cent in 1935, and 47.1 per cent in 1934, and an 8 per cent increase in total wages and salaries paid. The bulk of the rise was in operating income, although there were nominal savings in interest, depletion, and depreciation.

On Dec. 31, 1934, the 158 companies had more stockholders than employés. Stockholders numbered 491,000 and employés 369,000, which figure increased to 399,359 by June, 1935. During the first half of 1935 these companies paid out only about 4 cents in dividend for each dollar for wages and salaries.

FEDERAL FUNDS TO BE LENT FARM STUDENT GROUPS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Plans for lending money to finance agricultural student group work were outlined today by the farm administration.

The administration said the plans would make it possible for organized groups of farm boys to grow crops or raise live stock under the direction of a vocational agricultural teacher, a county agent, or other responsible leader.

The funds will be loaned through the Production Credit association operating in the country in which the project is located. The leader of the group will borrow the money as trustee for the boys, the note to be signed by the individual's parent, guardian or a responsible adult.

Merchandise Mart Advances Market Date

The Merchandise mart has advanced the date for the midseason furniture market from Nov. 4-9 to Oct. 30-Nov. 5, George B. Atkinson, manager of the furniture division, announced yesterday. The change in dates was made to aid both buyers and manufacturers as a general demand for earlier deliveries of furniture for holiday trade and February sales is expected.

Polk Estimates August Auto Sales Set 6 Year High

R. L. Polk & Co. has boosted its estimate on August passenger automobile registrations to 225,000, the largest total for any August since 1929. It had previously placed the total at 215,000, based on returns from 17 states. It estimates commercial car registrations at 50,000.

USE OF BREAD IN BRITAIN RAISED BY ADVERTISING

Newspapers Are Backbone of Drive.

Effective newspaper advertising in England not only checked a sixteen year decline in bread consumption but resulted in a slight increase, Thomas J. Shaw, advertising director of the Millers' Mutual Association of England, said yesterday.

Shaw is making a tour of the United States, exchanging views with American millers and advertising men on how to increase bread usage.

Newspapers Backbone of Plan.

"Newspaper advertising has been and is the backbone of our 'bread and energy campaign'," he said. "We have tried other mediums during our six years of experience, but now we are concentrating a larger proportion than ever before in daily papers."

The drop in bread consumption which had been evidenced since the close of the world war was ascribed by Shaw to the inroads of the heavily advertised proprietary foods.

He said that the advantage of the newspaper in promoting food products lies in the fact that the prospect "reads the morning paper at breakfast and the afternoon paper at tea."

Message Read at Proper Time.

Thus, he said, the advertiser's message is delivered to the consumer at the time it should be read.

On the theory that increased sales of dairy products, such as cheese, milk and butter will automatically result in increased sales of bread, he has negotiated a coöperative advertising agreement with important units in the dairy industry.

NEW ATTORNEYS JOIN COURT FIGHT OVER ROSENBAUM

Entrance yesterday of a new set of attorneys into the Rosenbaum Grain corporation reorganization picture further complicated the company's position. The law firm of Hopkins, Starr & Godman appeared before Federal Judge William H. Holly and sought to reopen the question of whether a temporary injunction restraining the Chicago Board of Trade from disciplining members of the Rosenbaum family for alleged irregularities should be dissolved.

The new counsel asked to be substituted for Attorney Michael Gesas, who had previously argued that the temporary injunction should be dissolved. The stay has been in effect since the company several months ago filed a voluntary petition for reorganization under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy law.

Attorney Samuel A. Ettleson, claiming to represent holders of $400,000 of bonds, also asked permission to argue on the motion. The court instructed the lawyers to serve notice and agreed to hear additoinal arguments in a few days. Ettelson and Francis X. Busch, counsel for the Rosenbaum family, declared a dissolution of the injunction at this time would be a death blow to any reorganization of the company.

Aluminum Company Wins $3,000,000 Damage Appeal

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—By a 2 to 1 decision the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed a verdict under which the Baush Machine Tool company of Massachusetts won a $3,000,000 damage suit against the Aluminum Company of America. The court directed a retrial. The Baush company charged violation of federal anti-trust laws, alleging the Aluminum Company of America monopolized the aluminum market here and in Europe.

U. S. Expects 75 Banks May Withdraw from FDIC

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Federal officials said today that only nine state banks have given notice of using the opportunity offered in the new banking act to withdraw from the Deposit Insurance corporation. They forecast that the final total would not exceed 75. The new law gave state banks which are not members of the federal reserve system until Sept. 22 to signify any desire to withdraw.

Chicago Banking Shares Uneven; New York Easy

Chicago bank stocks were irregular yesterday. First National eased 1 point to 176 bid, 180 asked; Continental-Illinois sagged ½ point, and City National fell 4 points. Merchandise Bank and Trust gained 1 point, and others were unchanged. Active bank shares in New York eased fractionally.

SEARS SEPTEMBER PERIOD SALES BEST IN LAST FIVE YEARS

Sears, Roebuck & Co. announced yesterday that sales for the four weeks ended Sept. 10 were the highest for the eighth fiscal period since 1930, showing a gain of 18.2 per cent over the corresponding period of 1934. Volume totaled $27,913,502, compared with $24,587,644 in the preceding period of this year and $23,609,935 in the same period of last year.

For the first eight periods of the company's fiscal year, sales amounted to $230,623,450, against $184,533,551 in the corresponding eight periods of 1934, an increase of $46,089,899, or 25 per cent.

George F. Dixon, president of Sears International, Inc., returned to Chicago yesterday after a two month trip abroad and announced that Searsint, Ltd., which was organized recently in London to distribute products of Sears International Inc., in the United Kingdom and Ireland, is financed entirely by British capital and operated exclusively by British business men and will have no financial connection with Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The London company will utilize its own dealer organization to distribute Sears merchandise under its own franchise, and Sears-Roebuck will only be the source of merchandise, Dixon said.

Capital and management of American Quality Products, Inc. [Amerikaansche Qualiteits Producten N. V.], in Holland, which also distributes the products of Sears International, are entirely Dutch, he said.

WISCONSIN BILL TO 'FREE' LISTED STOCKS VETOED

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Gov. Philip F. La Follette late today vetoed a bill exempting securities of the Chicago and New York stock exchanges from scrutiny by the Wisconsin public service commission's securities division.

The bill was vetoed shortly after the close of a public hearing conducted by the governor on merits of the measure. Fred S. Hunt, public service commissioner, opposed the bill.

Until the 1933 legislature enacted a law including Chicago and New York Stock exchange securities within regulations applicable to all other securities, stock of these two exchanges were sold in Wisconsin without regulation of any kind.

Two major arguments were presented to the 1935 legislature in support of the vetoed bill. One was that the next federal securities act was sufficiently broad to furnish the security which the public service commission provides.

The other was that because of the delays incident to registration and survey of new stocks from these two exchanges by the public service commission, Wisconsin investors, unless they have unique connections, cannot buy new stocks at their issuance price and are compelled to purchase them later after they have risen in value.

ORDER CUSTOMS TO BOOST LEVY ON GERMAN GOODS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Acting on instructions from President Roosevelt, the treasury department today informed its customs agents that beginning Oct. 15 they will no longer extend to imports from Germany the tarif reductions granted to other countries through generalization of reciprocal trade agreements.

The treasury's action followed receipt of a letter from President Roosevelt, dated Sept. 15, in which he declared that on Oct. 15, 1935, the United States will cease to be bound by the sections of the commercial treaty with Germany, "providing for most favored nation treatment in respect to customs duties."

Exclusion of Germany, the first retaliatory action taken by the Roosevelt administration, was provoked by German discrimination against America on financial and commercial questions and her denunciation of the unconditional most favored nation clauses with respect to merchandise in the commercial treaty of 1923.

N.Y. Curb Seat Transferred at $32,500; High for Year

New York, Sept. 16.—[Special.]—Arrangements were made today for the sale of a New York Curb exchange membership at $32,500, an increase of $10,000 over the last previous transfer and a new high for the year. The previous top for 1935 was $27,500, established in July.

PRICES OF LARD FUTURES ARE UNCHANGED TO HIGHER

Scattered commission house buying of lard based on war talk and strength in hogs and grain lifted the nearby deliveries sharply yesterday. The close was at the top with net gains of 25 to 30 cents. Distant months were slightly lower early, but rallied to close unchanged to 7½ cents higher. Clear bellies [salt pork] gained 7½ cents.

Chicago lard stocks decreased 3,474,000 pounds during the first half of September, and are 17,176,000 pounds, compared with 98,734,000 pounds a year ago. The reduction was somewhat larger than expected. Stocks of dry salted bellies decreased 772,000 pounds and are 4,336,000 pounds, against 8,866,000 pounds last year. Liverpool spot lard closed 1 shilling per 112 pounds lower. Cash lard closed at $16; loose, $16.12; leaf, $16.25 and bellies at $18.87 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

Lard.

Building Is Leased to Liggett Drug.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's outstanding neighborhood corners, the southeast intersection of 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue, will be improved with a $25,000 one story building which was leased yesterday for a Liggett drug store. The present two story wood and stucco building, 36x60, will be wrecked as soon as arrangements can be completed with the present five tenants.

According to Walter R. Drennan, president of the South Shore Investment company, who represented the lessors, Charles F. and Newton F. Grey, trustees of the estate of Charles F. Grey, the ten year lease is on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis. It will start one month after completion of the new building.

Will Be Air Conditioned.

Designed by Mundie & Jensen, the building will be in the modern motif, with air conditioning and indirect lighting contemplated. It will have an entrance on Cottage Grove avenue, at the south end of the structure, and also a wide corner entrance. All of the space will be used by the drug store. T. H. O'Toole of the New York office of Liggett's represented the lessee in the lease negotiations.

The 18x60 store at 1033 East 63d street, east of the proposed new Liggett's unit, was leased yesterday to the Neumode Hosiery company by Lena Bobinsky for a term of years on a percentage basis with a minimum guarantee. Harry England of M. H. Stein & Co. represented both parties.

Leases Store to Silver Grill.

The same firm reported having leased the store at 115 West Jackson boulevard to the Silver Grill, Inc., for a term of years. It will be operated by its owner, George Silberman, as a restaurant. Hooker & Slosson represented the lessor, the A. D. Schulte Cigar company.

Members of the Woman's City club of Chicago at an executive session yesterday urged the creation by the city council of a city authority empowered to carry on a city-wide program of demolition of defective buildings. The wrecking program which has resulted in the razing of more than 2,300 buildings through the efforts of the Metropolitan Housing council and coöperating civil and official agencies was indorsed by the club.

$327,000 IS BID FOR PROPERTY OF HOTEL LA SALLE

The La Salle-Madison Hotel company, only bidder at the receivership sale of the assets of the La Salle hotel yesterday, offered $84,000 for the personal property of the company and $243,000 for the leasehold and fee.

The bidding company was formed by Central Life Assurance society, Des Moines, Ia., which reinsured Illinois Life Insurance company. Illinois Life had a large stake in the La Salle hotel.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson continued the sale until Oct. 2 to see if any other bids will be made for the property. The successful bidder will take the property subject to about a million dollars of back taxes.

The court authorized Thurlow G. Essington, receiver for the hotel, to disburse $259,217. Of this, $55,000 will pay off in fees to attorneys and other interested parties, $56,460 to retire receiver's certificates, and $107,288 for ground rental.

British Quit Oil Posts as Italy Gets Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 16.—It was announced tonight that Sir Edward Mountain and L. C. Patterson have resigned their directorship in Mosul Oilfields, Ltd., and the associate concern, the British Oil Development company. It is learned that Italian interests have acquired sufficient shares to control the companies, both of which formerly were managed by British interests. Francis M. Rickett, who obtained the recent Ethiopian concession, was closely concerned with the formation of the British Oil Development company.

BURNHAM'S

ACT NOW.

It is to your particular advantage to register now even if you cannot start your course until later. Call, phone, or write at once.

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher; 64 years' knowing how to teach gives you a flying start.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.
